

Taiwan ABF: Read across from AT&S: Upward revision on guidance due to better product mix

Key takeaways from Austrian PCB/substrates player AT&S' FY1Q26/27 (CY2Q26) results call (ATS.VI, Not Covered) include:

(1) AT&S revised up its FY26/27 revenue guidance to 45-55% YoY (vs. previous guidance of 30-35%, now implying EUR2.7bn at midpoint and compared to FY25/26 revenue of EUR1.8bn), with further improvement in EBITDA margin at 32-37% (vs. previous guidance of 25-29% and was 23% in FY25/26), while the company believes the revision is based on the new customer agreements and additional volumes.

(2) On top of the revenue guidance, management didn't rule out the possibility of receiving rush orders, which they believe will lead to further upside to both revenue/margin guidance. This is in line with our observation that rush order tends to have higher pricing.

(3) In terms of capacity expansion, the company will continue to expand capacity based on customers' long-term agreements. For the Chongqing site, it expects to see a quicker ramp up in capacity this year through debottlenecking. The company previously announced that it expects to spend EUR1.5-2.0bn for expanding the Kulim site, targeting to add one production line for Kulim 1.0 (on top of the 3 existing lines) in FY28 and ramp up Kulim 2.0 in FY29 for a new large customer. Furthermore, the company is considering expanding Kulim 3.0 while negotiations with customers are still ongoing.

(4) Management is confident about the utilization rate of the new expansions, as the long-term agreements contain guarantees on utilization. The company is fully booked for Kulim 1.0 & 2.0, and will need to expand more capacities for any additional contracts acquired. The structure of the long-term agreements is a mix of prepayment and additions to investments, with payments spread over time to support the funding of construction for capacity expansion.

(5) On top of the current projects that are on track, the company currently has several new projects ongoing at a three digit million EUR scale. The company owns all the necessary technologies needed to support client demand, including EMIB-(T).

(6) AT&S' management continue to see raw material constraint, particularly in fiberglass (including E-glass and T-glass). The company has been proactively working with suppliers to secure enough key raw materials.

We maintain our positive view on the ABF substrate market demand outlook (see here). AT&S' latest updates are consistent with our solid view on ABF substrate demand, including (1) potential higher spot prices with more rush orders, (2) more long-term capacity expansion funded by customers, and (3) more high-end substrate orders driving industry profitability.

AT&S doesn't rule out the potential of receiving more rush orders, which they believe will lead to potential upside to current guidance on revenue/profitability. We think AT&S' commentary is consistent with the industry supply shortages we have observed (see here) and is in line with our key Buy thesis on NYPCB (see here), who will continue to benefit from a better pricing outlook with an 8/34/51% S/D gap in 2026/27/28 per GSe.

Moreover, we continue to see more customers asking Taiwan ABF suppliers for ABF substrate capacity beyond 2029. Meanwhile, AT&S mentioned that customers are securing long-term capacity through prepayments (AT&S' Kulim 1.0 & 2.0 is fully booked by clients), which we see as in line with the overall industry trend.

The upward revision for AT&S' FY26/27 revenue guidance, along with the higher EBITDA margin outlook of 32-37% (equivalent to GM at 41-46%), is in line with the industry trend of customers securing AI-related substrates supply through long-term agreements, with AI-related substrate products typically having higher prices and better GM (at 50%+ vs. AT&S' substrates business GM at 30%+ in FY1Q26/27). Based on historical data, Taiwan ABF suppliers typically have GM higher than AT&S during upcycles. Our current estimates for Taiwan ABF suppliers' 2Q26-1Q27 GM is 35/30/29% for NYPCB/Kinsus/Unimicron, which are below the AT&S FY26/27 GM guidance of 41-46%, thus we see further upside potential to our Taiwan ABF suppliers' margin forecast (Exhibit 1).

Overall, we continue to believe ABF substrate pricing uptrend has already started in 1H26, and we should see further acceleration in ABF substrate pricing given the shortage conditions, leading to a favorable profitability outlook over the coming quarters/years. Moreover, we continue to expect the S/D gap for ABF substrates to widen from an 8% undersupply in 2026 to 34/51% in 2027/28.

Maintain our Buy rating on NYPCB (on CL) and Kinsus and maintain our 12m TP at NT$2,310/NT$1,125, but stay Neutral on Unimicron and maintain our 12m TP at NT$1,220.

Investment Thesis & PT methodology and risksInvestment Thesis - NYPCB

NYPCB manufactures and markets printed circuit boards (PCBs) and integrated circuit (IC) substrates (including ABF and BT substrates). We are Buy-rated on NYPCB considering the company's high exposure to BT substrates and non-LTA ABF substrate (70%+ of total revenue), where we expect GM/OPM to increase significantly in the coming quarters (from breakeven in OPM in 1H25 to 27/41% in 2026/27E) due to the favorable substrate pricing outlook. Despite the company's low exposure to high-end ABF substrate industry (<20% of total revenue in 1H25), we believe the expanding demand from ASIC AI server and high-end switch IC demand will drive the company's high-end ABF revenue exposure to 40%+ by 2027E, suggesting better GM/OPM outlook in the long term. In 2H25-2H26, we believe NYPCB will continue to benefit from stronger ABF/BT pricing and should be a key beneficiary of the pricing uptrend considering the company's key focus on BT and non-LTA ABF substrate industries. Moreover, in the long term (after 2026), we expect the ABF industry to return to supply tightness, and NYPCB's expanding high-end exposure will lead to a long term earnings growth outlook (122% 2026-28E earnings CAGR). As a result, we see solid upside potential for NYPCB's earnings and stock performance.

Price Target Risks and Methodology - NYPCB

Valuation methodology: Our 12-month target price of NT$2,310 for NYPCB is based on 21x 2028 P/E, which is +1.5x STDV higher than the past upcycle average P/E (13.3x).

Key downside risks: (1) Slower-than-expected PC demand recovery, (2) Slower-than-expected ABF substrates pricing upgrading outlook, and (3) Slower-than-expected NYPCB new high-end capacity qualification progress.

Investment Thesis – Kinsus

Kinsus is one of the key IC substrates suppliers globally with ~10% ABF/BT substrates market share in 2024, with ~18% of total 2025 revenue contributed by its contact lens subsidiary, Pegavision (6941.TW, Not Covered). With our view that the ABF substrate shortage started from 2Q26 (ABF substrate return to supply demand balance from late 2025), we believe Kinsus' performance will continue to improve compared with high-end ABF peers considering the company's increasing market share in the high-end ABF substrate market; however, ~36% of the company's revenue was contributed by BT substrates in 2025 and 30% of the company's ABF revenue is from non-LTA customers, which we believe will continue to enjoy a better pricing outlook. As a result, we believe Kinsus' earnings outlook should continue to be strong (~106% 2026–29E CAGR), mainly driven by better BT substrate and non-LTA ABF substrate pricing outlook, despite the unfavorable demand outlook before 2H26. We believe Kinsus is an experienced substrate supplier with a clear capacity expansion plan that can also upgrade its product portfolio in the long term. We believe we are at the beginning of an industry upcycle, making us positive on Kinsus' stock performance over the next 12 months.

Price Target Risks and Methodology – Kinsus

Valuation methodology: Our 12-month target price of NT$1,125 for Kinsus is based on 16.5x 2028E P/E, which is +1.2x STDV higher than Kinsus' past upcycle average P/E (14.2x).

Key downside risks: (1) Slower-than-expected PC demand recovery, (2) Slower-than-expected ABF substrates pricing upgrading outlook, (3) Slower/Less-than-expected AI server orders from 2H26.

Investment Thesis – Unimicron Technology

Unimicron is a key supplier of ABF substrates (25% market share in 2025) and BT substrates and also produces FPC/HDI/PCB products. We are Neutral rated on the shares given long-term growth opportunity prospects: (1) over 70% of ABF shipments are covered by long-term agreements (LTA), which limits pricing flexibility and makes price hike less likely; (2) the company's execution track record has been weaker than peers; (3) capacity expansion plan remains slower than peers, constraining its ability to capture incremental AI demand. The current ABF substrates market is seeing more favorable supply demand outlook, and Unimicron is likely to see better pricing outlook to reflect rising material costs in the coming quarters. AI ABF account for 10% of the company's total revenue, but the growth is likely to be slower than peers due to the company continuing to lose market share to peers given its less favourable production yield and slow capacity expansion. Overall, we are Neutral rated on Unimicron given our outlook for the limited upside potential, barring ASIC AI servers, despite our generally positive view on the long term on profitability trajectory.

Price Target Risks and Methodology – Unimicron Technology

Valuation methodology: Our 12-month target price of NT$1,220 for Unimicron is based on 17.4x 2028E P/E, which is 2.7x STDV higher than the past upcycle average P/E (10.3x).

Key upside/downside risks: (1) Slower/faster-than-expected PC demand recovery, (2) Slower/faster-than-expected ABF substrates upgrading pace, and (3) Slower/faster than-expected AI server PCB market share loss progress.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
