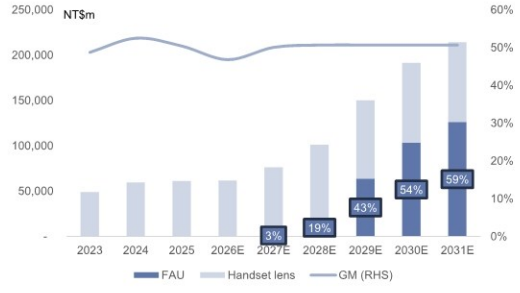
We are positive on Largan and expect its strong alignment technology to continue supporting its expansion from handset lens into FA and FAU for CPO switches. The company's FA has passed customer qualification with strong positive feedback, while customers prefer to purchase its integrated product (FA+FAU), reaffirming our positive view on Largan's business expansion. Management highlights that its strong alignment and automated production provide strong precision, fast production and testing, supporting customer penetration. We model FAU revenue contribution at 3% in 2027E and above 50% in 2030E, driving Largan's earnings growth, margin expansion, and valuation re-rating. Maintain Buy with TP up to NT$11,000 (implies 39.8x 2028E PE).

Exhibit 1: Largan revenues by products and GM trend



Source: Company data, Goldman Sachs Global Investment Research

3-month revenue preview: Largan delivered weak revenue growth in 3Q26 with revenue -11% YoY, which we attribute to a slow smartphone market amid high memory costs, fewer model launches of its major smartphone brand customer, and foldable phones released in 4Q26 (report link). The miss also reflects a slower handset lens pixel mix upgrade than we had previously estimated.

Earnings revision

Our net income estimates are revised by -13% / -4% / +16% in 2026-28E mainly on changes in revenues, GM, and Opex ratio, reflecting: (1) handset lens: we continue to expect Largan's lens pixel mix upgrade, but at a slower pace, reflecting the 3Q26 miss and slow smartphone market amid high memory costs, (2) FAU: we estimate revenue contribution will begin in 2H27, with 0.6m / 5m in 2027 / 28E, along with product mix upgrade toward higher bandwidth FAU that should support ASP and GM. We expect FAU revenue contribution of 3% in 2027E and exceed 50% in 2030E, (3) GM: we lower our GM estimates to reflect the slower pace of handset lens pixel mix upgrade and the company's higher costs on green energy. We expect GM to sustain at ~50% in 2026-28E, supported by continuous handset lens pixel mix upgrade and strong demand of FAU, (4) Opex ratio: we continue to expect rising opex, while the opex ratio would improve as strong revenue growth driven by FAU and FAU's higher ASP relative to handset lens enhance operating efficiency.

Compared to Bloomberg consensus, we are 4% / 16% ahead in 2027 / 28E net income, mainly on higher revenues and lower opex ratio, reflecting our positive view on Largan's FAU, which is in strong demand with bandwidth upgrade.

Valuation

We change our valuation methodology from 2027E PE to discounted PE to better capture the company's long term opportunities in FAU. Our target PE multiple (29.8x) is derived from (1) peers' avg. ratio of trading PE to forward year fundamentals (NI YoY and OPM), which is at 0.5x, and (2) Largan's forward year fundamentals: 2030-31E NI YoY at 19% on avg. and OPM at 41% on avg. We apply the target PE multiple to Largan's 2030E EPS and discount it back to 2027E via a COE of 10.7%, which is based on beta at 1.1x, risk free at 3.5%, and market risk premium at 6.5%. Our new target price is NT$11,000 (vs. NT$6,263 previously). Our target price implies 39.8x 2028E PE, the first full year of FAU contribution, which is within Largan's historical trading range of 8.0x to 45.1x, reflecting our positive view on Largan's expansion from handset lens to FAU, which broadens its exposure from consumer electronics to AI data center that enjoys strong market growth, and could support a valuation re-rating. We note that Taiwan AI supply chain also enjoys re-rating when expanding from consumer electronics to AI data center. Maintain Buy.

Price Target Risks and Methodology - Largan

Valuation: We are Buy rated on Largan and have a 12-month target price of NT$11,000, which is based on discounted PE. Our target P/E multiple of 29.8x is derived from (1) peers' avg. ratio of trading PE to forward year fundamentals (NI YoY and OPM), which is at 0.5x, and (2) Largan's forward year fundamentals: 2030-31E NI YoY at 19% on avg. and OPM at 41% on avg. We apply the target PE multiple to Largan's 2030E EPS and discount it back to 2027E via a COE of 10.7%, which is based on beta at 1.1x, risk free at 3.5%, and market risk premium at 6.5%. Our target price of NT$11,000 implies 39.8x 2028E PE, the first full year of FAU contribution, which is within Largan's historical trading range of 8.0x to 45.1x, reflecting our positive view on Largan's expansion from handset lens to FAU, which broadens its exposure from consumer electronics to AI data center that enjoys strong market growth, and could support a valuation re-rating. We note that Taiwan AI supply chain also enjoys re-rating when expanding from consumer electronics to AI data center. Maintain Buy.

Key risks: (1) slower-than-expected smartphone market growth, (2) fiercer competition in handset lenses, (3) slower-than-expected smartphone camera lens specification upgrades or Largan's handset lens pixel mix upgrade, (4) slower-than-expected FAU ramp up, and (5) fiercer competition in FAU.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Quantum is Goldman Sachs' proprietary database providing access to detailed financial statement histories, forecasts and ratios. It can be used for in-depth analysis of a single company, or to make comparisons between companies in different sectors and markets.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.

General disclosures

This research is for our clients only. Other than disclosures relating to Goldman Sachs, this research is based on current public information that we consider reliable, but we do not represent it is accurate or complete, and it should not be relied on as such. The information, opinions, estimates and forecasts contained herein are as of the date hereof and are subject to change without prior notification. We seek to update our research as appropriate, but various regulations may prevent us from doing so. Other than certain industry reports published on a periodic basis, the large majority of reports are published at irregular intervals as appropriate in the analyst's judgment.

Goldman Sachs conducts a global full-service, integrated investment banking, investment management, and brokerage business. We have investment banking and other business relationships with a substantial percentage of the companies covered by Global Investment Research. Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC, the United States broker dealer, is a member of SIPC (https://www.sipc.org).

Our salespeople, traders, and other professionals may provide oral or written market commentary or trading strategies to our clients and principal trading desks that reflect opinions that are contrary to the opinions expressed in this research. Our asset management area, principal trading desks and investing businesses may make investment decisions that are inconsistent with the recommendations or views expressed in this research.

The analysts named in this report may have from time to time discussed with our clients, including Goldman Sachs salespersons and traders, or may discuss in this report, trading strategies that reference catalysts or events that may have a near-term impact on the market price of the equity securities discussed in this report, which impact may be directionally counter to the analyst's published price target expectations for such stocks. Any such trading strategies are distinct from and do not affect the analyst's fundamental equity rating for such stocks, which rating reflects a stock's return potential relative to its coverage universe as described herein.

We and our affiliates, officers, directors, and employees will from time to time have long or short positions in, act as principal in, make a market or act as liquidity provider in, and buy or sell, any securities, derivatives, or other financial instruments referred to in this research (including any financial instruments issued by the companies referred to herein), unless otherwise prohibited by regulation or Goldman Sachs policy.

The views attributed to third party presenters at Goldman Sachs arranged conferences, including individuals from other parts of Goldman Sachs, do not necessarily reflect those of Global Investment Research and are not an official view of Goldman Sachs.

Any third party referenced herein, including any salespeople, traders and other professionals or members of their household, may have positions in the products mentioned that are inconsistent with the views expressed by analysts named in this report.

This research is not an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any security in any jurisdiction where such an offer or solicitation would be illegal. It does not constitute a personal recommendation or take into account the particular investment objectives, financial situations, or needs of individual clients. Clients should consider whether any advice or recommendation in this research is suitable for their particular circumstances and, if appropriate, seek professional advice, including tax advice. The price and value of investments referred to in this research and the income from them may fluctuate. Past performance is not a guide to future performance, future returns are not guaranteed, and a loss of original capital may occur. Fluctuations in exchange rates could have adverse effects on the value or price of, or income derived from, certain investments.

Certain transactions, including those involving futures, options, and other derivatives, give rise to substantial risk and are not suitable for all investors. Investors should review current options and futures disclosure documents which are available from Goldman Sachs sales representatives or at https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp and https://www.goldmansachs.com/disclosures/cftc_fcm_disclosures. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchase and sales of options such as spreads. Supporting documentation will be supplied upon request.

Differing Levels of Service provided by Global Investment Research: The level and types of services provided to you by Goldman Sachs Global Investment Research may vary as compared to that provided to internal and other external clients of GS, depending on various factors including your individual preferences as to the frequency and manner of receiving communication, your risk profile and investment focus and perspective (e.g., marketwide, sector specific, long term, short term), the size and scope of your overall client relationship with GS, and legal and regulatory constraints. As an example, certain clients may request to receive notifications when research on specific securities is published, and certain clients may request that specific data underlying analysts' fundamental analysis available on our internal client websites be delivered to them electronically through data feeds or otherwise. No change to an analyst's fundamental research views (e.g., ratings, price targets, or material changes to earnings estimates for equity securities), will be communicated to any client prior to inclusion of such information in a research report broadly disseminated through electronic publication to our internal client websites or through other means, as necessary, to all clients who are entitled to receive such reports.

All research reports are disseminated and available to all clients simultaneously through electronic publication to our internal client websites. Not all research content is redistributed to our clients or available to third-party aggregators, nor is Goldman Sachs responsible for the redistribution of our research by third party aggregators. Largan Precision (3008.TW)

Better FAU visibility despite smartphone shortfall

CITI'S TAKE

Largan's 3Q26 earning was below expectation. 3Q26 revenue of NT$15.65bn (up 15% QoQ but down 11% YoY). GM declined to 42.2% with EPS reaching NT$39.6. Management attributed margin pressure to manufacturing yield challenges associated with increasingly complicated smartphone lenses, alongside the rising cost of renewable electricity. The latter is becoming a structural cost burden because of contractual commitments to customers. While yields are gradually improving, management see weakening smartphone order flow into 4Q26. Nevertheless, the management's view on FAU development is positive and seeing great feedback and strong business engagement into the next generation CPO design. We reiterate our Buy and see any pull back on weak smartphone business as a great buying opportunity.

CPO Strategy — Moving to integrated FAU and carrier assembly — The most important development during the call is Largan's expanded product scope. Previously, the company primarily targeted Fiber Array alignment, positioning itself as a high-precision component supplier to established FAU manufacturers. Management now plans to produce FAU, purchase PMLA and other optical components, and perform precision optical coupling and assembly to deliver complete FAUs. It also intends to pursue the additional assembly step of mounting the FAU onto a carrier, which subsequently interfaces with the receptacle. This represents a meaningful expansion in value capture, moving Largan to higher-value integrated optical interconnect assemblies.

Customer qualification has progressed well, production starting in mid-2027 — Largan indicated that FA qualification is complete, and the automated pilot line is already operational and has been inspected repeatedly by the customer. Largan currently has one customer progressing toward commercial volume production, while several other customers, including CSP-related opportunities, are involved in next-generation development targeting 2028. Management expects the first scaled production lines to be ready around mid-2027, with meaningful FAU mass production potentially beginning in 2H27. Management also confirmed that recently acquired land and facilities have designated expansion purposes, primarily cleanrooms and production lines for FA/FAU rather than smartphone lenses.

Seeing multiple generation and years opportunities — Compared with these broader solutions providers, Largan remains primarily as a high-precision manufacturing and assembly specialist. Management described its current business relationship as closer to contract manufacturing, with direct discussions with end customers focused mainly on next-generation products. On product architecture, the initial 2027 commercial project remains focused on single-row FA using grating coupling (GC), while multi-row and multilayer configurations remain in sampling and are primarily associated with 2028 programs. Management believes its FA/FAU solution is broadly applicable to both CPO and NPO when the underlying optical interface remains similar, because the primary difference is the placement of the optical package. Largan's primary differentiation is not the FA design itself but its ability to manufacture highly precise assembly using imperfect input components.

Automation and Yield Control Are the Real Competitive Advantages

During the earnings call, Largan's management emphasized that almost all critical FA/FAU alignment equipment is developed internally, including machinery and control software. This enables faster equipment modification, process optimization and troubleshooting compared with labor-intensive assembly. Automated production also offers better traceability and root-cause analysis when yield problems emerge. Management stated that customer feedback is positive and the FAU certification process progressing well. The key competitive advantage, in our view, is the ability to combine submicron accuracy, high throughput and reproducible yields at scale, rather than precision alone.

In our view, the earnings call supports a more constructive medium-term view of Largan's CPO opportunities than our previous assessment, particularly given the apparent completion of initial FA qualification, customer interest in integrated FAU assembly and a clearer path toward commercial production in 2H27. Moving from standalone FA to FAU and potentially carrier assembly could materially increase revenue content per optical connection, while the company's automated manufacturing capabilities may support differentiation in increasingly complex, high-density optical architectures. The next growth opportunity could emerge from multi-row FA and higher-channel-count optical solutions beginning in 2028, particularly as AI networking bandwidth moves beyond current-generation platforms.

Maintaining Buy on better FAU visibility

Given the weak smartphone order flow and GM pressure in the near term, we revise down our net income projections by 9%/29% for 2026/2027, but slightly raise our 2028 net income projection by 1% given the solid growth opportunity in FAU business. However, we think Largan is transitioning from a smartphone optics manufacturer into a potential high-precision optical interconnect assembly supplier. As they are moving to FAU not just FA; we assume higher revenue contribution for 2027/2028 of 28%/44% considering Largan could get 15%/30% market share.

We view customer acceptance and manufacturing differentiation positively, despite near-term earnings visibility remains constrained by smartphone demand at least into 1H27. We thus maintain our Buy rating with TP NT$8,500 unchanged, implying 33x of our 2027/28 EPS projection from 30x previously thanks to its better visibility on FAU progress.

Largan Precision

Company description

Largan is a plastic/glass/hybrid lens supplier in Taiwan with end-applications including phone cameras, DSCs, MFPs, and tablets. Its new development into FAU business should server as a long term growth opportunity.

Investment strategy

We rate Largan a Buy as we expect its core iPhone business to remain resilient and its co-packaged optics (CPO) development to provide strong upside potential in the longer term. We believe Largan could be a long-term winner in the lens market driven by: 1) its technology leadership; 2) intellectual property (IP) protection; and 3) higher yield vs. competitors. In the longer term, we believe spec migration could keep Largan ahead of competitors.

Valuation

Our target price of NT$8,500 for Largan shares is based on 33x 2027/28E EPS. We are using 2027/28E EPS average as we see new Fiber Array + PMLA revenue to kick in from next year. Our 33x PER is higher than its historical 5-year PER range, which we think is justified by its better order visibility proven by its recent strong capacity expansion plan, and we expect its CPO business engagement should provide a strong long-term growth opportunity.

Risks

Key downside risks include: 1) weaker smartphone demand or replacement demand, and in particular, demand headwinds for certain key clients; 2) longer learning curve and slower ramp of the yield rate; 3) slower spec migration; and 4) slower development in CPO business. Any of these risk factors could cause the shares to deviate from our target price.

Analysts' compensation is determined by Citi Research management and Citigroup's senior management and is based upon activities and services intended to benefit the investor clients of Citigroup Global Markets Inc. and its affiliates (the "Firm"). Compensation is not linked to specific transactions or recommendations. Like all Firm employees, analysts receive compensation that is impacted by overall Firm profitability which includes investment banking, sales and trading, and principal trading revenues. One factor in equity research analyst compensation is arranging corporate access events between institutional clients and the management teams of covered companies. Typically, company management is more likely to participate when the analyst has a positive view of the company.

For financial instruments recommended in the Product in which the Firm is not a market maker, the Firm is a liquidity provider in such financial instruments (and any underlying instruments) and may act as principal in connection with transactions in such instruments. The Firm is a regular issuer of traded financial instruments linked to securities that may have been recommended in the Product. The Firm regularly trades in the securities of the issuer(s) discussed in the Product. The Firm may engage in securities transactions in a manner inconsistent with the Product and, with respect to securities covered by the Product, will buy or sell from customers on a principal basis.

Unless stated otherwise neither the Research Analyst nor any member of their team has viewed the material operations of the Companies for which an investment view has been provided within the past 12 months.

For important disclosures (including copies of historical disclosures) regarding the companies that are the subject of this Citi Research product ("the Product"), please contact Citi Research, 388 Greenwich Street, 6th Floor, New York, NY, 10013, Attention: Legal/Compliance [E6WYB6412478]. In addition, the same important disclosures, with the exception of the Valuation and Risk assessments and historical disclosures, are contained on the Firm's disclosure website at https://www.citivelocity.com/cvr/eppublic/citi_research_disclosures. Valuation and Risk assessments can be found in the text of the most recent research note/report regarding the subject company. Pursuant to the Market Abuse Regulation a history of all Citi Research recommendations published during the preceding 12-month period can be accessed via Citi Velocity (https://www.citivelocity.com/cv2) or your standard distribution portal. Historical disclosures (for up to the past three years) will be provided upon request.

Citi Research Equity Ratings Distribution

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:
Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks. Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.
Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The target price is based on a 12 month time horizon. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Citi Research may suspend its rating and target price and assign “Rating Suspended” status for regulatory and/or internal policy reasons. Citi Research may also suspend its rating and target price and assign "Under Review" status for other exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis, trading suspension) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities. In both such situations, the rating and target price will show as “—“ and “-“ respectively in the rating history price chart. Prior to 11 April 2022 Citi Research assigned “Under Review” status to both situations and prior to 11 Nov 2020 only in exceptional circumstances. As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.

Catalyst Watch/Short Term Views (“STV”) Ratings Disclosure:
Catalyst Watch and STV Upside/Downside calls: Citi Research may also include a Catalyst Watch or STV Upside or Downside call to indicate the analyst expects the share price to rise (fall) in absolute terms over a specified period of 30 or 90 days in reaction to one or more specific near-term catalysts or events impacting the company or the market. A Catalyst Watch will be published when Analyst confidence is high that an impact to share price will occur; it will be a STV when confidence level is moderate. A Catalyst Watch or STV Upside/Downside call will automatically expire at the end of the specified 30/90 day period. The Catalyst Watch will also be automatically removed if share price performance (calculated at market close) exceeds 15% against the direction of the call (unless over-ridden by the analyst). The analyst may also remove a Catalyst Watch or STV call prior to the end of the specified period in a published research note. A Catalyst Watch/STV Upside or Downside call may be different from and does not affect a stock’s fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of FINRA ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, a Catalyst Watch/STV Upside call corresponds to a buy recommendation and a Catalyst Watch/STV Downside call corresponds to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a Catalyst Watch Upside, Catalyst Watch Downside, STV Upside, or STV Downside call is considered Catalyst Watch/STV No View. For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution-disclosure rules, we correspond Catalyst Watch/STV No View to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider No View to be a recommendation. For all Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside calls, risk exists that the catalyst(s) and associated share-price movement will not materialize as expected.

Privately held companies:
The legal entities through which Citi conducts its business do not permit investment research recommendations, ratings, target prices, or estimates on any privately held companies (“private companies”) referenced herein. Citi Research does not utilize a rating system for private companies. Any information on private companies in this report is based on generally available information and, although obtained from sources believed by Citi to be reliable, its accuracy and completeness are not guaranteed. Private companies are generally not subject to reporting obligations, which may result in less publicly available information. The information contained in this report may differ from information a private company may subsequently make public or otherwise share with investors. Continuation of publishing private company reports or private company sections within reports is at Citi's discretion, in accordance with internal policies.

RESEARCH ANALYST AFFILIATIONS / NON-US RESEARCH ANALYST DISCLOSURES

The legal entities employing the authors of this report are listed below (and their regulators are listed further herein). Non-US research analysts who have prepared this report (i.e., all research analysts listed below other than those identified as employed by Citigroup Global Markets Inc.) are not registered/qualified as research analysts with FINRA. Such research analysts may not be associated persons of the member organization (but are employed by an affiliate of the member organization) and therefore may not be subject to the FINRA Rule 2241 restrictions on communications with a subject company, public appearances and trading securities held by a research analyst account.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

Any price(s) of instruments mentioned in recommendations are as of the prior day's market close on the primary market for the instrument, unless otherwise stated.

The completion and first dissemination of any recommendations made within this research report are as of the Eastern date-time displayed at the top of the Product. If the Product references views of other analysts then please refer to the price chart or rating history table for the date/time of completion and first dissemination with respect to that view.

Regulations in various jurisdictions require that where a recommendation differs from any of the author's previous recommendations concerning the same financial instrument or issuer that has been published during the preceding 12-month period that the change(s) and the date of that previous recommendation are indicated. For fundamental coverage please refer to the price chart or rating change history within this disclosure appendix or the issuer disclosure summary at https://www.citivelocity.com/cvr/eppublic/citi_research_disclosures.

Citi Research has implemented policies for identifying, considering and managing potential conflicts of interest arising as a result of publication or distribution of investment research. A description of these policies can be found at https://www.citivelocity.com/cvr/eppublic/citi_research_disclosures.

The proportion of all Citi Research research recommendations that were the equivalent to "Buy","Hold","Sell" at the end of each quarter over the prior 12 months (with the % of these that had received investment firm services from Citi in the prior 12 months shown in brackets) is as follows; Q2 2026 Buy 33%(63%), Hold 44% (51%), Sell 23% (49%), RV 0.5% (87%): Q1 2026 Buy 33% (63%), Hold 44% (52%), Sell 23% (46%), RV 0.5% (89%); Q4 2025 Buy 33% (63%), Hold 44% (50%), Sell 23% (46%), RV 0.4% (91%); Q3 2025 Buy 33%(61%), Hold 44% (52%), Sell 23% (50%), RV 0.4% (80%). For the purposes of disclosing recommendations other than for equity (whose definitions can be found in the corresponding disclosure sections), "Buy" means a positive directional trade idea; "Sell" means a negative directional trade idea; and "Relative Value" means any trade idea which does not have a clear direction to the investment strategy.

European regulations require a 5 year price history when past performance of a security is referenced. CitiVelocity's Charting Tool (https://www.citivelocity.com/cv2/#go/CHARTING_3_Equities) provides the facility to create customisable price charts including a five year option. This tool can be found in the Data & Analytics section under any of the asset class menus in CitiVelocity (https://www.citivelocity.com/). For further information contact CitiVelocity support (https://www.citivelocity.com/cv2/go/CLIENT_SUPPORT). The source for all referenced prices, unless otherwise stated, is DataCentral, which sources price information from LSEG Data & Analytics. Citi Research broadly and simultaneously disseminates its research content to the Firm's institutional and retail clients via the Firm's proprietary electronic distribution platforms (e.g., Citi Velocity and various Global Wealth platforms). As a convenience, certain, but not all, research content may be distributed through third party aggregators. Clients may receive published research reports by email, on a discretionary basis, and only after such research content has been broadly disseminated. Certain research is made available only to institutional investors to satisfy regulatory requirements. The level and types of services provided by Citi Research analysts to clients may vary depending on various factors such as the client's individual preferences as to the frequency and manner of receiving communications from analysts, the client's risk profile and investment focus and perspective (e.g. market-wide, sector specific, long term, short-term etc.), the size and scope of the overall client relationship with the Firm and legal and regulatory constraints.

Pursuant to Comissão de Valores Mobiliários Resolução 20 and ASIC Regulatory Guide 264, Citi is required to disclose whether a Citi related company or business has a commercial relationship with the subject company. Considering that Citi operates multiple businesses in more than 100 countries around the world, it is likely that Citi has a commercial relationship with the subject company.

Securities recommended, offered, or sold by the Firm: (i) are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; (ii) are not deposits or other obligations of any insured depository institution (including Citibank); and (iii) are subject to investment risks, including the possible loss of the principal amount invested. The Product is for informational purposes only and is not intended as an offer or solicitation for the purchase or sale of a security. Any decision to purchase securities mentioned in the Product must take into account existing public information on such security or any registered prospectus. Although information has been obtained from and is based upon sources that the Firm believes to be reliable, we do not guarantee its accuracy and it may be incomplete and condensed. Note, however, that the Firm has taken all reasonable steps to determine the accuracy and completeness of the disclosures made in the Important Disclosures section of the Product. The Firm's research department has received assistance from the subject company(ies) referred to in this Product including, but not limited to, discussions with management of the subject company(ies). Firm policy prohibits research analysts from sending draft research to subject companies. However, it should be presumed that the author of the Product has had discussions with the subject company to ensure factual accuracy prior to publication. Statements and views concerning ESG (environmental, social, governance) factors are typically based upon public statements made by the affected company or other public news, which the author may not have independently verified. ESG factors are one consideration that investors may choose to examine when making investment decisions. All opinions, projections and estimates constitute the judgment of the author as of the date of the Product and these, plus any other information contained in the Product, are subject to change without notice. Prices and availability of financial instruments also are subject to change without notice. Notwithstanding other departments within the Firm advising the companies discussed in this Product, information obtained in such role is not used in the preparation of the Product. Although Citi Research does not set a predetermined frequency for publication, if the Product is a fundamental equity or credit research report, it is the intention of Citi Research to provide research coverage of the covered issuers, including in response to news affecting the issuer. For non-fundamental research reports, Citi Research may not provide regular updates to the views, recommendations and facts included in the reports. Notwithstanding that Citi Research maintains coverage on, makes recommendations concerning or discusses issuers, Citi Research may be periodically restricted from referencing certain issuers due to legal or policy reasons. Where a component of a published trade idea is subject to a restriction, the trade idea will be removed from any list of open trade ideas included in the Product. Upon the lifting of the restriction, the trade idea will either be re-instated in the open trade ideas list if the analyst continues to support it or it will be officially closed. Citi Research may provide different research products and services to different classes of customers (for example, based upon long-term or short-term investment horizons) that may lead to differing conclusions or recommendations that could impact the price of a security contrary to the recommendations in the alternative research product, provided that each is consistent with the rating system for each respective product.

Investing in non-U.S. securities, including ADRs, may entail certain risks. The securities of non-U.S. issuers may not be registered with, nor be subject to the reporting requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. There may be limited information available on foreign securities. Foreign companies are generally not subject to uniform audit and reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those in the U.S. Securities of some foreign companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable U.S. companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment in a foreign stock and its corresponding dividend payment for U.S. investors. Net dividends to ADR investors are estimated, using withholding tax rates conventions, deemed accurate, but investors are urged to consult their tax advisor for exact dividend computations. Investors who have received the Product from the Firm may be prohibited in certain states or other jurisdictions from purchasing securities mentioned in the Product from the Firm. Please ask your Financial Consultant for additional details. Citigroup Global Markets Inc. takes responsibility for the Product in the United States. Chenbro | Asia Pacific

September Sales +1% MoM/ +14% YoY

In this report, we focus on Chenbro's monthly sales, which we believe could be a catalyst for its share price.

Details:

- September sales were NT$2,476mn (+1% MoM/+14% YoY).
- 3Q26 sales came in at NT$7,395mn (-5% QoQ/+31% YoY), short of our 3Q26 estimate at NT$8,368mn (+7% QoQ/+48% YoY) and the consensus at NT $8,552mn (+9% QoQ/+51% YoY).

Our view:

- 3Q26 revenue fell slightly short of the buyside expectation of roughly flat QoQ, in our view, and 4Q26 should be flat to up slightly QoQ.
- We think near-term sentiment will remain lackluster amid the temporary hiccup resulting from supply-chain management issues and its customer's model transition. That said, demand from its GPU/ASIC server clusters and general servers should remain strong, driving orders for its chassis and rack offerings.
- Stay OW.

Chenbro (8210.TW)

Base case, derived from 27x 2027e P/E. We view our target multiple as justified by the 33% earnings CAGR we see for 2025-28, which implies a PEG of 0.8. This is in line the average of 0.8 over 2014-24, when the stock was trading at an average P/E of 12x for a 15% earnings CAGR.

Risks to Upside

- Stronger AI capex outlook
- Larger market share gains within existing customers
- Faster penetration into new customers
- Higher entry barrier among peers that leads to higher ASP/profitability
- Better macro outlook

Risks to Downside

- Softer AI capex
- Less share gains within existing customers
- Slower penetration into new customers
- Intensifying competition leading to lower ASP/profitability
- Continuous macro uncertainties

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of September 30, 2026)
The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.
For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.

E Ink Holdings Inc. | Asia Pacific

September Sales +5% MoM/ +14% YoY

In this report, we focus on E Ink's monthly sales, which we believe could be a catalyst for its share price.

Details:

- September sales were NT$3,613mn (+5% MoM/+14% YoY).
- 3Q26 sales came in at NT$9,936mn (-3% QoQ/-5% YoY), in line with our estimate at NT$9,985mn (-2% QoQ/-4% YoY) and the consensus at NT $9,774mn (-4% QoQ/-6% YoY).

Our view:

- E Ink's monthly sales run rate will need to stay at the September level through year end to achieve its full-year revenue guidance of up 10-15% YoY for 2026. This implies its 4Q26 revenue will be up by 9% QoQ, which still looks within reach, despite the softer seasonality
- While the worst seems to be behind us and valuation is at a trough level of 12x 2027e P/E, we see no strong catalysts in the near term, despite our long-term positive view on e-paper demand across various applications. Stay EW.

Exhibit 1: E Ink's monthly sales vs. its share price since 2015

E Ink Holdings Inc. (8069.TWO)

Base case, 12x 2027e P/E. We believe this valuation methodology best captures E Ink's earnings growth momentum. We view our target multiple of 12x as fair, considering our estimated 17% earnings CAGR for 2025-28. The implied PEG of 0.7x is largely in line with its typical level in 2022-25, when the stock was trading at an average P/E of 22x one-year forward consensus EPS with a 37% earnings CAGR.

Risks to Upside

- Firmer-than-expected ESL orders
- Stronger demand for e-readers and e-notes
- Better macro conditions
- Milder competition
- Brisker inventory digestion

Risks to Downside

- Softer-than-expected ESL orders
- Slower demand for e-readers and e-notes
- Macro headwinds
- Intensified competition
- More protracted inventory digestion

Morgan Stanley trades or may trade as principal in the debt securities (or in related derivatives) that are the subject of the debt research report.
Certain disclosures listed above are also for compliance with applicable regulations in non-US jurisdictions.

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of September 30, 2026)
The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.
For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.

	Coverage Universe		Investment Banking Clients (IBC)			Other Material Investment Services Clients (MISC)
Stock Rating Category	Count	% of Total	Count	% of Total IBC	% of Rating Category	Count	% of Total Other MISC

Largan Precision | Asia Pacific

AlphaSignals Earnings Reaction

Unchanged	Meaningful shortfall	Modest revision lower
Impact to our thesis	Financial results versus consensus	Direction of next 12-month consensus EPS

Key Takeaways

- 3Q26 gross margin is 42.2%, which is lower-than-expected and triggers a 31-36% GP and OP miss vs. our estimates.
- Revenue is likely to be flat MoM in October and decline sequentially in November.
- CPO-related (FAU) has seen good progress with new product verification passed.

Largan reported 3Q26 net income of NT$5.182bn, down 27% YoY.

The company reported a 11% YoY revenue decline, to NT$15.651bn; gross margin declined YoY and QoQ to 42.2% in 3Q26, lower than expected due to lower new-project yields and structural green electricity cost hikes.

Management expects shipments to be flat MoM in October and decline sequentially in November as order momentum is weaker-than-expected.

FAU/CPO development well on track: First FA project passed customer verification; expanding from FA into FAU, including coupling and potential FAU-to-carrier assembly, with a dedicated new facility expected to support mass production from around mid-2027. We maintain our long-term positive view on Largan's FAU/CPO opportunities.

Largan Precision (3008.TW)

Base case: Our price target is based on an SOTP valuation, comprising the traditional business and potential FAU opportunity. We value the traditional business using a residual income model, consistent with our Greater China Hardware Tech coverage, assuming an 8.5% cost of equity, a 7% net profit CAGR over 2026-36E and a 3% terminal growth rate. We separately value the FAU business, assuming a 40% market share in 2028.

Risks to Upside

- Better-than-expected high-end smartphone demand
- Faster-than-expected penetration of periscopes
- Stronger-than-expected CPO volume growth

Risks to Downside

- Greater-than-expected competition, which would erode Largan's ASP and gross margin
- Weaker-than-expected smartphone demand, especially for high-end models
- Market share gains and more pricing pressure from Sunny
- Weaker-than-expected CPO volume growth

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of September 30, 2026)
The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.
For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.

Morgan Stanley Research does not provide individually tailored investment advice. Morgan Stanley Research has been prepared without regard to the circumstances and objectives of those who receive it. Morgan Stanley recommends that investors independently evaluate particular investments and strategies, and encourages investors to seek the advice of a financial adviser. The appropriateness of an investment or strategy will depend on an investor's circumstances and objectives. The securities, instruments, or strategies discussed in Morgan Stanley Research may not be suitable for all investors, and certain investors may not be eligible to purchase or participate in some or all of them. Morgan Stanley Research is not an offer to buy or sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy or sell any security/instrument or to participate in any particular trading strategy. The value of and income from your investments may vary because of changes in interest rates, foreign exchange rates, default rates, prepayment rates, securities/instruments prices, market indexes, operational or financial conditions of companies or other factors. There may be time limitations on the exercise of options or other rights in securities/instruments transactions. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Estimates of future performance are based on assumptions that may not be realized. If provided, and unless otherwise stated, the closing price on the cover page is that of the primary exchange for the subject company's securities/instruments.

The fixed income research analysts, strategists or economists principally responsible for the preparation of Morgan Stanley Research have received compensation based upon various factors, including quality, accuracy and value of research, firm profitability or revenues (which include fixed income trading and capital markets profitability or revenues), client feedback and competitive factors. Fixed Income Research analysts', strategists' or economists' compensation is not linked to investment banking or capital markets transactions performed by Morgan Stanley or the profitability or revenues of particular trading desks.

The "Important Regulatory Disclosures on Subject Companies" section in Morgan Stanley Research lists all companies mentioned where Morgan Stanley owns 1% or more of a class of common equity securities of the companies. For all other companies mentioned in Morgan Stanley Research, Morgan Stanley may have an investment of less than 1% in securities/instruments or derivatives of securities/instruments of companies and may trade them in ways different from those discussed in Morgan Stanley Research. Employees of Morgan Stanley not involved in the preparation of Morgan Stanley Research may have investments in securities/instruments or derivatives of securities/instruments of companies mentioned and may trade them in ways different from those discussed in Morgan Stanley Research. Derivatives may be issued by Morgan Stanley or associated persons.

AlphaSignals Earnings Reaction

Unchanged	Meaningful shortfall	Modest revision lower
Impact to our thesis	Financial results versus consensus	Direction of next 12-month consensus EPS

Key Takeaways

- 3Q26 gross margin is 42.2%, which is lower-than-expected and triggers a 31-36% GP and OP miss vs. our estimates.
- Revenue is likely to be flat MoM in October and decline sequentially in November.
- CPO-related (FAU) has seen good progress with new product verification passed.

Largan reported 3Q26 net income of NT$5.182bn, down 27% YoY.

The company reported a 11% YoY revenue decline, to NT$15.651bn; gross margin declined YoY and QoQ to 42.2% in 3Q26, lower than expected due to lower new-project yields and structural green electricity cost hikes.

Management expects shipments to be flat MoM in October and decline sequentially in November as order momentum is weaker-than-expected.

FAU/CPO development well on track: First FA project passed customer verification; expanding from FA into FAU, including coupling and potential FAU-to-carrier assembly, with a dedicated new facility expected to support mass production from around mid-2027. We maintain our long-term positive view on Largan's FAU/CPO opportunities.

Largan Precision (3008.TW)

Base case: Our price target is based on an SOTP valuation, comprising the traditional business and potential FAU opportunity. We value the traditional business using a residual income model, consistent with our Greater China Hardware Tech coverage, assuming an 8.5% cost of equity, a 7% net profit CAGR over 2026-36E and a 3% terminal growth rate. We separately value the FAU business, assuming a 40% market share in 2028.

Risks to Upside

- Better-than-expected high-end smartphone demand
- Faster-than-expected penetration of periscopes
- Stronger-than-expected CPO volume growth

Risks to Downside

- Greater-than-expected competition, which would erode Largan's ASP and gross margin
- Weaker-than-expected smartphone demand, especially for high-end models
- Market share gains and more pricing pressure from Sunny
- Weaker-than-expected CPO volume growth

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of September 30, 2026)
The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.
For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.

Jack-of-all-trades for bespoke testing solutions in the semiconductor industry

We initiate coverage of Hermes Testing (HTSI) with a Buy rating and NT$8,880 PT. HTSI is uniquely positioned to benefit from two key semiconductor testing trends: shift-left testing and the emerging CPO testing market. Leveraging its long-standing relationship with TSMC, HTSI has established capabilities across electrical test engineering, customised test equipment, thermal control modules, probe cards, and CPO testing solutions. We forecast revenue growth of 127%/152%/78% in 2026E/27E/28E, driven by increasing adoption of thermal control modules for wafer-level test and initial deployment of CPO insertion 2 and insertion 3 test equipment through ficonTEC. Additional 2028E growth drivers include reflow tools, laser clean solutions, and MEMS probe cards. The stock trades at 27/15x 2027/28E PE, versus ~35x NTM PE for handler-equipment peers, offering re-rating potential as sales scale, new products are qualified, and its CPO presence expands. See our companion testing deep dive sector note.

Shift-left beneficiary with exceptional thermal control modules

Thermal control modules should be HTSI's largest growth driver over the next several years. We expect increasing chip power consumption, rising package complexity, and tighter probe pitches to drive adoption of advanced thermal control solutions used alongside leading-edge probers, in additional to more wafer level insertions and longer test time. We estimate HTSI will ship approximately 3,000 thermal-control modules in 2027E, up from around 1,200 units in 2026E, sales contribution rise from ~30% in Q226 to >50% of sales by 2027E. The launch of its second-generation platform in 2027E, which carries 25-50% higher ASPs, should further improve profitability. We forecast GM expansion from 55.5% in 2026E to 58.3%/60.0% in 2027E/28E.

Unique position to capture CPO upside

Through its partnership with German optical-automation leader ficonTEC, HTSI is positioned to participate in the initial ramp of CPO testing equipment. HTSI supports local manufacturing, installation, automation and after-sales service, making it a key enabler of volume production. We estimate HTSI captures approximately 30% of equipment value across the 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems we forecast for delivery in 2027E, with further potential upside in 2028E as adoption expands.

Valuation: initiate coverage with a Buy rating and price target NT$8,880

We forecast EPS of NT$29.1 in 2026E (including a one-off employee share purchase programme impact), rising to NT$153.3/286.5 in 2027E/28E. Our NT$8,880 price target is based on 31x average 2028E PE, versus handler-equipment peers forward PE at roughly 35x, reflecting HTSI's unique exposure to both shift-left testing, CPO, and our estimate of 32% LT earnings CAGR. We initiate with a Buy rating.

UBS Research THESIS MAP a guide to our thinking and what´s where in this report

PIVOTAL QUESTIONS

Q: Will HTSI be able to keep its moat within chip probing thermal control modules?
Yes. We expect HTSI's competitive position to strengthen as chip power consumption, package complexity, and probe density continue to increase. The company is developing next-generation thermal control solutions, including liquid cooling technologies, while also expanding into specialized chuck solutions designed to address wafer warpage. In addition, HTSI's close collaboration with TSMC, TEL, Advantest, and other OSATs should reinforce its position within advanced wafer-level testing.

Q: Will insertion 2 of CPO testing process be skipped?
No. We believe concerns surrounding insertion 2 adoption are overdone. While some industry participants favor bypassing insertion 2 due to throughput and ROI considerations, doing so increases the risk of defective optical engines being identified only after the components are delivered to OSATs, creating yield accountability challenges and higher packaging losses. Based on our industry studies, we expect insertion 2 testing to remain an important part of the CPO workflow over at least the next two years as the industry focuses on improving PIC yields and overall testing efficiency.

UBSVIEW

We initiate coverage of Hermes Testing (HTSI) with a Buy rating and NT$8,880 price target. HTSI offers unique exposure to two of the semiconductor testing industry's most attractive growth drivers: 1) shift-left testing and 2) CPO testing. The industry's shift-left testing strategy will have more test insertions move to the wafer level before packaging, in addition to longer CP time. Leveraging its longstanding relationship with TSMC, HTSI has established capabilities across thermal control modules, electrical-test engineering services, customized equipment, and emerging CPO testing solutions. We believe there could be re-rating potential as sales scale, new products are qualified, and its CPO presence expands.

EVIDENCE

TSMC and OSATs have been expanding their CoWoS capacities aggressively, from 40kwpm in 2024 to around 90 kwpm in 2025, and is tracking to expand CoWoS capacity toward 160kwpm in 2026E. TSMC also ramped up expanding N3/N2 capacity, with multiple product launches from customers' pipelines—Nvidia's Rubin, AMD's MI400 series/Venice CPU and other cloud ASICs—translating into foreseeable, strong testing demand.

WHAT´S PRICED IN?

Despite a 264% YTD share-price increase, HTSI currently trades at just 15x of our 2028E EPS versus handler-equipment peers forward PE at roughly 35x. We believe market expectations for 2027 CPO testing equipment shipments remain conservative, particularly for insertion 2 equipment. Based on our industry analysis, we estimate HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, this should be higher than the market's expectation of no insertion 2 and limited insertion 3 shipment due to engineering bottleneck. We also see further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 17% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 27% and long-term GM level of 33% vs our estimate of 61%. We see scope for re-rating.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Testing TAM expanding with IC complexity: leaders likely to outperform industry growth

Our central view is that testing content per AI accelerator is growing faster than semiconductor unit volumes, creating a multi-year expansion in testing TAM. We believe semiconductor testing is entering a period of structural growth as AI-driven chip complexity increases testing intensity across wafer, package and system levels. The industry's shift-left strategy, which moves more testing upstream in the semiconductor manufacturing process, is resulting in longer and more frequent test insertions. As cloud AI GPUs and ASICs become increasingly complex, additional testing is required to ensure functionality, performance and yield, while reducing defective parts per million (DPPM). More robust testing should improve deployment efficiency and lower the cost of operating AI infrastructure.

Semiconductor testing generally comprises four stages: wafer/chip probing (CP), final test (FT), system-level test (SLT), and burn-in. CP is conducted at the wafer-level before packaging, while FT, SLT, and burn-in occur after packaging. The below Figure 3 illustrates the semiconductor manufacturing flow.

Source: UBS

We estimate semiconductor testing historically accounts for ~1% of total semiconductor revenue. Within testing, consumables such as probe cards, sockets and interface boards represent ~10-15% of industry revenue. According to Yole, the probe card, socket and interface board markets should grow from US$3.8bn, US$2.3bn and US$1.7bn in 2026 to US$5.5bn, US$3.1bn and US$2.0bn by 2031, respectively.

Nonetheless, leaders within the testing sector will standout among competition, with greater sales CAGR comparing to the industry.

We see HTSI's sales for the next few years to mainly be driven by 1) thermal control module shipment and 2) CPO equipment shipment. In the past, thermal control modules weren't necessary for chip probing, due to less TDP for the chips. However, as new iterations of AI accelerators now got substantial power draw, this unlocks a brand new TAM for HTSI to enter with their thermal control modules to pair with probers, in order to prevent probe card damages.

- Robust thermal control module shipments. We estimate HTSI to ship 3,000/4,100 thermal control modules in 2027E/28E, with continuous demand in future years, bringing their 2026-31E semiconductor equipment sales CAGR to 48%.

- Thermal control module ASP expansion. Gen 2 thermal control modules will start to ship in 2027E which will drive tool ASP up around 25-50%.
- Demand supported by Advantest expansions. We believe the 3,000 thermal control modules shipment forecast for 2027E is not far-fetched, as we read-across from Advantest's announced capacity expansion plan (testers will be paired with probers with a 1:1 ratio) with increasing capacity up to 5,000 testers within FY2027/3 and they also announced a 10,000-unit target within CY2028. Although the testers capacity expansion plan includes testers for final test, we do see a good portion to be allocated to chip probing given shift-left testing trend increasing both testing insertions and testing time before chip packaging.
- CPO is another brand new TAM for semiconductor testing. As insertion 2 and 3 testing equipment demand starts to rise in 2027 with scale-out CPO adoption, we see HTSI to ship 40/70 insertion 2 and 3 equipment in 2027E, with this number growing in 2028E to 80/160 and higher in future years as CPO proliferates, and driving 52% 2026-31E test equipment & engineering services sales CAGR.
- CPO to see content increase. Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment may start to ship in 2027E, with higher throughput and tool ASP.
- Insertion 2 might scale down, but not happening anytime soon. Insertion 2 equipment shipment might come down in 2029E and beyond, as foundries scale-up yield for photonic IC (PIC) in order to lessen the time consuming insertion 2 testing burden.

Robust growth drivers across semiconductor testing

We believe HTSI is set to benefit from several semiconductor testing growth drivers and capture the AI induced, expanding testing TAM. We see HTSI is uniquely positioned as the main beneficiary of two of the strongest growth drivers within semiconductor testing: testing shift-left and CPO.

The industry's adoption of shift-left testing should drive a multi-year structural growth opportunity for chip probing (CP) and its supply chain. As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, semiconductor manufacturers are placing greater emphasis on identifying known-good dies (KGD) before packaging.

Source: UBS

The economics of advanced packaging reinforce this trend. Heterogeneous integration, chiplet architectures and 2.5D/3D packaging significantly increase package value, while defects identified late in the manufacturing process can lead to substantial scrap costs. To mitigate this risk, foundries and OSATs such as TSMC and ASE employ distributed testing flows incorporating KGD, known-good-stack (KGS) and assembly test screening, to catch defects before the components enter a multi-week packaging cycle (>2 weeks for CoW and 2 weeks for oS). The importance of these tests rises as AI clusters become increasingly dependent on component reliability and low defective-parts-per-million (DPPM) rates. Given the multiplicative yield degradation, a 300bps yield decline at just one manufacturing stage (e.g. dropping from 99.5% to 96.5%) reduces overall integrated four-stage yield from 98.0% to 95.0%; on a 500,000 unit ramp at US $10,000 per unit, this 3% scrap delta translates into around US$150m in unrecoverable losses given >6-month manufacturing lead times.

At the same time, rising chip power consumption is increasing the technical difficulty of wafer-level testing. As chip thermal design power scales beyond 1,000W and power density is expected by the industry to surge another 8x by 2030, traditional wafer-level chip probe (WLCP) encounters severe physical bottlenecks. Finer probe pitches and higher power densities increase the risk of overheating, probe needle burnout and yield degradation, creating demand for more advanced probing and thermal-control solutions.

Hermes Testing (HTSI) is a key beneficiary of this trend. Leveraging its long-standing relationship with TSMC and expertise in semiconductor test solutions, HTSI supplies advanced thermal control modules used alongside leading-edge probers (made by Tokyo Electron), particularly for AI applications. These thermal control modules are required for high TDP semiconductor wafer probe in order to maintain the temperature of the chuck to avoid needle burns or probe card damages. We estimate HTSI will ship approximately 3,000 thermal-management modules in 2027E, up from 1,200 in 2026E, supporting sales growth of 127%/152% in 2026E/27E. HTSI is also the partner for prober installation, prober maintenance and services. In addition, HTSI provides high-end chuck processing services, an area that should benefit from increasing package sizes and higher wafer warpage associated with advanced packaging.

Beyond thermal control modules, HTSI also supplies consumables and customised solutions for wafer-level testing, including probe card cleaning sheets and laser-based probe head cleaning systems. As probing intensity increases under the shift-left testing model, demand for cleaning and maintenance solutions should rise alongside probe card utilisation. Currently, cleaning sheets is around 5% of sales, but we believe it could gain traction in 2027/28E and beyond. We see additional upside from future modular laser cleaning systems that could be integrated directly with probers, further expanding HTSI's content opportunity within advanced wafer-level testing.

CPO testing fuelling future growth for semiconductor testing

As interconnect bottlenecks increasingly shift from the memory wall to the copper wall, we believe co-packaged optics (CPO) adoption is inevitable over the longer term. Testing remains one of the key bottlenecks to CPO deployment, as optical validation differs fundamentally from the electrical testing processes that have dominated semiconductor manufacturing for decades. As a result, CPO is creating a new testing opportunity across the semiconductor equipment and consumables ecosystem. We have written extensively on CPO and opportunities that it brings to the semiconductor supply chain, see our CPO deep dive, our thoughts on CPO timing, 2026 SiPhIA conference takeaways, and SEMICON 2026 takeaways.

Various test equipment suppliers are scrambling to come up with ideal testing equipment across the four insertions of CPO testing, with solutions to ensure both optical and electrical signal integrity of the CPO solutions. The four insertions are:

- Insertion 1: Electronic IC (EIC)/Photonic IC (PIC) test. Single-side wafer test that has dedicated probe cards to test the fabricated EIC/PIC wafers.
- Insertion 2: Optical/Electrical test. Double sided wafer test, testing the hybrid bonded (e.g. via TSMC's COUPE) EIC and PIC wafers by an opto-electrical test that verifies the electrical signals on the top and optical signal on the bottom of the hybrid bonded wafers.
- Insertion 3: Optical engine (OE) test. The OE tests are done to ensure the quality of the OEs and with FAU (Fiber Array Unit) attached, to ensure the signal integrity of the OEs. The testing equipment needs to be able to handle 224G per channel data rates, requiring high unit per hour (UPH) throughput, meticulous dirt mitigation, and maintaining a near 100% contact rating on high-speed sockets.
- Insertion 4: ASIC final test. This final test step is established post the OEs are packaged together with the ASIC. The complete ASIC package (now with CPO) is now tested for opto-electrical functionalities.

As it stands, insertion 2 and insertion 3 are the two areas where there are the most debates in the industry. Insertion 3 suppliers such as Chroma has noted the trend of "shift-to-middle" paradigm centered on insertion 3. In high-density scale-out switches deploying up to 32 optical engines (e.g. Nvidia's Spectrum-X architectures), any OE defect results in package scrap at the CoWoS level, making 100% known good die (KGD) validation at the singulated OE stage an absolute commercial requirement.

As shown in the below figure, as there are no set standards for the testing equipment, throughput and stability are now the main target and area of competition for the major players in the field. Notable ones for each insertions are listed.

With its 25 years of precision test equipment expertise, ficonTEC is an early mover for CPO test equipment and has key know-how for optical alignment, which is quintessential for optical test. HTSI, through its partnership with ficonTEC, is set to be a major beneficiary once CPO proliferates in 2027E-28E. As the partner of ficonTEC, Hermes Testing is the key enabler that can help ficonTEC achieve HVM for its CPO testing equipment. As of now, our view is that both insertion 2 and insertion 3 should be required within the next two years, despite the difficulties surrounding double-sided wafer probing (insertion 2), as the yield for OEs are still not high enough to avoid defective dies. Finding out known-good OEs will be crucial before the FAU coupling process during the latter stages of CPO packaging, to prevent impeding the final package with multiple OEs attached to the switch ASIC (e.g. 32 OEs on Nvidia's Spectrum-X). We estimate Hermes Testing will ship 40/70 units of insertion 2/3 testing equipment in 2027E, with potential upside to the numbers as we view Hermes Testing will likely assist with the ramp up for Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment in 2027E. Gen 2 insertion equipment will come with better throughput and ASP.

Source: UBS estimates

Beyond insertions 2 and 3, HTSI is also positioned to participate in insertion 1 testing through customised prober solutions for photonic integrated circuit (PIC) testing. We believe these solutions could eventually be packaged as licensable intellectual property, creating an additional long-term growth opportunity as CPO adoption broadens. While near-term testing growth is driven by AI accelerators, CPO represents the next major expansion cycle for semiconductor testing. We believe HTSI is uniquely positioned to participate across multiple test insertions, providing exposure to a potentially significant source of incremental revenue beginning in 2027E.

HTSI's unique position for new TAM of thermal control modules and CPO test equipment

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan, as a spin-off from Hermes-Epitek. The company provides semiconductor testing and inspection solutions, engineering services, customized equipment, and test consumables. HTSI maintains a global service footprint across Taiwan (Hsinchu, Tainan), Mainland China (Suzhou), Japan (Tokyo, Kumamoto), Singapore, Malaysia, and the United States (Arizona), enabling close support for leading semiconductor customers.

Its main business segments are structured around three pillars:

- Semiconductor equipment and customized products: HTSI utilises a dual-track strategy of independent R&D and also equipment agency sales. They offers highly customized solutions designed to address specific client pain points and bottlenecks. Key products include: thermal control modules that pair with a 1:1 ratio with wafer-level test probers, electron beam inspection equipment, white light interference optical inspection systems, laser probe cleaning machines, and the SYMPHONY fluxless reflow system.

- Testing equipment engineering services: The company operates the largest engineering service team in Taiwan, consisting of over 340 technical professionals. The engineering service team provides extensive equipment life-cycle support, including installation, relocations, modification, testing, routine maintenance, and repair services. CPO related equipment sales/services will be recognized within this segment, as CPO are not direct HTSI products, but rather sales recognition via its partnership with ficonTEC.
- Probe card design, manufacturing, and cleaning materials: HTSI delivers a comprehensive product portfolio that supports the entire probe card life-cycle. For probe cards, they supply membrane, cantilever, and vertical probe cards. As they are small in scale, HTSI targets niche probe card applications such as RF, 5G/6G, millimeter wave, LCD driver, low end logics, TIA (Transimpedance Amplifier), etc. In addition to the three existing probe technologies, HTSI also collaborates with MJC in Japan for MEMS probe development, targeting sales in 2028E for high-end, AI/HPC related applications. Cleaning materials is another important business within this segment, as HTSI source and process sand paper or other materials to offer cleaning sheets to clean the probe cards, removing oxidations, unwanted particles and substances that accumulated on the probe cards during the testing process.

The sales resiliency in the coming years mainly stems from its robust relationship with key industry players, especially as an engineering and service provider with TSMC for testing solutions. This sets up a solid foundation for its customized equipment business, as they know the specific testing bottleneck to tackle. For instance, as Hermes-Epitek manufacturers the probers for Tokyo Electron (TEL) and HTSI helps with installation, services, and maintenance of the probers, they understand the thermal bottlenecks that the wafer-level test industry has been facing and can effectively come up with module solutions to solve this.

Margins set to expand with value-added products and services

The company has demonstrated strong execution in advanced wafer-level testing, with H126 revenue of NT$2.2bn already exceeding 90% of FY25 revenue (NT$2.4bn). Profitability has also improved significantly, with GM increasing from 42.1% in 2025 to 54.9% in H126.

With share of value-added products and services set to rise in 2027E in sales mix, HTSI is set to see GM and operating leverage expansion. As a niche engineering service provider that has robust ties to leading foundries and OSATs, we believe HTSI has substantial pricing power and estimate HTSI' GM for thermal control modules to be around 65%, with GM for CPO equipment of around 60% as HTSI provides an engineering-service-like business for it. We believe these factors will help the company to reach a 60% long-term GM range.

OPM is also set to expand with customized equipment sales rise in total sales mix. If we exclude the one-time expense to be recognized during Q326 for employee stock benefits (we estimate around NT$1bn), YoY opex growth will be around 99% for 2027E, with downside risk if the company conducts tight cost control measures. We forecast the company's OPM will expand from 19.5% in 2026E, to 44.3%/47.0% in 2027/28E.

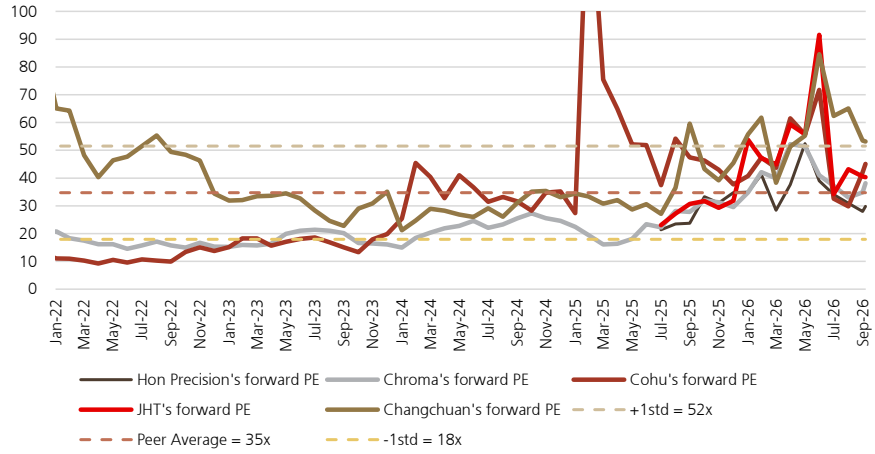
WHAT´S PRICED IN?

HTSI is trading at NT$4,190 as of 6 Oct 2026



Source: LSEG, UBS

Despite a 264% YTD share-price increase, HTSI still trades at just 15x 2028E P/E. We believe market expectations for 2027E CPO testing equipment shipments remain conservative, particularly for insertion 2 equipment. Based on our industry analysis, we estimate HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, this should be higher than the market's expectation of no insertion 2 and limited insertion 3 shipment due to engineering bottleneck. We also see further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 17% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 27% and long-term GM level of 33% vs our estimate of 61%. We see scope for re-rating.

We believe the market is not fully reflecting three key growth drivers:

1) Shift-left testing is still underappreciated.

As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, more thorough testing is done at the wafer-level. This should drive sustained demand for HTSI's thermal control modules, probe card consumables, and other wafer-level testing solutions.

2) CPO revenue potential remains underestimated.

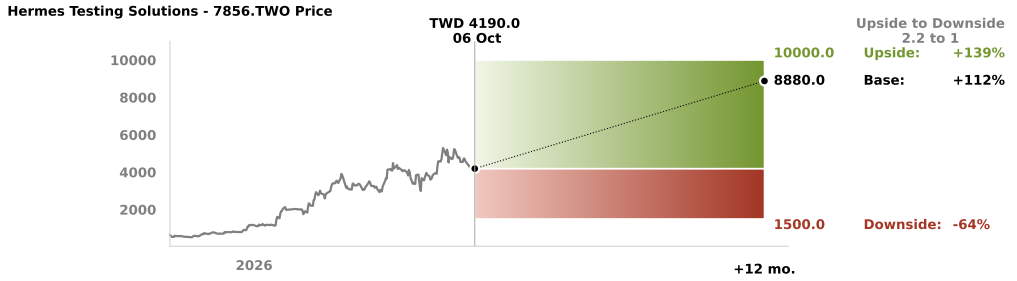
Investor expectations for 2027 CPO equipment shipments, particularly insertion 2 testing systems, remain conservative. Based on our industry studies, we forecast HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, with further potential upside in 2028E as CPO adoption broadens.

3) New products provide additional optionality.

Beyond its core businesses, HTSI is expanding into higher-value solutions including mass-reflow tools, MEMS probe cards and laser cleaning systems, creating incremental growth opportunities that we believe are largely absent from current expectations.

We value HTSI using 31x average 2028E PE, underpinned by a 32% 2027-31E earnings CAGR. We use 2028E PE as our view is that 2028 is the year for thermal control modules and CPO adoption grow from the initial ramping up stage to mass adoption stage. We believe using handlers as a peer group is justifiable for a unique company like HTSI, with thermal control modules for chip probing sharing similar characteristics as active thermal control used for final test, in addition to Hon Precision and Chroma having exposure to CPO test equipment. For equipment vendors, the peer group's average NTM PE post 2022 is around 35x, and the group is currently trading at around 41x NTM PE (see What's Priced In chart).

UPSIDE/DOWNSIDE SPECTRUM



HTSI is trading at NT $4,190 as of 6 Oct 2026

Value drivers (2027/28E)	Thermal control module shipments	CPO insertion 2 & 3 shipments	GM
NT$10,000 upside	3,300/5,000	60&100 / 100&175	61.2%/63.6%
NT$8,880 base	3,000/4,100	40&70 / 80&160	58.3%/60.0%
NT$1,500 downside	1,300/2,000	5&20 / 10&50	53.3%/54.0%

Source: UBS estimates

Risk to the current share price is heavily skewed (2.2:1) to the upside.

UPSIDE (NT$10,000): Our upside scenario reflects stronger than expected thermal module and CPO equipment shipment in 2027-28E, with additional upside from better traction of probe cards and mass reflow tools, forming 157%/91% YoY sales growth in 2027/28E and even higher operating leverage with OPM of 46.3%/50.0% in 2027/28E. This scenario implies a 34x 2028E PE, a upside driving by more equipment demand stemming for robust shift-left test induced equipment bottleneck, alongside CPO proliferation with scale-up CPO equipment pull-in in 2028E.

BASE (NT$8,880): Our price target of NT$8,880 is based on 31x 2028E PE. We expect an earnings CAGR of 32% in 2027-31E. With shift-left trend for more thermal module requirement during testing, alongside 40/70 CPO insertion 2/3 shipment. We see these growth drivers driving YoY sales growth from a high base of 127% in 2026E to 152%/78% YoY in 2027/2028E, with OPM of 44.3%/47.0% in 2027/28E.

DOWNSIDE (NT$1,500): Our downside scenario reflects lower shipment of thermal control modules due to less advanced prober demand with less insertion 2 and 3 equipment shipment due to bottlenecks with CPO production, alongside limited additional growth drivers to be picked up in 2028 such as MEMS probe card and mass reflow tools. This leads to weaker YoY sales growth of 67%/50% in 2027/28E and operating margin of 29.3%/32.0% in 2027/28E as equipment shipment fails to scale. This scenario implies a 14x 2028E PE, as valuation de-rate with dimmed outlook without CPO and limited upside from thermal control module shipments.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Industry Outlook

New iterations of semiconductors, especially for AI / HPC applications, are set to increase in both front-end wafer fabrication advancements and back-end packaging complexities with each iterations. With the industry now moves to utilize "shift left", chip probing and its relevant supply chain will be key beneficiaries of this trend which we believe will unlock multi-year, secular growth trends.

Company Description

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

We value Hermes Testing based on PE methodology.
Risks for the semis industry:
- Geopolitical uncertainties: Geopolitical uncertainties including tariffs and more export control could negatively impact semis cycle, and a downturn would lead to slower demand in the overall market and moderating capacity expansion.
- Meaningful deceleration of new technology development: Slower demand and less investment are expected If there is meaningful deceleration of new technology development such as Cloud AI, autonomous driving, etc.
- Rising utility cost: Larger-than-expected utility cost increases would further pressure profitability. Rising utility costs in Taiwan have negatively impacted margins for Taiwan tech companies.
Company risks:
- Faster- or slower-than-expected front-end/CoWoS capacity expansion: This could result in Hermes Testing gaining/losing equipment orders from major foundries and OSATs.
- Competitors achieving technological advancement: Potential risk of competition (from either local or foreign companies) achieving technological advancements could result in Hermes Testing losing market share from major foundries and OSATs.
- Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth: Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth could lead to a ramp-up or a slowdown of equipment orders from major foundries and OSATs to Hermes Testing, affecting long-term revenue growth potential.
- Slowdown or delay of new technological advancement: A potential slowdown or delay of the rollout for technological advancements for technologies such as SoIC, CoPoS, and CPO, would limit future equipment orders.
- Increase of raw material costs: Rising raw material costs may directly impact Hermes Testing's margins for equipment shipments.

UBS Global Research: Global Equity Rating Definitions

12-Month Rating	Definition	Coverage[1]	IB Services[2]
Buy	FSR is > 6% above the MRA.	55%	24%
Neutral	FSR is between -6% and 6% of the MRA.	39%	20%
Sell	FSR is > 6% below the MRA.	6%	21%

Source: UBS. Rating allocations are as of 30 September 2026.
1:Percentage of companies under coverage globally within the 12-month rating category.
2:Percentage of companies within the 12-month rating category for which investment banking (IB) services were provided within the past 12 months.

KEY DEFINITIONS:Forecast Stock Return (FSR) is defined as expected percentage price appreciation plus gross dividend yield over the next 12 months. In some cases, this yield may be based on accrued dividends. Market Return Assumption (MRA) is defined as the one-year local market interest rate plus 5% (a proxy for, and not a forecast of, the equity risk premium). Under Review (UR) Stocks may be flagged as UR by the analyst, indicating that the stock's price target and/or rating are subject to possible change in the near term, usually in response to an event that may affect the investment case or valuation. Equity Price Targets have an investment horizon of 12 months.

EXCEPTIONS AND SPECIAL CASES:UK and European Investment Fund ratings and definitions are: Buy: Positive on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Neutral: Neutral on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Sell: Negative on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount. Core Banding Exceptions (CBE): Exceptions to the standard +/-6% bands may be granted by the Investment Review Consultation (IRC). Factors considered by the IRC include the stock's volatility and the credit spread of the respective company's debt. As a result, stocks deemed to be very high or low risk may be subject to higher or lower bands as they relate to the rating. When such exceptions apply, they will be identified in the Company Disclosures table in the relevant research piece.

This document is a general communication and is educational in nature; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. The recipient should carefully read this document in its entirety and not draw inferences or conclusions from the rating alone. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, structured derivative products and futures (including OTC derivatives) are not suitable for all investors. Trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "The Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options." You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/publications/risks/riskchap1.jsp or ask your salesperson for a copy. Various theoretical explanations of the risks associated with these instruments have been published. Supporting documentation for any claims, comparisons, recommendations, statistics or other technical data will be supplied upon request. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchases and sales of options, such as spreads and straddles. Because of the importance of tax considerations to many options transactions, the investor considering options should consult with his/her tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of contemplated options transactions.

Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

UBS notes that no globally accepted framework or definition (legal, regulatory or otherwise) currently exists, nor is there a market consensus as to what constitutes an "ESG" (Environmental, Social or Governance) or an equivalent-label, or as to what precise attributes are required for the Information (as defined below) to be defined as ESG or equivalently-labelled. Any information, data or other content including from a third party source contained, referred to herein or used for whatsoever purpose by UBS or a third party ("Information"), in relation to any actual or potential ESG objective, issue or consideration is not intended to be relied upon for ESG classification, regulatory regime or industry initiative purposes ("ESG Regimes"). Nothing in these materials is intended to convey, suggest or indicate that UBS considers or represents any product, service, person or body mentioned in these materials as meeting or qualifying for any ESG classification, labelling or similar standards that may exist under the ESG Regimes. UBS has not conducted any assessment of compliance with ESG Regimes. Parties are reminded to make their own assessments for these purposes.

The value of any investment or income may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the full (or any) amount invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Neither UBS nor any of its directors, employees or agents accepts any liability for any loss (including investment loss) or damage arising out of the use of all or any of the Information.

Prior to making any investment or financial decisions, any recipient of this document or the information should take steps to understand the risk and return of the investment and seek individualized advice from his or her personal financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors that takes into account all the particular facts and circumstances of his or her investment objectives.

Any prices stated in this document are for information purposes only and do not represent valuations for individual securities or other financial instruments. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at those prices, and any prices do not necessarily reflect UBS's internal books and records or theoretical model-based valuations and may be based on certain assumptions. Different assumptions by UBS or any other source may yield substantially different results.

No representation or warranty, either expressed or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information contained in any materials to which this document relates (the "Information"), except with respect to Information concerning UBS. The Information is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the document. UBS does not undertake to update or keep current the Information. Any statements contained in this report attributed to a third party represent UBS's interpretation of the data, information and/or opinions provided by that third party either publicly or through a subscription service, and such use and interpretation have not been reviewed by the third party. In no circumstances may this document or any of the Information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes:

(i) valuation or accounting purposes;

(ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or

(iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. UBS does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. Risk information:

You agree that you shall not copy, revise, amend, create a derivative work, provide to any third party, or in any way commercially exploit any UBS research, and that you shall not extract data from any research or estimates, without the prior written consent of UBS.

This document is for distribution only as may be permitted by law. It is not directed to, or intended for distribution to or use by, any person or entity who is a citizen or resident of or located in any locality, state, country or other jurisdiction where such distribution, publication, availability or use would be contrary to law or regulation or would subject UBS to any registration or licensing requirement within such jurisdiction.

This document is for your information only; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, derivative products and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky. Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

The value of any investment or income may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the full (or any) amount invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Neither UBS nor any of its directors, employees or agents accepts any liability for any loss (including investment loss) or damage arising out of the use of all or any of the information (as defined below).

Prior to making any investment or financial decisions, any recipient of this document or the information should take steps to understand the risk and return of the investment and seek individualized advice from his or her personal financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors that takes into account all the particular facts and circumstances of his or her investment objectives.

Any prices stated in this document are for information purposes only and do not represent valuations for individual securities or other financial instruments. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at those prices, and any prices do not necessarily reflect UBS's internal books and records or theoretical model-based valuations and may be based on certain assumptions. Different assumptions by UBS or any other source may yield substantially different results.

No representation or warranty, either expressed or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information contained in any materials to which this document relates (the "Information"), except with respect to Information concerning UBS. The Information is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the document. UBS does not undertake to update or keep current the Information. Any opinions expressed in this document may change without notice and may differ or be contrary to opinions expressed by other business areas or groups, personnel or other representative of UBS. Any statements contained in this report attributed to a third party represent UBS's interpretation of the data, information and/or opinions provided by that third party either publicly or through a subscription service, and such use and interpretation have not been reviewed by the third party. In no circumstances may this document or any of the Information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes: (i) valuation or accounting purposes; (ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or (iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS (including between Global Wealth Management and UBS Global Research) and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. For further information on the ways in which UBS manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS research recommendations, please visit https://www.ubs.com/research-methodology.

Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of research management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS's subsidiaries, branches and affiliates as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms in the UK) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

Within the past 12 months UBS Switzerland AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Jack-of-all-trades for bespoke testing solutions in the semiconductor industry

We initiate coverage of Hermes Testing (HTSI) with a Buy rating and NT$8,880 PT. HTSI is uniquely positioned to benefit from two key semiconductor testing trends: shift-left testing and the emerging CPO testing market. Leveraging its long-standing relationship with TSMC, HTSI has established capabilities across electrical test engineering, customised test equipment, thermal control modules, probe cards, and CPO testing solutions. We forecast revenue growth of 127%/152%/78% in 2026E/27E/28E, driven by increasing adoption of thermal control modules for wafer-level test and initial deployment of CPO insertion 2 and insertion 3 test equipment through ficonTEC. Additional 2028E growth drivers include reflow tools, laser clean solutions, and MEMS probe cards. The stock trades at 27/15x 2027/28E PE, versus ~35x NTM PE for handler-equipment peers, offering re-rating potential as sales scale, new products are qualified, and its CPO presence expands. See our companion testing deep dive sector note.

Thermal control modules should be HTSI's largest growth driver over the next several years. We expect increasing chip power consumption, rising package complexity, and tighter probe pitches to drive adoption of advanced thermal control solutions used alongside leading-edge probers, in additional to more wafer level insertions and longer test time. We estimate HTSI will ship approximately 3,000 thermal-control modules in 2027E, up from around 1,200 units in 2026E, sales contribution rise from ~30% in Q226 to >50% of sales by 2027E. The launch of its second-generation platform in 2027E, which carries 25-50% higher ASPs, should further improve profitability. We forecast GM expansion from 55.5% in 2026E to 58.3%/60.0% in 2027E/28E.

Unique position to capture CPO upside

Through its partnership with German optical-automation leader ficonTEC, HTSI is positioned to participate in the initial ramp of CPO testing equipment. HTSI supports local manufacturing, installation, automation and after-sales service, making it a key enabler of volume production. We estimate HTSI captures approximately 30% of equipment value across the 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems we forecast for delivery in 2027E, with further potential upside in 2028E as adoption expands.

Valuation: initiate coverage with a Buy rating and price target NT$8,880

We forecast EPS of NT$29.1 in 2026E (including a one-off employee share purchase programme impact), rising to NT$153.3/286.5 in 2027E/28E. Our NT$8,880 price target is based on 31x average 2028E PE, versus handler-equipment peers forward PE at roughly 35x, reflecting HTSI's unique exposure to both shift-left testing, CPO, and our estimate of 32% LT earnings CAGR. We initiate with a Buy rating.

UBS Research THESIS MAP a guide to our thinking and what´s where in this report

PIVOTAL QUESTIONS

Q: Will HTSI be able to keep its moat within chip probing thermal control modules?
Yes. We expect HTSI's competitive position to strengthen as chip power consumption, package complexity, and probe density continue to increase. The company is developing next-generation thermal control solutions, including liquid cooling technologies, while also expanding into specialized chuck solutions designed to address wafer warpage. In addition, HTSI's close collaboration with TSMC, TEL, Advantest, and other OSATs should reinforce its position within advanced wafer-level testing.

Q: Will insertion 2 of CPO testing process be skipped?
No. We believe concerns surrounding insertion 2 adoption are overdone. While some industry participants favor bypassing insertion 2 due to throughput and ROI considerations, doing so increases the risk of defective optical engines being identified only after the components are delivered to OSATs, creating yield accountability challenges and higher packaging losses. Based on our industry studies, we expect insertion 2 testing to remain an important part of the CPO workflow over at least the next two years as the industry focuses on improving PIC yields and overall testing efficiency.

UBSVIEW

We initiate coverage of Hermes Testing (HTSI) with a Buy rating and NT$8,880 price target. HTSI offers unique exposure to two of the semiconductor testing industry's most attractive growth drivers: 1) shift-left testing and 2) CPO testing. The industry's shift-left testing strategy will have more test insertions move to the wafer level before packaging, in addition to longer CP time. Leveraging its longstanding relationship with TSMC, HTSI has established capabilities across thermal control modules, electrical-test engineering services, customized equipment, and emerging CPO testing solutions. We believe there could be re-rating potential as sales scale, new products are qualified, and its CPO presence expands.

EVIDENCE

TSMC and OSATs have been expanding their CoWoS capacities aggressively, from 40kwpm in 2024 to around 90 kwpm in 2025, and is tracking to expand CoWoS capacity toward 160kwpm in 2026E. TSMC also ramped up expanding N3/N2 capacity, with multiple product launches from customers' pipelines—Nvidia's Rubin, AMD's MI400 series/Venice CPU and other cloud ASICs—translating into foreseeable, strong testing demand.

WHAT´S PRICED IN?

Despite a 264% YTD share-price increase, HTSI currently trades at just 15x of our 2028E EPS versus handler-equipment peers forward PE at roughly 35x. We believe market expectations for 2027 CPO testing equipment shipments remain conservative, particularly for insertion 2 equipment. Based on our industry analysis, we estimate HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, this should be higher than the market's expectation of no insertion 2 and limited insertion 3 shipment due to engineering bottleneck. We also see further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 17% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 27% and long-term GM level of 33% vs our estimate of 61%. We see scope for re-rating.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Testing TAM expanding with IC complexity: leaders likely to outperform industry growth

Our central view is that testing content per AI accelerator is growing faster than semiconductor unit volumes, creating a multi-year expansion in testing TAM. We believe semiconductor testing is entering a period of structural growth as AI-driven chip complexity increases testing intensity across wafer, package and system levels. The industry's shift-left strategy, which moves more testing upstream in the semiconductor manufacturing process, is resulting in longer and more frequent test insertions. As cloud AI GPUs and ASICs become increasingly complex, additional testing is required to ensure functionality, performance and yield, while reducing defective parts per million (DPPM). More robust testing should improve deployment efficiency and lower the cost of operating AI infrastructure.

Semiconductor testing generally comprises four stages: wafer/chip probing (CP), final test (FT), system-level test (SLT), and burn-in. CP is conducted at the wafer-level before packaging, while FT, SLT, and burn-in occur after packaging. The below Figure 3 illustrates the semiconductor manufacturing flow.

Source: UBS

We estimate semiconductor testing historically accounts for ~1% of total semiconductor revenue. Within testing, consumables such as probe cards, sockets and interface boards represent ~10-15% of industry revenue. According to Yole, the probe card, socket and interface board markets should grow from US$3.8bn, US$2.3bn and US$1.7bn in 2026 to US$5.5bn, US$3.1bn and US$2.0bn by 2031, respectively.

Nonetheless, leaders within the testing sector will standout among competition, with greater sales CAGR comparing to the industry.

We see HTSI's sales for the next few years to mainly be driven by 1) thermal control module shipment and 2) CPO equipment shipment. In the past, thermal control modules weren't necessary for chip probing, due to less TDP for the chips. However, as new iterations of AI accelerators now got substantial power draw, this unlocks a brand new TAM for HTSI to enter with their thermal control modules to pair with probers, in order to prevent probe card damages.

- Robust thermal control module shipments. We estimate HTSI to ship 3,000/4,100 thermal control modules in 2027E/28E, with continuous demand in future years, bringing their 2026-31E semiconductor equipment sales CAGR to 48%.

- Thermal control module ASP expansion. Gen 2 thermal control modules will start to ship in 2027E which will drive tool ASP up around 25-50%.
- Demand supported by Advantest expansions. We believe the 3,000 thermal control modules shipment forecast for 2027E is not far-fetched, as we read-across from Advantest's announced capacity expansion plan (testers will be paired with probers with a 1:1 ratio) with increasing capacity up to 5,000 testers within FY2027/3 and they also announced a 10,000-unit target within CY2028. Although the testers capacity expansion plan includes testers for final test, we do see a good portion to be allocated to chip probing given shift-left testing trend increasing both testing insertions and testing time before chip packaging.
- CPO is another brand new TAM for semiconductor testing. As insertion 2 and 3 testing equipment demand starts to rise in 2027 with scale-out CPO adoption, we see HTSI to ship 40/70 insertion 2 and 3 equipment in 2027E, with this number growing in 2028E to 80/160 and higher in future years as CPO proliferates, and driving 52% 2026-31E test equipment & engineering services sales CAGR.
- CPO to see content increase. Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment may start to ship in 2027E, with higher throughput and tool ASP.
- Insertion 2 might scale down, but not happening anytime soon. Insertion 2 equipment shipment might come down in 2029E and beyond, as foundries scale-up yield for photonic IC (PIC) in order to lessen the time consuming insertion 2 testing burden.

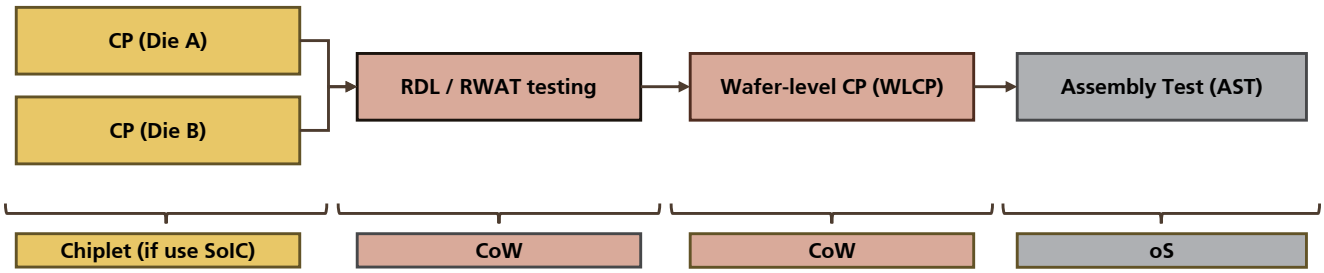
Robust growth drivers across semiconductor testing

We believe HTSI is set to benefit from several semiconductor testing growth drivers and capture the AI induced, expanding testing TAM. We see HTSI is uniquely positioned as the main beneficiary of two of the strongest growth drivers within semiconductor testing: testing shift-left and CPO.

Shift-left igniting secular growth for chip probing

The industry's adoption of shift-left testing should drive a multi-year structural growth opportunity for chip probing (CP) and its supply chain. As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, semiconductor manufacturers are placing greater emphasis on identifying known-good dies (KGD) before packaging.

Figure 4: CP is set to grow substantially with shift-left, each packaging step set to be MORE costly than the prior step



Source: UBS

The economics of advanced packaging reinforce this trend. Heterogeneous integration, chiplet architectures and 2.5D/3D packaging significantly increase package value, while defects identified late in the manufacturing process can lead to substantial scrap costs. To mitigate this risk, foundries and OSATs such as TSMC and ASE employ distributed testing flows incorporating KGD, known-good-stack (KGS) and assembly test screening, to catch defects before the components enter a multi-week packaging cycle (>2 weeks for CoW and 2 weeks for oS). The importance of these tests rises as AI clusters become increasingly dependent on component reliability and low defective-parts-per-million (DPPM) rates. Given the multiplicative yield degradation, a 300bps yield decline at just one manufacturing stage (e.g. dropping from 99.5% to 96.5%) reduces overall integrated four-stage yield from 98.0% to 95.0%; on a 500,000 unit ramp at US $10,000 per unit, this 3% scrap delta translates into around US$150m in unrecoverable losses given >6-month manufacturing lead times.

At the same time, rising chip power consumption is increasing the technical difficulty of wafer-level testing. As chip thermal design power scales beyond 1,000W and power density is expected by the industry to surge another 8x by 2030, traditional wafer-level chip probe (WLCP) encounters severe physical bottlenecks. Finer probe pitches and higher power densities increase the risk of overheating, probe needle burnout and yield degradation, creating demand for more advanced probing and thermal-control solutions.

Source: UBS

Hermes Testing (HTSI) is a key beneficiary of this trend. Leveraging its long-standing relationship with TSMC and expertise in semiconductor test solutions, HTSI supplies advanced thermal control modules used alongside leading-edge probers (made by Tokyo Electron), particularly for AI applications. These thermal control modules are required for high TDP semiconductor wafer probe in order to maintain the temperature of the chuck to avoid needle burns or probe card damages. We estimate HTSI will ship approximately 3,000 thermal-management modules in 2027E, up from 1,200 in 2026E, supporting sales growth of 127%/152% in 2026E/27E. HTSI is also the partner for prober installation, prober maintenance and services. In addition, HTSI provides high-end chuck processing services, an area that should benefit from increasing package sizes and higher wafer warpage associated with advanced packaging.

Beyond thermal control modules, HTSI also supplies consumables and customised solutions for wafer-level testing, including probe card cleaning sheets and laser-based probe head cleaning systems. As probing intensity increases under the shift-left testing model, demand for cleaning and maintenance solutions should rise alongside probe card utilisation. Currently, cleaning sheets is around 5% of sales, but we believe it could gain traction in 2027/28E and beyond. We see additional upside from future modular laser cleaning systems that could be integrated directly with probers, further expanding HTSI's content opportunity within advanced wafer-level testing.

CPO testing fuelling future growth for semiconductor testing

As interconnect bottlenecks increasingly shift from the memory wall to the copper wall, we believe co-packaged optics (CPO) adoption is inevitable over the longer term. Testing remains one of the key bottlenecks to CPO deployment, as optical validation differs fundamentally from the electrical testing processes that have dominated semiconductor manufacturing for decades. As a result, CPO is creating a new testing opportunity across the semiconductor equipment and consumables ecosystem. We have written extensively on CPO and opportunities that it brings to the semiconductor supply chain, see our CPO deep dive, our thoughts on CPO timing, 2026 SiPhIA conference takeaways, and SEMICON 2026 takeaways.

Various test equipment suppliers are scrambling to come up with ideal testing equipment across the four insertions of CPO testing, with solutions to ensure both optical and electrical signal integrity of the CPO solutions. The four insertions are:

- Insertion 1: Electronic IC (EIC)/Photonic IC (PIC) test. Single-side wafer test that has dedicated probe cards to test the fabricated EIC/PIC wafers.
- Insertion 2: Optical/Electrical test. Double sided wafer test, testing the hybrid bonded (e.g. via TSMC's COUPE) EIC and PIC wafers by an opto-electrical test that verifies the electrical signals on the top and optical signal on the bottom of the hybrid bonded wafers.
- Insertion 3: Optical engine (OE) test. The OE tests are done to ensure the quality of the OEs and with FAU (Fiber Array Unit) attached, to ensure the signal integrity of the OEs. The testing equipment needs to be able to handle 224G per channel data rates, requiring high unit per hour (UPH) throughput, meticulous dirt mitigation, and maintaining a near 100% contact rating on high-speed sockets.
- Insertion 4: ASIC final test. This final test step is established post the OEs are packaged together with the ASIC. The complete ASIC package (now with CPO) is now tested for opto-electrical functionalities.

As it stands, insertion 2 and insertion 3 are the two areas where there are the most debates in the industry. Insertion 3 suppliers such as Chroma has noted the trend of "shift-to-middle" paradigm centered on insertion 3. In high-density scale-out switches deploying up to 32 optical engines (e.g. Nvidia's Spectrum-X architectures), any OE defect results in package scrap at the CoWoS level, making 100% known good die (KGD) validation at the singulated OE stage an absolute commercial requirement.

As shown in the below figure, as there are no set standards for the testing equipment, throughput and stability are now the main target and area of competition for the major players in the field. Notable ones for each insertions are listed.

With its 25 years of precision test equipment expertise, ficonTEC is an early mover for CPO test equipment and has key know-how for optical alignment, which is quintessential for optical test. HTSI, through its partnership with ficonTEC, is set to be a major beneficiary once CPO proliferates in 2027E-28E. As the partner of ficonTEC, Hermes Testing is the key enabler that can help ficonTEC achieve HVM for its CPO testing equipment. As of now, our view is that both insertion 2 and insertion 3 should be required within the next two years, despite the difficulties surrounding double-sided wafer probing (insertion 2), as the yield for OEs are still not high enough to avoid defective dies. Finding out known-good OEs will be crucial before the FAU coupling process during the latter stages of CPO packaging, to prevent impeding the final package with multiple OEs attached to the switch ASIC (e.g. 32 OEs on Nvidia's Spectrum-X). We estimate Hermes Testing will ship 40/70 units of insertion 2/3 testing equipment in 2027E, with potential upside to the numbers as we view Hermes Testing will likely assist with the ramp up for Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment in 2027E. Gen 2 insertion equipment will come with better throughput and ASP.

Source: UBS estimates

Beyond insertions 2 and 3, HTSI is also positioned to participate in insertion 1 testing through customised prober solutions for photonic integrated circuit (PIC) testing. We believe these solutions could eventually be packaged as licensable intellectual property, creating an additional long-term growth opportunity as CPO adoption broadens. While near-term testing growth is driven by AI accelerators, CPO represents the next major expansion cycle for semiconductor testing. We believe HTSI is uniquely positioned to participate across multiple test insertions, providing exposure to a potentially significant source of incremental revenue beginning in 2027E.

HTSI's unique position for new TAM of thermal control modules and CPO test equipment

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan, as a spin-off from Hermes-Epitek. The company provides semiconductor testing and inspection solutions, engineering services, customized equipment, and test consumables. HTSI maintains a global service footprint across Taiwan (Hsinchu, Tainan), Mainland China (Suzhou), Japan (Tokyo, Kumamoto), Singapore, Malaysia, and the United States (Arizona), enabling close support for leading semiconductor customers.

Its main business segments are structured around three pillars:

- Semiconductor equipment and customized products: HTSI utilises a dual-track strategy of independent R&D and also equipment agency sales. They offers highly customized solutions designed to address specific client pain points and bottlenecks. Key products include: thermal control modules that pair with a 1:1 ratio with wafer-level test probers, electron beam inspection equipment, white light interference optical inspection systems, laser probe cleaning machines, and the SYMPHONY fluxless reflow system.

- Testing equipment engineering services: The company operates the largest engineering service team in Taiwan, consisting of over 340 technical professionals. The engineering service team provides extensive equipment life-cycle support, including installation, relocations, modification, testing, routine maintenance, and repair services. CPO related equipment sales/services will be recognized within this segment, as CPO are not direct HTSI products, but rather sales recognition via its partnership with ficonTEC.
- Probe card design, manufacturing, and cleaning materials: HTSI delivers a comprehensive product portfolio that supports the entire probe card life-cycle. For probe cards, they supply membrane, cantilever, and vertical probe cards. As they are small in scale, HTSI targets niche probe card applications such as RF, 5G/6G, millimeter wave, LCD driver, low end logics, TIA (Transimpedance Amplifier), etc. In addition to the three existing probe technologies, HTSI also collaborates with MJC in Japan for MEMS probe development, targeting sales in 2028E for high-end, AI/HPC related applications. Cleaning materials is another important business within this segment, as HTSI source and process sand paper or other materials to offer cleaning sheets to clean the probe cards, removing oxidations, unwanted particles and substances that accumulated on the probe cards during the testing process.

The sales resiliency in the coming years mainly stems from its robust relationship with key industry players, especially as an engineering and service provider with TSMC for testing solutions. This sets up a solid foundation for its customized equipment business, as they know the specific testing bottleneck to tackle. For instance, as Hermes-Epitek manufacturers the probers for Tokyo Electron (TEL) and HTSI helps with installation, services, and maintenance of the probers, they understand the thermal bottlenecks that the wafer-level test industry has been facing and can effectively come up with module solutions to solve this.

Margins set to expand with value-added products and services

The company has demonstrated strong execution in advanced wafer-level testing, with H126 revenue of NT$2.2bn already exceeding 90% of FY25 revenue (NT$2.4bn). Profitability has also improved significantly, with GM increasing from 42.1% in 2025 to 54.9% in H126.

With share of value-added products and services set to rise in 2027E in sales mix, HTSI is set to see GM and operating leverage expansion. As a niche engineering service provider that has robust ties to leading foundries and OSATs, we believe HTSI has substantial pricing power and estimate HTSI' GM for thermal control modules to be around 65%, with GM for CPO equipment of around 60% as HTSI provides an engineering-service-like business for it. We believe these factors will help the company to reach a 60% long-term GM range.

OPM is also set to expand with customized equipment sales rise in total sales mix. If we exclude the one-time expense to be recognized during Q326 for employee stock benefits (we estimate around NT$1bn), YoY opex growth will be around 99% for 2027E, with downside risk if the company conducts tight cost control measures. We forecast the company's OPM will expand from 19.5% in 2026E, to 44.3%/47.0% in 2027/28E.

WHAT´S PRICED IN?

Source: LSEG, UBS

Despite a 264% YTD share-price increase, HTSI still trades at just 15x 2028E P/E. We believe market expectations for 2027E CPO testing equipment shipments remain conservative, particularly for insertion 2 equipment. Based on our industry analysis, we estimate HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, this should be higher than the market's expectation of no insertion 2 and limited insertion 3 shipment due to engineering bottleneck. We also see further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 17% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 27% and long-term GM level of 33% vs our estimate of 61%. We see scope for re-rating.

We believe the market is not fully reflecting three key growth drivers:

1) Shift-left testing is still underappreciated.

As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, more thorough testing is done at the wafer-level. This should drive sustained demand for HTSI's thermal control modules, probe card consumables, and other wafer-level testing solutions.

2) CPO revenue potential remains underestimated.

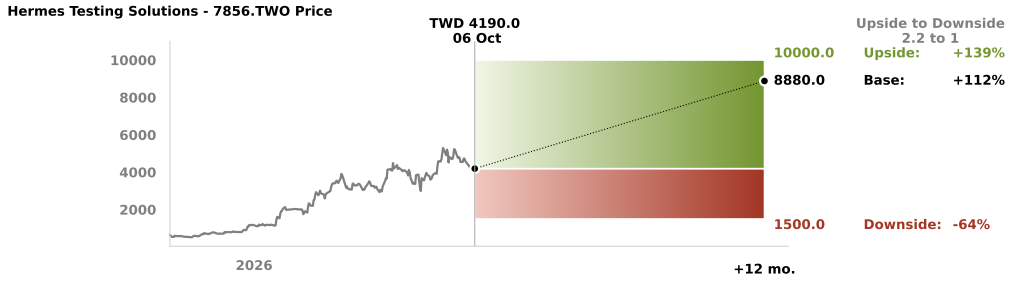
Investor expectations for 2027 CPO equipment shipments, particularly insertion 2 testing systems, remain conservative. Based on our industry studies, we forecast HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, with further potential upside in 2028E as CPO adoption broadens.

3) New products provide additional optionality.

Beyond its core businesses, HTSI is expanding into higher-value solutions including mass-reflow tools, MEMS probe cards and laser cleaning systems, creating incremental growth opportunities that we believe are largely absent from current expectations.

We value HTSI using 31x average 2028E PE, underpinned by a 32% 2027-31E earnings CAGR. We use 2028E PE as our view is that 2028 is the year for thermal control modules and CPO adoption grow from the initial ramping up stage to mass adoption stage. We believe using handlers as a peer group is justifiable for a unique company like HTSI, with thermal control modules for chip probing sharing similar characteristics as active thermal control used for final test, in addition to Hon Precision and Chroma having exposure to CPO test equipment. For equipment vendors, the peer group's average NTM PE post 2022 is around 35x, and the group is currently trading at around 41x NTM PE (see What's Priced In chart).

UPSIDE/DOWNSIDE SPECTRUM



HTSI is trading at NT $4,190 as of 6 Oct 2026

Value drivers (2027/28E)	Thermal control module shipments	CPO insertion 2 & 3 shipments	GM
NT$10,000 upside	3,300/5,000	60&100 / 100&175	61.2%/63.6%
NT$8,880 base	3,000/4,100	40&70 / 80&160	58.3%/60.0%
NT$1,500 downside	1,300/2,000	5&20 / 10&50	53.3%/54.0%

Source: UBS estimates

Risk to the current share price is heavily skewed (2.2:1) to the upside.

UPSIDE (NT$10,000): Our upside scenario reflects stronger than expected thermal module and CPO equipment shipment in 2027-28E, with additional upside from better traction of probe cards and mass reflow tools, forming 157%/91% YoY sales growth in 2027/28E and even higher operating leverage with OPM of 46.3%/50.0% in 2027/28E. This scenario implies a 34x 2028E PE, a upside driving by more equipment demand stemming for robust shift-left test induced equipment bottleneck, alongside CPO proliferation with scale-up CPO equipment pull-in in 2028E.

BASE (NT$8,880): Our price target of NT$8,880 is based on 31x 2028E PE. We expect an earnings CAGR of 32% in 2027-31E. With shift-left trend for more thermal module requirement during testing, alongside 40/70 CPO insertion 2/3 shipment. We see these growth drivers driving YoY sales growth from a high base of 127% in 2026E to 152%/78% YoY in 2027/2028E, with OPM of 44.3%/47.0% in 2027/28E.

DOWNSIDE (NT$1,500): Our downside scenario reflects lower shipment of thermal control modules due to less advanced prober demand with less insertion 2 and 3 equipment shipment due to bottlenecks with CPO production, alongside limited additional growth drivers to be picked up in 2028 such as MEMS probe card and mass reflow tools. This leads to weaker YoY sales growth of 67%/50% in 2027/28E and operating margin of 29.3%/32.0% in 2027/28E as equipment shipment fails to scale. This scenario implies a 14x 2028E PE, as valuation de-rate with dimmed outlook without CPO and limited upside from thermal control module shipments.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Industry Outlook

New iterations of semiconductors, especially for AI / HPC applications, are set to increase in both front-end wafer fabrication advancements and back-end packaging complexities with each iterations. With the industry now moves to utilize "shift left", chip probing and its relevant supply chain will be key beneficiaries of this trend which we believe will unlock multi-year, secular growth trends.

Company Description

Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI) was founded in 2004 in Hsinchu, Taiwan. It focuses on providing semiconductor testing and inspecting solutions, equipment installation, technical support, and maintenance services. Its main business segments are customized semiconductor equipment, engineering services, and probe cards and other materials.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

We value Hermes Testing based on PE methodology.
Risks for the semis industry:
- Geopolitical uncertainties: Geopolitical uncertainties including tariffs and more export control could negatively impact semis cycle, and a downturn would lead to slower demand in the overall market and moderating capacity expansion.
- Meaningful deceleration of new technology development: Slower demand and less investment are expected If there is meaningful deceleration of new technology development such as Cloud AI, autonomous driving, etc.
- Rising utility cost: Larger-than-expected utility cost increases would further pressure profitability. Rising utility costs in Taiwan have negatively impacted margins for Taiwan tech companies.
Company risks:
- Faster- or slower-than-expected front-end/CoWoS capacity expansion: This could result in Hermes Testing gaining/losing equipment orders from major foundries and OSATs.
- Competitors achieving technological advancement: Potential risk of competition (from either local or foreign companies) achieving technological advancements could result in Hermes Testing losing market share from major foundries and OSATs.
- Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth: Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth could lead to a ramp-up or a slowdown of equipment orders from major foundries and OSATs to Hermes Testing, affecting long-term revenue growth potential.
- Slowdown or delay of new technological advancement: A potential slowdown or delay of the rollout for technological advancements for technologies such as SoIC, CoPoS, and CPO, would limit future equipment orders.
- Increase of raw material costs: Rising raw material costs may directly impact Hermes Testing's margins for equipment shipments.

UBS Global Research: Global Equity Rating Definitions

12-Month Rating	Definition	Coverage[1]	IB Services[2]
Buy	FSR is > 6% above the MRA.	55%	24%
Neutral	FSR is between -6% and 6% of the MRA.	39%	20%
Sell	FSR is > 6% below the MRA.	6%	21%

Source: UBS. Rating allocations are as of 30 September 2026.
1:Percentage of companies under coverage globally within the 12-month rating category.
2:Percentage of companies within the 12-month rating category for which investment banking (IB) services were provided within the past 12 months.

KEY DEFINITIONS:Forecast Stock Return (FSR) is defined as expected percentage price appreciation plus gross dividend yield over the next 12 months. In some cases, this yield may be based on accrued dividends. Market Return Assumption (MRA) is defined as the one-year local market interest rate plus 5% (a proxy for, and not a forecast of, the equity risk premium). Under Review (UR) Stocks may be flagged as UR by the analyst, indicating that the stock's price target and/or rating are subject to possible change in the near term, usually in response to an event that may affect the investment case or valuation. Equity Price Targets have an investment horizon of 12 months.

EXCEPTIONS AND SPECIAL CASES:UK and European Investment Fund ratings and definitions are: Buy: Positive on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Neutral: Neutral on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Sell: Negative on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount. Core Banding Exceptions (CBE): Exceptions to the standard +/-6% bands may be granted by the Investment Review Consultation (IRC). Factors considered by the IRC include the stock's volatility and the credit spread of the respective company's debt. As a result, stocks deemed to be very high or low risk may be subject to higher or lower bands as they relate to the rating. When such exceptions apply, they will be identified in the Company Disclosures table in the relevant research piece.

This document is a general communication and is educational in nature; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. The recipient should carefully read this document in its entirety and not draw inferences or conclusions from the rating alone. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, structured derivative products and futures (including OTC derivatives) are not suitable for all investors. Trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "The Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options." You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/publications/risks/riskchap1.jsp or ask your salesperson for a copy. Various theoretical explanations of the risks associated with these instruments have been published. Supporting documentation for any claims, comparisons, recommendations, statistics or other technical data will be supplied upon request. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchases and sales of options, such as spreads and straddles. Because of the importance of tax considerations to many options transactions, the investor considering options should consult with his/her tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of contemplated options transactions.

Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. UBS does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. For further information on the ways in which UBS Global Research manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations, please visit https://www.ubs.com/disclosures.

UBS Global Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of UBS Global Research Management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. All material information in relation to published research reports, such as valuation methodology, risk statements, underlying assumptions (including sensitivity analysis of those assumptions), ratings history etc. as required by the Market Abuse Regulation, can be found on UBS Neo. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

UBS Global Research may utilise artificial intelligence tools ("AI Tools") in the preparation of this document. Notwithstanding any such use of AI Tools, this document has undergone human review.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by UBS Global Research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms under English law or, if not carried out by UBS in the UK the law of the relevant jurisdiction in which UBS determines it carries out the activity) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Within the past 12 months UBS may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Please note that all transactions conducted by UBS are consistent with sanctions regulations imposed by Switzerland, the European Union, the United Nations, the United Kingdom and the United States, per UBS' global sanctions policy. UBS opinion as to future investment worthiness assumes no new sanctions are imposed.

US persons are prohibited from purchasing or selling securities of certain companies designated as being associated with the Chinese Military in accordance with the amended US Presidential Executive Order 13959.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

Within the past 12 months UBS Switzerland AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Time to revisit semiconductor testing as content growth accelerates

Our core thesis is that AI-driven chip complexity is drastically increasing testing content across wafer, package, and system levels, creating a multi-year growth opportunity that the market has yet to fully price in. Testing companies in Taiwan have underperformed TAIEX in the past three months (indexing at -9% vs TAIEX +7%), yet to recover from the July market deleveraging. Investor hesitation currently stems from 1) fear of test content growth expectations already priced-in, 2) lingering concerns over shorter test times, and 3) near-term capacity constraints among major suppliers of probe cards, load boards, socket pins, testers, and handlers, caused by heightened testing demand. Ultimately, these concerns overshadow the structural increase in test insertions required by AI accelerators, chiplets, and advanced packaging. As advanced packaging scales, testing intensity must rise in tandem, driving growth through higher content per device rather than semiconductor unit growth alone.

Expanding testing opportunities with shift-left for CP and increasing FT content

Chip probing (CP) supply chain should be the key beneficiary of the industry's shift-left testing trend, as more test insertions move to the wafer level before packaging, in addition to longer CP time. We believe investors underestimate this trend, which should accelerate with broader adoption of 2.5D/3D packaging, chiplets and larger AI packages, driving demand for high pin count probe cards, probers, and thermal-control equipment. We expect strong growth for Hermes Testing (HTSI) as thermal-management requirements rise with increasing chip power and complexity, with prober thermal-control module shipments reaching 3,000/4,100 units in 2027E/28E, up from 1,200 in 2026E. We forecast Chunghwa Precision Test (CHPT)'s sales to exceed consensus by 7%/15% in 2027E/28E, supported by structural AI/HPC testing demand and rising value-added content. Importantly, shift-left testing does not diminish the role of final test (FT) and mission-mode testing. Test content and test time should continue to increase as validation becomes increasingly critical for complex, large-form-factor AI accelerators. We expect larger package sizes and rising system-level testing requirements to drive demand for WinWay's high-pin-count sockets, supporting 74%/71% YoY sales growth in 2027E/28E.

Future of testing: co-packaged optics (CPO) will be a major opportunity

CPO testing represents a significant new market opportunity, though we expect the ecosystem to remain fragmented rather than consolidating around a single winner. As AI scaling shifts the industry bottleneck from memory to interconnect, CPO adoption is becoming increasingly important, creating new testing challenges that will require collaboration across equipment, optics, and test solution providers. Leveraging ficonTEC's optical alignment expertise and HTSI's probe, testing, and manufacturing capabilities, we estimate the HTSI will deliver 40 units of insertion 2 equipment and 70 units of insertion 3 testing equipment in 2027, with further upside in 2028 as CPO deployment expands from scale-out towards scale-up.

Initiate Hermes Testing, Chunghwa Precision Test, WinWay with Buy ratings

We initiate coverage on semiconductor testing solution provider Hermes Testing with a Buy rating, NT$8,880 price target based on 31x 2028E PE, for thermal control/CPO with the most attractive risk/reward in our testing coverage; test interface PCB supplier CHPT with a Buy rating, NT$5,000 price target based on 31x avg 2027-28E PE, for CPU/TPU programs and test board content gain; and semiconductor test socket leader WinWay with a Buy rating, NT$8,900 price target based on 30x avg 2027-28E PE, for socket content growth and margin recovery. Among our testing coverage, we also like Hon Precision and Chroma ATE.

PIVOTAL QUESTIONS

Q: Is chip probing becoming increasingly important in the testing supply chain?

Yes. As package costs rise, foundries must improve known-good-die (KGD) screening before packaging, increasing demand for wafer-level testing. This should drive demand for probe cards, probers and advanced thermal control solutions capable of managing higher power consumption, wafer warpage and tighter test tolerances. We forecast HTSI/CHPT/WinWay' probe card business to see a 31%/35%/33% sales CAGR for 2026-2031E, as they are positioned to grow strongly given their smaller scale and robust growth drivers from shift left, CPU, AI accelerators. We forecast HTSI to ship 1,200/3,000/4,100 thermal control modules in 2026E/27E/28E, as advanced wafer-level test for AI accelerators will require thermal control solutions in order to prevent probe card needle burnt.

Q: Will FT and SLT content continue to grow in the coming years?

Yes. Despite concerns that final-test (FT) time could flatten or decline with Nvidia's Rubin GPUs, we expect overall FT content to continue growing as advanced packaging complexity and chip sizes increase. We also expect broader adoption of system-level testing (SLT)/mission-mode testing, as AI accelerators require increasingly stringent validation to ensure optimal system and rack-level performance. We forecast WinWay's socket business to see a 33% sales CAGR for 2026-2031E.

Q: Will CPO testing be a revenue generator in 2027-28 to supply chain players?

Yes. Testing remains a key bottleneck, creating a new equipment opportunity beginning in 2027E. We expect initial CPO volumes in 2027, followed by broader adoption in 2028. Testing remains one of the key bottlenecks to commercialization, driving demand for new equipment and test solutions. We believe early leaders such as ficonTEC (partnership with HTSI) are well positioned to benefit from the initial ramp, alongside suppliers including Chroma ATE and Hon Precision.

WHAT´S PRICED IN?

1) We believe upside from agentic AI CPU demand is not reflected in CHPT and WinWay shares. We estimate CPU-related demand could contribute 20-30% of 2027E sales for CHPT and WinWay, respectively, with further upside in 2028E. 2) We believe market expectations for 2027 CPO testing equipment shipments remain conservative, particularly for insertion 2 equipment. Based on our industry analysis, we estimate HTSI will deliver 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, this should be higher than the market's expectation of no insertion 2 and limited insertion 3 shipment due to engineering bottleneck. We also see further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands.

UBSVIEW

Testing is becoming one of the largest incremental beneficiaries of AI-driven semiconductor complexity. As more test insertions are required across wafer, package and system levels, testing content per device should increase materially, expanding the industry's addressable market and supporting multi-year growth across the supply chain.

EVIDENCE

TSMC and OSATs have been expanding their CoWoS capacities aggressively, from 40kwpm in 2024 to around 90 kwpm in 2025, and tracking to expand CoWoS capacity toward 160kwpm in 2026E. TSMC also ramped up expanding N3/N2 capacity, with multiple product launches from customers' pipelines—Nvidia's Rubin, AMD's MI400 series/Venice CPU and other cloud ASICs—translating into foreseeable, strong testing demand.

Executive Summary

Company	Value Chain Positioning	Primary Product Focus	Investment Thesis	Price Target	Upside
Hermes Testing Solutions (HTSI)	Wafer-level Test	Semiconductor testing related installation and services, customized equipment (e.g. thermal control modules for probers), engineering services (CPO test equipment), probe cards.	A key semiconductor testing solution provider and a shift-left beneficiary, with thermal management capabilities that positions the company in the center of AI/HPC chip probing. Uniquely positioned with CPO exposure through its engineering expertise and partnership with ficonTEC.	NT$8,880
Chunghwa Precision Test (CHPT)	Wafer-level Test, Final Test, System-level Test, Burn-in Test	Semiconductor test PCB, final test load board (interface board), probe cards, burn-in board.	A key semiconductor test PCB maker with unique vertical integration capabilities for fast product cadence to enable design-wins. Probe card business is benefiting from the shift-left trend, driving robust growth with design-wins from projects such as CPU and AI ASICs.	NT$5,000
WinWay Technology	Wafer-level Test, Final Test, System-level Test, Burn-in Test	Final test sockets, system-level test sockets, probe cards.	Leading semiconductor test socket provider, beneficiary of final test and mission-level test content expansion with advanced packaging and chiplet proliferation. With its partnership with Technoprobe, WinWay's probe card strength is adding another leg of growth.	NT$8,900

Shift-left igniting secular growth for chip probing

With the industry increasingly adopting shift-left testing, chip probing (CP) and its supply chain should be key beneficiaries of a multi-year structural growth trend. This underpins our above-consensus forecasts for Chunghwa Precision Test (CHPT), with 2027E/28E sales 7%/15% above consensus driven by stronger AI/HPC demand, capacity expansion, and rising value-added content. WinWay should also benefit through its partnership with Technoprobe, with probe card revenue growth remaining robust at 94%/72% in 2026E/27E following 161%/260% growth in 2024/25.

Hermes Testing (HTSI) should be another major beneficiary as increasing chip power and complexity drive demand for advanced thermal-management modules used alongside high-end probing systems. With TEL's leading AI-oriented probers typically paired with advanced thermal-control solutions, we expect HTSI's thermal-module shipments to reach 3,000 units in 2027E from 1,200 in 2026E. Combined with testing, installation and service revenue, this should drive HTSI sales growth of 127%/152% in 2026E/27E.

Accelerators still in focus with TPU as another significant growth driver

Nvidia remains a key growth driver for both CHPT and WinWay. We expect both companies to gain share with Rubin, with WinWay's socket share improving from roughly 50% historically to 60% with Rubin, while CHPT is positioned to supply around 70% of probe card and final test PCB content. Nvidia currently accounts for roughly 50% of WinWay's revenue and 30% of CHPT's.

Beyond Nvidia, we view Google's TPU roadmap as a meaningful incremental opportunity. Following the successful ramp of TPU v8t with MediaTek as design partner, CHPT is positioned to supply probe card PCBs, final test load boards, system-level test boards and burn-in boards. WinWay will supply sockets for both TPU v8t and v9, with the larger v9 package providing another growth leg. We estimate production of 4mn TPU v8t units in 2027E and 2.3mn TPU v9 packages (9.2mn dies) alongside 2m v8t units in 2028E.

CPU business as a supplemental catalyst for test interface in an agentic world

With agentic AI proliferation, CPU demand is increasing significantly and this directly correlates to increasing demand for testing consumables. WinWay and CHPT should both benefit from the strong ramp up of Nvidia's ARM based Vera CPU and Google's ARM based Axion CPU in 2026E and 2027E. WinWay will be supplying sockets and probe cards for Vera and Axion, and CHPT will be the probe card and PCB supplier for both Vera and Axion. WinWay will have the additional upside from AMD's x86 Venice CPU, and CHPT could capture some share through AMD's equipment vendor procurement. We estimate CHPT's CPU related sales to be low to mid-teens % of total sales in 2026E and growing to 20-30% in 2027E with CHPT's share expansions with turnkey probe card solutions for Google's Axion. For WinWay, we believe CPU should account for around 30% of sales in 2026E/27E.

CPO testing fuelling future growth for semiconductor testing

ficonTEC's 25 years of precision optical-test expertise makes it an early leader in CPO test equipment, particularly in optical alignment, a critical capability for high-volume manufacturing. Through its partnership with ficonTEC, HTSI is well positioned to benefit from the initial CPO ramp in 2027E-28E by supporting manufacturing scale-up.

We expect both insertion 2 and insertion 3 testing to be required over the next two years. Despite the technical challenges of double-sided wafer probing, insertion 2 testing remains important given current optical-engine yields and the need to identify known-good optical engines before fibre-array-unit (FAU) coupling. This becomes increasingly critical as switch designs integrate larger numbers of optical engines.

We estimate HTSI will ship 40 insertion 2 and 70 insertion 3 systems in 2027E, with further upside in 2028E as CPO adoption expands and next-generation platforms move into volume production.

Testing TAM expanding with IC complexity: leaders likely to outperform industry growth

Our central view is that testing content per AI accelerator is growing faster than semiconductor unit volumes, creating a multi-year expansion in testing TAM. We believe semiconductor testing is entering a period of structural growth as AI-driven chip complexity increases testing intensity across wafer, package and system levels. The industry's shift-left strategy, which moves more testing upstream in the semiconductor manufacturing process, is resulting in longer and more frequent test insertions. As cloud AI GPUs and ASICs become increasingly complex, additional testing is required to ensure functionality, performance and yield, while reducing defective parts per million (DPPM). More robust testing should improve deployment efficiency and lower the cost of operating AI infrastructure.

Semiconductor testing generally comprises four stages: wafer/chip probing (CP), final test (FT), system-level test (SLT), and burn-in. CP is conducted at the wafer-level before packaging, while FT, SLT, and burn-in occur after packaging. The below Figure 3 illustrates the semiconductor manufacturing flow.

Source: UBS

We estimate semiconductor testing historically accounts for ~1% of total semiconductor revenue. Within testing, consumables such as probe cards, sockets and interface boards represent ~10-15% of industry revenue. According to Yole, the probe card, socket and interface board markets should grow from US$3.8bn, US$2.3bn and US$1.7bn in 2026 to US$5.5bn, US$3.1bn and US$2.0bn by 2031, respectively.

Figure 4: Yole estimating testing consumables TAM to climb in the next 5 years

Nonetheless, leaders within the testing sector are likely to stand out among competition with greater sales CAGR comparing to the industry. Below we highlight Hermes Testing (HTSI), Chunghwa Precision Test (CHPT), and WinWay's impressive growth drivers and how this compares with broader industry sales CAGR.

We see HTSI's sales for the next few years to mainly be driven by 1) thermal control module shipment and 2) CPO equipment shipment. In the past, thermal control modules weren't necessary for chip probing, due to less TDP for the chips. However, as new iterations of AI accelerators now have substantial power draw, this unlocks a brand new TAM for HTSI to enter with their thermal control modules to pair with probers, in order to prevent probe card damage.

- Robust thermal control module shipments. We estimate HTSI to ship 3,000/4,100 thermal control modules in 2027E/28E, with continuous demand in future years, bringing their 2026-31E semiconductor equipment sales CAGR to 48%.
- Thermal control module ASP expansion. Gen 2 thermal control modules should start to ship in 2027E which will drive tool ASP up around 25-50%.
- Demand supported by Advantest expansions. We believe the 3,000 thermal control modules shipment forecast for 2027E is not far-fetched, as we read-across from Advantest's announced capacity expansion plan (testers will be paired with probers with a 1:1 ratio) with increasing capacity up to 5,000 testers within FY2027/3 and they also announced a 10,000-unit target within CY2028. Although the testers capacity expansion plan includes testers for final test, we do see a good portion to be allocated to chip probing given the shift-left testing trend increasing both testing insertions and testing time before chip packaging.
- CPO is another brand new TAM for semiconductor testing. As insertion 2 and 3 testing equipment demand starts to rise in 2027E with scale-out CPO adoption, we expect HTSI to ship 40/70 insertion 2 and 3 equipment in 2027E, with this number growing in 2028E to 80/160 and higher in future years as CPO proliferates, and driving 52% 2026-31E test equipment & engineering services sales CAGR.
- CPO to see content increase. Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment may start to ship in 2027E, with higher throughput and tool ASP.
- Insertion 2 might scale down, but not likely any time soon. Insertion 2 equipment shipment might come down in 2029E and beyond, as foundries scale-up yield for photonic IC (PIC) in order to lessen the time consuming insertion 2 testing burden.

Uniquely positioned as a company with vertical integration capabilities with MEMS probes, multi-layer PCB capabilities, and automation equipment all-in-house, CHPT is set to capture the growing test shift-left trend in the coming years, increasing both testing insertions and testing time before chip packaging.

- CP to scale from a lower base. As a smaller probe card vendor, CHPT can benefit from the growing demand for AI probe cards, with 2026-31E sales CAGR for turnkey probe card robust at 41%.
- Also a FT/SLT/burn-in beneficiary. The company will also see final test, system-level test, burn-in content increase to play a role in their sales growth from their IC Test Board sales CAGR of 39% in 2026-31E.
- Capacity expansion supporting growth. As CHPT is currently capacity constrained, the robust projected sales growth is enabled by CHPT's rapid capacity expansion strategy with strong demand for its products, with one production expansion scheduled for August 2026 and a second in March 2027, doubling and tripling year-end 2025 capacity, respectively. Its Fab 3 will come online in Q428, doubling existing capacity when fully ramped.
- MEMS capability to support share gain. CHPT has MEMS probe capabilities stemming from its history as a smartphone application processor (AP) probe card supplier. It is in a good position to capture the growing demand for MEMS probe cards as AI/HPC are shifting to MEMS probes.
- Probe card content expect to rise. We also expect probe card content per device to continue rising as AI accelerators grow in die size, pin count, power consumption and packaging complexity. This should drive secular growth for both probe card suppliers and upstream component providers, making chip probing one of the most attractive areas within the semiconductor testing value chain.

As the leader in AI/HPC sockets, WinWay is set to deliver 2026-31E socket sales CAGR of 33%, underpinned by robust demand for final test and system-level test; with test content and test times rising which each iteration of new AI accelerators/CPU, more sockets and equipment will be needed in order to increase the throughput.

- Strong accelerator/CPU roadmap to support growth. Robust testing demand can also be inferred from AI accelerator/CPU roadmaps of Nvidia, AMD, Google, alongside tester capacity expansions by Advantest.
- Capacity expansion underpinning future strength. WinWay's socket pin capacity expansion will support this exceptional sales growth. from 3.5mn pins per month at year-end 2025 to 6mn currently, reaching 9mn by year-end 2026 and 14mn by year-end 2027 through expansions in Renwu, Kaohsiung. By 2027, approximately 60% of pogo-pin requirements should be internally sourced, strengthening both supply security and margins.
- Probe card business to rise from smaller base. Its probe card business is also set to benefit from the shift-left trend for high-end AI/HPC probe cards. WinWay leverages its existing customers' demand in addition to their MEMS partnership with Technoprobe, as we forecast WinWay's probe card sales to rise from a low base, with a 33% 2026-31E sales CAGR.

The AI era has materially increased the value of semiconductor testing. Compared with traditional mobile and automotive chips, AI accelerators incorporate larger compute dies, more advanced nodes, chiplet architectures, advanced packaging technologies, multiple I/O dies, and increasing HBM content. These factors drive higher-value test consumables, including advanced MEMS probe cards, multilayer interface boards, and next-generation sockets designed to support higher pin counts, thermal loading, and power delivery requirements.

New iterations of semiconductors, especially for AI / HPC applications, are set to increase in both front-end wafer fabrication advancements and back-end packaging complexities with each iterations (i.e. Nvidia's roadmap from Blackwell to Rubin to Feynman or Google's TPU roadmap from v7 to v8 to v9). This trend is evident with TSMC's front-end and TSMC, Intel, and OSAT's back-end advanced packaging capacity expansions. For front-end, we see industry N3 capacity expanding from 156kwpm in year end 2025 to 224/283/293kpwm in year end 2026E/27E/28E, and N2 capacity from 47kwpm in year-end 2025 to 111/200/312kpwm in year end 2026E/27E/28E. For back-end, we are seeing industry CoWoS capacity rising from 90kwpm in 2025 to 160kwpm in 2026E and further expanding to 270kwpm in 2027E.

Final-test, system-level test, and burn-in content should continue to increase as AI accelerators become larger, more power-hungry and more complex. Rising thermal design power and packaging complexity increase validation requirements, driving longer test times and higher demand for test equipment to prevent testing from becoming a production bottleneck.

Source: UBS estimates

While architectural changes can affect test requirements for individual product generations, we expect the long-term trend of rising testing content to remain intact. For example, Nvidia's Rubin Ultra adopts a simpler package structure than previously expected, from a 4-die structure to a 2-die structure and Rubin Ultra HBM de-spec from HBM4E 12-Hi to initially use HBM4 8-Hi and upgrade to HBM4E 8-Hi at the latter stages, which may moderate near-term test growth. However, future products such as Nvidia's Feynman are expected to reintroduce greater package complexity, with a four-GPU per package structure. More importantly, any reduction in test time can be offset by higher production volumes, making throughput requirements equally important for testing demand.

A rising test trend that lifts all test interface vendors

Below we summarize key technical items of probe cards, sockets, and load boards/PCB used for semiconductor testing:

Probe cards and chip probing (CP)

Probe cards are used during chip probing (CP), the wafer-level stage of semiconductor testing that identifies known-good dies (KGD) before packaging. As advanced packaging technologies such as CoWoS, 3D stacking and hybrid bonding become more prevalent, CP is becoming increasingly important because a single defective die or HBM stack can compromise the entire package. This is driving the industry's shift-left testing strategy, with more testing conducted earlier in the manufacturing process to identify defects before costly packaging steps.

Probe cards consist of contact elements (probes) mounted on a PCB and are used together with probers and automated test equipment (ATE). During testing, wafers are placed on the prober chuck while the probe card makes electrical contact with individual dies. The tester then performs electrical, parametric, and functional tests to determine whether each die meets performance requirements. Dies that fail testing are removed from the production flow prior to dicing and packaging.

Furthermore, probe cards are highly customised products designed for specific chip architectures and testing platforms. As AI accelerators adopt larger dies, higher pin counts and more advanced packaging technologies, probe card complexity and content value continue to increase.

The global probe card market remains concentrated among a handful of suppliers:

- FormFactor (FORM.O): World's largest probe card company (including both logic and memory probe cards) by revenue as of year end 2025. Key supplier for HBM probe cards.
- Technoprobe (TPRO.MI): World's largest logic probe card company by revenue as of year end 2025. Key supplier for AI accelerators MEMS probe cards, especially for GPU.
- MJC (6871.T): Japanese company, mainly specializing in memory probe cards, 3rd largest probe card company by revenue as of year end 2025.
- MPI (6223.TWO): Traditionally specializes in cantilever probe cards, now expanding its MEMS probe capacity. 4th largest probe card company by revenue as of year end 2025. A probe card supplier of AI ASICs.
- JEM (6855.T): Mainly specialize in memory probe cards, 5th largest probe card company by revenue as of year end 2025.
- WinWay (6515.TWO): One of the fastest-growing logic probe card suppliers. Following its collaboration with Technoprobe, WinWay rose from the 15th-largest probe card supplier in 2024 to the fifth-largest logic probe card supplier in 2025. Probe card revenue increased from 11% of sales in 2024 to 29% in 2025.
- Chunghwa Precision Test Tech (6510.TW): A key supplier for smartphone application processor (AP) probe cards, and has been migrating to HPC related applications in recent years. Although its share within the probe card market is minor, it is a major supplier for probe card PCB, especially for high end probe cards with advanced PCB that has high layer counts (>40 layers, and over 80 layers for AI applications). Its key competitive advantage is its vertical integration as it manufacturers the MEMS probe and PCB in-house.

Probe cards generally employ either vertical or cantilever architectures. Vertical probe cards use probes arranged perpendicular to the substrate, enabling higher pin density and finer pitch capability. They have become the standard for AI, HPC and other advanced semiconductor applications. Cantilever probe cards use angled probes extending from the PCB and are typically used in analog, driver IC and selected memory applications where pin-count and pitch requirements are less demanding. The latest generation of AI accelerators increasingly relies on MEMS (Micro-Electro-Mechanical Systems) based vertical probe cards, which support ultra-fine pitches, higher pin counts and improved probing precision. Technoprobe currently leads this segment with pitch capability reaching approximately 40 micrometres.

For leading-edge AI applications, probe cards must increasingly support:

1. Higher current-carrying capability (CCC).
2. Stable contact resistance.
3. Lower parasitic inductance for signal integrity.
4. Greater durability under varying thermal conditions.

For CHPT, with their MEMS probe capabilities stemming from their smartphone application processor probe card supply, they are in a good position to capture the growing demand for MEMS probe cards as AI/HPC are shifting to MEMS probes. We also expect probe card content per device to continue rising as AI accelerators grow in die size, pin count, power consumption and packaging complexity. This should drive secular growth for both probe card suppliers and upstream component providers, making chip probing one of the most attractive areas within the semiconductor testing value chain.

Sockets

Semiconductor test sockets are electro-mechanical interfaces that are used post chip probing and chip packaging process to test the functionality of the chips. Sockets are placed on to load boards on top of testers during the final test/system level test processes. Handlers place the chips onto the sockets, and pins inside the sockets enable the testers to read the signals from the device under test (DUT, i.e. the packaged chips), with tester signals fanning out from beneath the PCB load board.

Source: UBS

As AI accelerators become larger and more complex, socket requirements continue to increase. High-end sockets typically comprise a socket housing, alignment plate, integrated thermal-control components and contact elements that connect the DUT to the tester. Spring probes (pogo pins) are the most common choice for HPC sockets, with high durability, individual probe replacement flexibility, and consistent contact force. FT and SLT sockets account for more than 70% of the total socket market, with burn-in sockets representing the remainder.

Compared with the probe card market, the socket industry is more fragmented. Key suppliers include:

- WinWay (6515.TW): A major share gainer in AI/HPC sockets, with strong exposure to Nvidia and AMD. The company specializes in high-performance coaxial sockets and is developing its next-generation HyperSocket platform. It is also expanding into probe cards through its partnership with Technoprobe.
- Leeno (058470.KQ): Vertically integrated supplier focused on smartphone AP and memory sockets.
- ISC (095340.KQ): Leading memory socket supplier with elastomer expertise.
- Smiths Interconnect (Acquired by Molex): A key player in AI/HPC socket industry, with its DaVinci coaxial sockets able to support high frequency connectivity testing.
- Yamaichi (6941.T): Leading Japanese socket supplier with strong automotive exposure.
- Yokowo (6800.T): Major provider of contact probes and socket pins.
- Cohu (COHU.O): Broad test-solutions provider spanning ATE, handlers and sockets, with greater auto/industrial/consumer exposure.

Source: Company data, UBS. Note: Most socket suppliers are companies with multiple business segments, i.e. Yokowo and Cohu.

AI accelerators are pushing socket requirements beyond 10,000 pins, making coaxial sockets the industry standard for leading-edge AI/HPC devices. These sockets must support transmission speeds of up to 224G while handling significantly higher thermal design power (TDP) during testing.

Elastomer technology is increasingly being adopted alongside spring-probe (pogo-pin) architectures to reduce chip damage and improve contact reliability. WinWay's next-generation HyperSocket integrates elastomer materials between the DUT and spring probes, improving probe lifetime, reducing cleaning requirements and enhancing production efficiency. We believe HyperSocket could become an important differentiator as next-generation AI accelerators demand higher pin counts, bandwidth and thermal performance. We estimate HyperSocket could contribute approximately 5% of WinWay's revenue in 2027E while carrying a 20-30% ASP premium versus conventional coaxial sockets.

The transition toward larger AI packages, higher pin counts and faster data-transfer speeds should continue to increase socket content per device. We expect this trend to support long-term growth in the socket market, with technology leaders such as WinWay well positioned to gain share through next-generation solutions including HyperSocket.

Load Board/Interface board

Load boards are specialised printed circuit boards (PCBs) that connect the tester to the device under test (DUT) during final test (FT) and system-level test (SLT). Acting as the electrical interface between the packaged chip and automated test equipment (ATE), load boards are responsible for power delivery and high-speed signal transmission throughout the testing process. As AI and HPC devices become increasingly complex, load board requirements continue to rise. Multilayer construction is crucial as modern load boards often require more than 50 layers for smartphone application processors and over 80 layers for leading-edge AI accelerators to support higher pin counts, dense signal routing and greater power delivery demands. At the same time, impedance control is an important factor as maintaining signal integrity is becoming increasingly important as interconnect bandwidth rises and high-speed SerDes blocks become more prevalent. These trends are driving greater technology content and value per load board.

We expect load board content to increase alongside AI chip complexity, larger package sizes and higher interface speeds, benefiting suppliers with advanced multilayer PCB capabilities such as CHPT.

The industry's adoption of shift-left testing should drive a multi-year structural growth opportunity for chip probing (CP) and its supply chain. As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, semiconductor manufacturers are placing greater emphasis on identifying known-good dies (KGD) before packaging. This underpins our above-consensus forecasts for Chunghwa Precision Test (CHPT), with 2027E/28E sales 7%/15% above consensus driven by structural AI/HPC probe card and test consumables demand, capacity expansion, and increasing test interface content as test insertions and test time increase. WinWay should also benefit through its growing probe card business alongside partner Technoprobe, with probe card sales expected to grow 94%/72% YoY in 2026E/27E following 161%/260% growth in 2024/25.

Source: UBS

The economics of advanced packaging reinforce this trend. Heterogeneous integration, chiplet architectures and 2.5D/3D packaging significantly increase package value, while defects identified late in the manufacturing process can lead to substantial scrap costs. To mitigate this risk, foundries and OSATs such as TSMC and ASE employ distributed testing flows incorporating KGD, known-good-stack (KGS) and assembly test screening, to catch defects before the components enter a multi-week packaging cycle (>2 weeks for CoW and 2 weeks for oS). The importance of these tests rises as AI clusters become increasingly dependent on component reliability and low defective-parts-per-million (DPPM) rates. Given the multiplicative yield degradation, a 300bps yield decline at just one manufacturing stage (e.g. dropping from 99.5% to 96.5%) reduces overall integrated four-stage yield from 98.0% to 95.0%; on a 500,000 unit ramp at US $10,000 per unit, this 3% scrap delta translates into around US$150m in unrecoverable losses given >6-month manufacturing lead times.

At the same time, rising chip power consumption is increasing the technical difficulty of wafer-level testing. As chip thermal design power scales beyond 1,000W and power density is expected to surge another 8x by 2030, traditional wafer-level chip probe (WLCP) encounters severe physical bottlenecks. Finer probe pitches and higher power densities increase the risk of overheating, probe needle burnout and yield degradation, creating demand for more advanced probing and thermal control solutions.

Source: UBS

Hermes Testing (HTSI) is a key beneficiary of this trend. Leveraging its long-standing relationship with TSMC and expertise in semiconductor test solutions, HTSI supplies advanced thermal control modules used alongside leading-edge probers (made by Tokyo Electron), particularly for AI applications. These thermal control modules are required for high TDP semiconductor wafer probe in order to maintain the temperature of the chuck to avoid needle burns or probe card damages. We estimate HTSI will ship approximately 3,000 thermal-management modules in 2027E, up from 1,200 in 2026E, supporting sales growth of 127%/152% in 2026E/27E. HTSI is also the partner for prober installation, prober maintenance and services. In addition, HTSI provides high-end chuck processing services, an area that should benefit from increasing package sizes and higher wafer warpage associated with advanced packaging.

Beyond thermal control modules, HTSI also supplies consumables and customised solutions for wafer-level testing, including probe card cleaning sheets and laser-based probe head cleaning systems. As probing intensity increases under the shift-left testing model, demand for cleaning and maintenance solutions should rise alongside probe card utilisation. Currently, cleaning sheets is around 5% of sales, but we believe it could gain traction in 2027/28E and beyond. We see additional upside from future modular laser cleaning systems that could be integrated directly with probers, further expanding HTSI's content opportunity within advanced wafer-level testing.

Rapid capacity expansions accelerating growth

Industry test interface suppliers are expanding capacity aggressively to meet rising AI and HPC demand. As advanced semiconductors require higher-performance probe cards, sockets and interface boards, capacity additions are becoming increasingly important to support growth across both wafer-level and package-level testing.

We believe CHPT and WinWay are well positioned to gain share within the high-end AI/HPC test interface market. Taiwanese suppliers benefit from their proximity to leading fabless customers and the growing preference for localised supply chains, particularly for advanced testing applications where responsiveness and engineering support are critical. Against a backdrop of tight industry supply, both companies have announced significant capacity expansion plans over the next two to three years.

CHPT: capacity expansion supporting AI/HPC share gains

CHPT's existing capacity is effectively fully utilised and the company is pursuing both near-term and long-term expansion. Near-term growth will come from leased facilities, with one production expansion scheduled for August 2026 and a second in March 2027, doubling and tripling year-end 2025 capacity, respectively. Longer term, CHPT's new Fab 3 facility in Pingzhen will significantly expand in-house PCB manufacturing and wet-processing capacity, with mass production expected around Q428, expected to double existing capacity when fully ramped.

Combined with increasing exposure to higher-value AI/HPC products, including turnkey CPU probe cards and TPU FT/SLT/burn-in boards, we expect CHPT to deliver revenue growth of 49%/75%/43% in 2026E/27E/28E.

WinWay: scaling for the next phase of AI demand

WinWay's capacity is expected to increase from 3.5mn pins per month at year-end 2025 to 6mn currently, reaching 9mn by year-end 2026 and 14mn by year-end 2027 through expansions in Renwu, Kaohsiung. By 2027, approximately 60% of pogo-pin requirements should be internally sourced, strengthening both supply security and margins.

We estimate these capacity additions will support revenue growth of 105%/73%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E.

Advanced packaging growth remains the key demand driver

Capacity expansion by test interface vendors is ultimately supported by continued investment throughout the advanced packaging ecosystem, from providers such as TSMC, ASE, Intel, and Amkor. During the Q226 earnings calls, TSMC raised its recent 2026 capex from US$52-56bn to US$60-64bn and ASE raised its 2026 capex from US $8.5bn to US$10.5bn, with both companies citing robust demand supporting the capex raise. We believe capex for the next two years will be even higher than 2026, implying continuous growth in future years. With advanced packaging technologies getting significantly more complex and with larger form factor, illustrated by the upcoming ramp of both TSMC's CoPoS (chip-on-panel-on-substrate) and Intel's EMIB-T (embedded multi-die interconnect bridge) packaging technologies, test interface solution providers will benefit with more value added consumables (see our CoPoS vs EMIB-T deep dive).

We expect test interface content growth to outpace unit growth. For instance, test socket's ASP directly correlates with its pin counts - with the addition of 20-30% more pins inside the sockets, socket ASP can grow 20-30% or more as the socket might require significant cooling capabilities as the TDP of the DUT rises with its larger form factor. Unlike prior semiconductor cycles, much of the current demand is driven by rising test interface content per device rather than unit growth alone.

Accelerators still in focus with TPU as another significant growth driver

Nvidia has been the primary driver of testing content growth over the past several years, benefiting the entire semiconductor testing supply chain. We expect this trend to continue as GPU architectures evolve from Blackwell to Rubin and then to Feynman, with increasing process node complexity, larger package sizes and more advanced packaging technologies driving higher testing value per device.

Nvidia should remain a major contributor to both CHPT and WinWay, with GPUs continuing to serve as their core growth engine. Both companies are positioned to gain share with Rubin. We estimate WinWay's socket share could improve from a 50/50 split with Smiths Interconnect in prior generations to 60/40 with Rubin, while CHPT is gaining share in test interface PCBs and is positioned to supply around 70% of Rubin probe card and final test PCB content. Nvidia currently accounts for approximately 50% of WinWay's sales and 30% of CHPT's sales. Both Nvidia GPUs and Google TPUs increase testing demand through higher content per device rather than unit growth alone.

Beyond Nvidia, Google's TPU roadmap represents a significant incremental growth opportunity. Following the successful ramp of TPU v8t with MediaTek as design partner, CHPT is positioned to supply probe card PCBs, final test load boards, system-level test boards and burn-in boards. For v9, although the final test interface vendors are yet to be decided, we believe as the current supplier, CHPT will still be supplying PCB for final test, system level test, and burn-in, with potential to continue to supply PCB for probe cards. WinWay should also benefit as the socket supplier for both TPU v8t and the next-generation TPU v9 platform. We believe MediaTek's increasing share gain for Google TPUs will also benefit the local Taiwanese test interface supply chain.

We view TPU v9 as a particularly attractive opportunity given its large four-die package architecture based on Intel's EMIB-T packaging technology, which should drive higher testing content. We estimate production of 4mn TPU v8t units in 2027E, followed by 2.3mn TPU v9 packages (9.2mn dies) and an additional 2mn TPU v8t units in 2028E. Importantly, while EMIB-T packaging is expected to be performed in Malaysia, we believe the majority of advanced testing value should remain within the Taiwanese testing ecosystem. Leading testing providers, including ASE and KYEC, maintain substantial testing operations across Taiwan and Southeast Asia, supporting continued participation by Taiwanese test interface suppliers. See our latest MediaTek report.

CPU business as a supplemental catalyst for test interface in an agentic world

We believe semiconductor test interfaces are an underappreciated beneficiary of the emerging agentic AI ecosystem. UBS estimates the CPU market will expand to US $170bn by 2030E from US$31bn in 2025 and US$71bn in 2027E, driven by rising deployment of AI infrastructure. As CPU-to-GPU ratios increasingly approach 1:1 in AI clusters, demand for testing interfaces should expand alongside CPU volumes. TSMC is the main CP test provider in the industry, with probe card suppliers aiding its massive demand by supplying probes, such as TSMC's GPU probe cards supported by Technoprobe's probes. However, with capacity now becoming scarce with strong front and back-end demand, TSMC is outsourcing its CP business to ASE and KYEC, further broadening the testing supply chain. This is where new probe card vendors come in—smaller probe card players in the past, such as WinWay and CHPT, now have the opportunity to gain significant, non-GPU share from TSMC, as they have MEMS probe capabilities (WinWay's MEMS probes are from its strategic partnership with Technoprobe) and has a long established relationship with the fabless companies such as Nvidia via supplying non-probe card consumables such as sockets and PCB. Of which, CPU projects have become the main area for CHPT and WinWay to expand their footprint.

We expect both companies to benefit from the ramp of Nvidia's ARM-based Vera CPU and Google's ARM-based Axion CPU in 2026E-27E. WinWay is positioned to supply sockets and probe cards for Vera and sockets for Axion, while CHPT should provide probe cards and test interface PCBs for both Vera and Axion, with particularly strong exposure to Axion. Additional upside could come from AMD's Venice CPU, where WinWay is well positioned and CHPT could gain indirect exposure through testing-equipment procurement channels. We estimate CPU-related revenue will represent low to mid-teens % of CHPT sales in 2026E, increasing to 20-30% in 2027E as the company expands its turnkey probe card solutions for Axion. For WinWay, CPU-related demand could account for approximately 30% of sales in 2026E-27E. Importantly, CPU programmes diversify exposure beyond AI GPUs and provide a second structural growth driver for test interface suppliers.

CPO testing fuelling future growth for semiconductor testing

As interconnect bottlenecks increasingly shift from the memory wall to the copper wall, we believe co-packaged optics (CPO) adoption is inevitable over the longer term. Testing remains one of the key bottlenecks to CPO deployment, as optical validation differs fundamentally from the electrical testing processes that have dominated semiconductor manufacturing for decades. As a result, CPO is creating a new testing opportunity across the semiconductor equipment and consumables ecosystem. We have written extensively on CPO and the opportunities that it brings to the semiconductor supply chain, see our CPO deep dive, our thoughts on CPO timing, 2026 SiPhIA conference takeaways, and SEMICON 2026 takeaways.

Various test equipment suppliers are scrambling to come up with ideal testing equipment across the four insertions of CPO testing, with solutions to ensure both optical and electrical signal integrity of the CPO solutions. The four insertions are:

- Insertion 1: Electronic IC (EIC)/Photonic IC (PIC) test. Single-side wafer test that has dedicated probe cards to test the fabricated EIC/PIC wafers.
- Insertion 2: Optical/Electrical test. Double sided wafer test, testing the hybrid bonded (e.g. via TSMC's COUPE) EIC and PIC wafers by an opto-electrical test that verifies the electrical signals on the top and optical signal on the bottom of the hybrid bonded wafers.
- Insertion 3: Optical engine (OE) test. The OE tests are done to ensure the quality of the OEs and with FAU (Fiber Array Unit) attached, to ensure the signal integrity of the OEs. The testing equipment needs to be able to handle 224G per channel data rates, requiring high unit per hour (UPH) throughput, meticulous dirt mitigation, and maintaining a near 100% contact rating on high-speed sockets.
- Insertion 4: ASIC final test. This final test step is established post the OEs are packaged together with the ASIC. The complete ASIC package (now with CPO) is now tested for opto-electrical functionalities.

As it stands, insertion 2 and insertion 3 are the two areas where there are the most debates in the industry. Insertion 3 suppliers such as Chroma have noted the trend of "shift-to-middle" paradigm centered on insertion 3. In high-density scale-out switches deploying up to 32 optical engines (e.g. Nvidia's Spectrum-X architectures), any OE defect results in package scrap at the CoWoS level, making 100% known-good die (KGD) validation at the singulated OE stage an absolute commercial requirement.

Source: UBS

As shown in the below figure, as there are no set standards for the testing equipment, throughput and stability are now the main targets and areas of competition for the major players in the field. Notable ones for each insertions are listed.

Source: UBS

With its 25 years of precision test equipment expertise, ficonTEC is an early mover for CPO test equipment and has key know-how for optical alignment, which is quintessential for optical test. Hermes Testing, through its partnership with ficonTEC, is set to be a major beneficiary once CPO proliferates in 2027E-28E. As the partner of ficonTEC, Hermes Testing is the key enabler that can help ficonTEC achieve HVM for its CPO testing equipment. As of now, our view is that both insertion 2 and insertion 3 should be required within the next two years, despite the difficulties surrounding double-sided wafer probing (insertion 2), as the yield for OEs is still not high enough to avoid defective dies. Finding out known-good OEs will be crucial before the FAU coupling process during the latter stages of CPO packaging, to prevent impeding the final package with multiple OEs attached to the switch ASIC (e.g. 32 OEs on Nvidia's Spectrum-X). We estimate Hermes Testing will ship 40/70 units of insertion 2/3 testing equipment in 2027E, with upside to these numbers as we view Hermes Testing will likely assist with the ramp up for Gen 2 insertion 3 equipment in 2027E. Gen 2 insertion equipment will come with better throughput and ASP.

Source: UBS estimates

Beyond insertions 2 and 3, HTSI is also positioned to participate in insertion 1 testing through customised prober solutions for photonic integrated circuit (PIC) testing. We believe these solutions could eventually be packaged as licensable intellectual property, creating an additional long-term growth opportunity as CPO adoption broadens. While near-term testing growth is driven by AI accelerators, CPO represents the next major expansion cycle for semiconductor testing. We believe HTSI is uniquely positioned to participate across multiple test insertions, providing exposure to a potentially significant source of incremental revenue beginning in 2027E.

Valuation comparison

We set up three peer groups for valuation comparison: probe card, sockets, and equipment vendors.

For probe card vendors, the peer group's average NTM PE post 2022 is around 30x, and the group is currently trading at around 39x NTM PE. We value CHPT using 31x average 2027-28E PE, in-line with its historical average of 31x and underpinned by a 31% 2027-31E earnings CAGR.

For equipment vendors, the peer group's average NTM PE post 2022 is around 35x, and the group is currently trading at around 41x NTM PE. We value HTSI using 31x average 2028E PE, underpinned by a 32% 2027-31E earnings CAGR. We use 2028 PE as our view is that 2028 is the year thermal control modules and CPO adoption grow from the initial ramping up stage to mass adoption stage. We believe that using handlers as a peer group is justifiable for a unique company like HTSI, with thermal control modules for chip probing sharing similar characteristics to active thermal control used for final test, in addition to Hon Precision and Chroma having exposure to CPO test equipment.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

Tech investing involves risk. It is difficult for the investment community, UBS included, to project the financial results of tech companies, as their operating models are highly volatile and unpredictable, and they compete in a highly dynamic marketplace. In addition to their low predictability, valuing tech stocks can be challenging because neither traditional nor non-traditional valuation measures have provided much insight into how tech stocks trade.

We value Chroma ATE using a PE methodology.
Downside risks include weaker-than-expected demand for high-performance computing dampening its semiconductor testing business and slower-than-expected recovery in EV investments into battery capacity installations.

We value Chunghwa Precision Test, Hermes Testing and WinWay based on PE methodology.
Risks: Faster- or slower-than-expected front-end/CoWoS capacity expansion could result in CHPT, HTSI and WinWay gaining/losing probe card/board orders from major foundries and OSATs. Potential risk of competition (from either local or foreign companies) achieving technological advancements could result in these companies losing market share from end customers, major foundries, and OSATs. Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth could lead to a ramp-up or a slowdown of product orders from customers, major foundries, and OSATs to CHPT, HTSI and WinWay, affecting long-term revenue growth potential. A potential slowdown or delay of the rollout for technological advancements for technologies such as SoIC, CoPoS, and even CPO, would limit future growth potential. Rising raw material costs may directly impact their margins for equipment shipments.

We value Hon Precision based on PE multiple.
Faster- or slower-than-expected CoWoS capacity expansion could indirectly result in Hon Precision gaining or losing equipment orders from major customers; the risk of competition from either local or foreign companies achieving technological advancements could result in Hon Precision losing market share from its major customers; better- or worse-than-expected AI growth could lead to a ramp-up or a slowdown of equipment orders from customers to Hon Precision, affecting long-term revenue growth potential; a potential slowdown or delay in the rollout of technological advancements for technologies, such as MCL and CPO, would limit future equipment orders; rising raw material costs may directly impact Hon Precision's margins for equipment shipments.

This document has been prepared by UBS Securities Pte. Ltd., Taipei Branch, an affiliate of UBS AG. UBS AG, its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates, including former Credit Suisse AG and its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates are referred to herein as "UBS".

For information on the ways in which UBS manages conflicts and maintains independence of its UBS Global Research product; historical performance information; certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations; and terms and conditions for certain third party data used in research report, please visit https://www.ubs.com/disclosures. Unless otherwise indicated, information and data in this report are based on company disclosures including but not limited to annual, interim, quarterly reports and other company announcements. The figures contained in performance charts refer to the past; past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. Additional information will be made available upon request. UBS Securities Co. Limited is licensed to conduct securities investment consultancy businesses by the China Securities Regulatory Commission. UBS acts or may act as principal in the debt securities (or in related derivatives) that may be the subject of this report. This recommendation was finalized on: 07 October 2026 08:25 AM GMT. UBS has designated certain UBS Global Research department members as Derivatives Research Analysts where those department members publish research principally on the analysis of the price or market for a derivative, and provide information reasonably sufficient upon which to base a decision to enter into a derivatives transaction. Where Derivatives Research Analysts co-author research reports with Equity Research Analysts or Economists, the Derivatives Research Analyst is responsible for the derivatives investment views, forecasts, and/or recommendations. Quantitative Research Review: UBS Global Research publishes a quantitative assessment of its analysts' responses to certain questions about the likelihood of an occurrence of a number of short term factors in a product known as the 'Quantitative Research Review'. Views contained in this assessment on a particular stock reflect only the views on those short term factors which are a different timeframe to the 12-month timeframe reflected in any equity rating set out in this note. For the latest responses, please see the Quantitative Research Review Addendum at the back of this report, where applicable. For previous responses please make reference to (i) previous UBS Global Research reports; and (ii) where no applicable research report was published that month, the Quantitative Research Review which can be found at https://neo.ubs.com/quantitative, or contact your UBS sales representative for access to the report or the Quantitative Research Team on ubs-quant-answers@ubs.com. A consolidated report which contains all responses is also available and again you should contact your UBS sales representative for details and pricing or the Quantitative Research team on the email above.

UBS Global Research: Global Equity Rating Definitions

12-Month Rating	Definition	Coverage[1]	IB Services[2]
Buy	FSR is > 6% above the MRA.	55%	24%
Neutral	FSR is between -6% and 6% of the MRA.	39%	20%
Sell	FSR is > 6% below the MRA.	6%	21%

Source: UBS. Rating allocations are as of 30 September 2026.
1:Percentage of companies under coverage globally within the 12-month rating category.
2:Percentage of companies within the 12-month rating category for which investment banking (IB) services were provided within the past 12 months.

KEY DEFINITIONS:Forecast Stock Return (FSR) is defined as expected percentage price appreciation plus gross dividend yield over the next 12 months. In some cases, this yield may be based on accrued dividends. Market Return Assumption (MRA) is defined as the one-year local market interest rate plus 5% (a proxy for, and not a forecast of, the equity risk premium). Under Review (UR) Stocks may be flagged as UR by the analyst, indicating that the stock's price target and/or rating are subject to possible change in the near term, usually in response to an event that may affect the investment case or valuation. Equity Price Targets have an investment horizon of 12 months.

EXCEPTIONS AND SPECIAL CASES:UK and European Investment Fund ratings and definitions are: Buy: Positive on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Neutral: Neutral on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Sell: Negative on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount. Core Banding Exceptions (CBE): Exceptions to the standard +/-6% bands may be granted by the Investment Review Consultation (IRC). Factors considered by the IRC include the stock's volatility and the credit spread of the respective company's debt. As a result, stocks deemed to be very high or low risk may be subject to higher or lower bands as they relate to the rating. When such exceptions apply, they will be identified in the Company Disclosures table in the relevant research piece.

This document is a general communication and is educational in nature; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. The recipient should carefully read this document in its entirety and not draw inferences or conclusions from the rating alone. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, structured derivative products and futures (including OTC derivatives) are not suitable for all investors. Trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "The Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options." You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/publications/risks/riskchap1.jsp or ask your salesperson for a copy. Various theoretical explanations of the risks associated with these instruments have been published. Supporting documentation for any claims, comparisons, recommendations, statistics or other technical data will be supplied upon request. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchases and sales of options, such as spreads and straddles. Because of the importance of tax considerations to many options transactions, the investor considering options should consult with his/her tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of contemplated options transactions.

Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

(ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or

(iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. UBS does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. For further information on the ways in which UBS Global Research manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations, please visit https://www.ubs.com/disclosures.

UBS Global Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of UBS Global Research Management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. All material information in relation to published research reports, such as valuation methodology, risk statements, underlying assumptions (including sensitivity analysis of those assumptions), ratings history etc. as required by the Market Abuse Regulation, can be found on UBS Neo. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

UBS Global Research may utilise artificial intelligence tools ("AI Tools") in the preparation of this document. Notwithstanding any such use of AI Tools, this document has undergone human review.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by UBS Global Research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms under English law or, if not carried out by UBS in the UK the law of the relevant jurisdiction in which UBS determines it carries out the activity) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Within the past 12 months UBS may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Please note that all transactions conducted by UBS are consistent with sanctions regulations imposed by Switzerland, the European Union, the United Nations, the United Kingdom and the United States, per UBS' global sanctions policy. UBS opinion as to future investment worthiness assumes no new sanctions are imposed.

US persons are prohibited from purchasing or selling securities of certain companies designated as being associated with the Chinese Military in accordance with the amended US Presidential Executive Order 13959.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

Within the past 12 months UBS Switzerland AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Solid growth ahead with robust capacity expansions

We initiate coverage of AI/HPC test socket leader WinWay with a Buy rating and NT $8,900 price target. WinWay's share price has corrected 43% from its April 2026 peak due to broader market de-rating and margin pressure associated with its Technoprobe partnership and capacity expansion. We believe the recent correction presents an opportunity to re-engage with WinWay's long-term growth trajectory, supported by three key drivers: 1) increasing content from AI GPUs, CPUs, and TPUs, 2) substantial capacity expansion, and 3) broader adoption of system-level testing (SLT). Together, these drivers should support revenue growth of 105%/74%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E. Importantly, WinWay's growth is increasingly being driven by higher socket content per device rather than semiconductor unit growth alone and the stock currently trades at 16x of our 2028E P/E vs historical average of 30x, potential to re-rate with GM recovery in the coming quarters. See our companion testing deep dive sector note.

Rising yields and utilisation to offset probe card dilution

Gross margin declined to 38.3% in Q226 from 45.3% in FY25, pressured by outsourced MEMS probes and expansion-related costs. While probe-card margins are unlikely to return to H125 levels of 48.9% given the Technoprobe partnership structure, we expect margin pressure to ease as utilization and yields improve, supporting GM recovery to 43.1% in 2027E and 44.7% in 2028E.

CPU and TPU as fundamental growth drivers

Beyond its core GPU socket franchise, WinWay is well positioned to benefit from the expansion of AI-oriented CPU and TPU platforms. We expect the company to supply sockets for AMD's Venice CPU, Nvidia's Vera CPU, and Google's TPU v8t and v9, and also Vera CPU probe cards, providing an additional growth engine beyond GPUs. WinWay is well positioned in this segment due to its historical collaboration with end customers and its proximity to the local Taiwanese test supply chain. We view AI CPUs and TPUs as an increasingly important contributor to test interface demand as compute architectures diversify in the agentic AI era, driving WinWay's socket and probe card sales growth of 132%/75%/69% and 94%/72%/78% in 2026E/27E/28E, respectively. We estimate CPU/TPU to contribute around 30%/20% of WinWay's 2027E sales.

Valuation: Initiate with a Buy rating, with price target of NT$8,900

We forecast EPS of NT$101.8 in 2026E, rising to NT$201.4/393.0 in 2027E/28E. Our NT $8,900 price target is based on 30x average 2027E-28E P/E, in line with the company's historical average. We believe this valuation is supported by WinWay's exposure to structural growth in AI/HPC testing, expanding socket content, and our long-term earnings CAGR estimate of 30%. We initiate with a Buy rating.

PIVOTAL QUESTIONS

Q: Will capacity constraints limit WinWay's growth in the next two to three years?
Near term, yes. Beyond 2026E, no. WinWay's current capacity remains constrained, but ongoing expansions should significantly increase output over the next two years. With new capacity coming online and the company shifting toward higher-value AI/HPC applications, including CPU probe cards, >10k-pin coaxial sockets and next-generation HyperSockets, we forecast revenue growth of 105%/74%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E, supported by capacity additions, rising AI/HPC content and expanding socket demand. We also expect operating leverage to improve as capacity scales and utilization increases, with OPM rising from 27.5% in 2026E to 32.1%/36.7% in 2027E/28E.

Q: Will WinWay's GM recover from Q226's 38.3%?
Yes. We view recent margin pressure as largely temporary. GM has been impacted by MEMS probe sourcing through Technoprobe and start-up costs associated with capacity expansion. Although margin dilution from probe card business is unlikely to unravel due to the MEMS partnership terms with Technoprobe, as new facilities ramp and yields improve, we expect profitability to recover gradually from the Q226 trough, with gross margin improving to 43.1% in 2027E and 44.7% in 2028E.

UBSVIEW

We initiate coverage of WinWay with a Buy rating and NT$8,900 price target. We believe the market is overly focused on near-term margin pressure and underappreciating WinWay's long-term growth outlook. Key drivers include 1) expanding content from AI GPUs, CPUs, and TPUs, 2) substantial capacity expansion, and 3) growing adoption of system-level testing (SLT). Together, these drivers should support revenue growth of 105%/74%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E.

EVIDENCE

TSMC and OSATs have been expanding their CoWoS capacities aggressively, from 40kwpm in 2024 to around 90 kwpm in 2025, and is tracking to expand CoWoS capacity toward 160kwpm in 2026E. TSMC also ramped up expanding N3/N2 capacity, with multiple product launches from customers' pipelines—Nvidia's Rubin, AMD's MI400 series/Venice CPU and other cloud ASICs—translating into foreseeable, strong testing demand as the majority are WinWay's customers. AI accelerator test times have increased meaningfully for new platforms. We expect continued front-end and advanced packaging investments to drive higher testing intensity and support long-term demand for advanced sockets and test interfaces.

WHAT´S PRICED IN?

WinWay's share price has corrected 43% from its April 2026 peak and currently trades at 16x of our 2028E P/E vs historical average of 30x. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 19% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 25%, alongside long-term GM level of 32% vs our estimate of 45%. We see scope for re-rating.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

WinWay was founded in 2001 in Kaoshiung, Taiwan. It is a semiconductor testing interface solutions provider, with final test socket as its main business segment. The company has high-end solutions for AI/HPC testing, providing final test/system-level test and burn-in test sockets and probe cards through its own made probes and partnership with Technoprobe.

Testing TAM expanding with IC complexity: leaders likely to outperform industry growth

Our central view is that testing content per AI accelerator is growing faster than semiconductor unit volumes, creating a multi-year expansion in testing TAM. We believe semiconductor testing is entering a period of structural growth as AI-driven chip complexity increases testing intensity across wafer, package and system levels. The industry's shift-left strategy, which moves more testing upstream in the semiconductor manufacturing process, is resulting in longer and more frequent test insertions. As cloud AI GPUs and ASICs become increasingly complex, additional testing is required to ensure functionality, performance and yield, while reducing defective parts per million (DPPM). More robust testing should improve deployment efficiency and lower the cost of operating AI infrastructure.

Semiconductor testing generally comprises four stages: wafer/chip probing (CP), final test (FT), system-level test (SLT), and burn-in. CP is conducted at the wafer-level before packaging, while FT, SLT, and burn-in occur after packaging. The below Figure 1 illustrates the semiconductor manufacturing flow.

Source: UBS

We estimate semiconductor testing historically accounts for ~1% of total semiconductor revenue. Within testing, consumables such as probe cards, sockets and interface boards represent ~10-15% of industry revenue. According to Yole, the probe card, socket and interface board markets should grow from US$3.8bn, US$2.3bn and US$1.7bn in 2026 to US$5.5bn, US$3.1bn and US$2.0bn by 2031, respectively.

Nonetheless, leaders within the testing sector will standout among competition, with greater sales CAGR comparing to the industry.

As the leader of AI/HPC sockets, WinWay is set to deliver 2026-31E socket sales CAGR of 33%, underpinned by robust demand for final test and system-level test, with test content and test times rising which each iteration of new AI accelerators/CPU, more sockets and equipment will be needed in order to increase the throughput.

- Strong accelerator/CPU roadmap to support growth. Robust testing demand can also be inferred from AI accelerator/CPU roadmaps of Nvidia, AMD, Google, alongside tester capacity expansions by Advantest.
- Capacity expansion underpinning future strength. WinWay's socket pin capacity expansion is expected by the company to support this exceptional sales growth from 3.5mn pins per month at year-end 2025 to 6mn currently, reaching 9mn by year-end 2026 and 14mn by year-end 2027 through expansions in Renwu, Kaohsiung. By 2027, approximately 60% of pogo-pin requirements should be internally sourced, strengthening both supply security and margins.

- Probe card business to rise from smaller base. Its probe card business is also set to benefit from the shift-left trend for high-end AI/HPC probe cards. WinWay leverages its existing customers' demand in addition to their MEMS partnership with Technoprobe, as we forecast WinWay's probe card sales to rise from a low base, with a 33% 2026-31E sales CAGR.

WinWay is expanding capacity rapidly to capture this growing TAM. Industry test interface suppliers are expanding capacity aggressively to meet rising AI and HPC demand. As advanced semiconductors require higher-performance probe cards, sockets and interface boards, capacity additions are becoming increasingly important to support growth across both wafer-level and package-level testing.

We believe WinWay is well positioned to gain share within the high-end AI/HPC test interface market. Taiwanese suppliers benefit from their proximity to leading fabless customers and the growing preference for localised supply chains, particularly for advanced testing applications where responsiveness and engineering support are critical. Against a backdrop of tight industry supply, WinWay announced significant capacity expansion plans over the next two to three years.

WinWay's capacity is expected by the company to increase from 3.5mn pins per month at year-end 2025 to 6mn currently, reaching 9mn by year-end 2026 and 14mn by year-end 2027 through expansions in Renwu, Kaohsiung. By 2027, approximately 60% of pogo-pin requirements should be internally sourced, strengthening both supply security and margins.

We estimate these capacity additions will support revenue growth of 105%/74%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E.

Source: Company data

For WinWay, this growth opportunity is substantial, as the capacity expansions for its socket pins will satisfy around 60% of its own pogo pin demand in 2027E, we estimate socket sales will likely contribute for around NT$163 of EPS in 2027E and to further expand to NT$307 in 2028E. This paves the way for substantial share gaining opportunity for WinWay for AI/HPC sockets as we believe there are advantages to have footprint within Taiwan, where there's already an established testing ecosystem with testing providers such as ASE/SPIL/KYEC, and handler providers such as Hon Precision, all positioned locally in Taiwan to provide around the clock service and support for AI/HPC customers.

We see industry capacity tightness to support socket pin ASP growth, as we forecast pin ASP to grow from US$2.0 in 2026E to US$2.5 in 2027E and US$3.0 in 2028E. We believe WinWay's capacity expansion creates a significant growth opportunity with a better margin profile. By 2027E, approximately 60% of pogo pin demand should be internally sourced, improving both supply security and profitability. We estimate sockets could contribute around NT$123 of EPS in 2027E, rising to NT$261 in 2028E. Combined with its expanding capacity, strong customer relationships and proximity to Taiwan's semiconductor testing ecosystem, including ASE/SPIL, KYEC and major handler suppliers, WinWay is well positioned to gain share in the AI/HPC socket market.

The AI era has materially increased the value of semiconductor testing. Compared with traditional mobile and automotive chips, AI accelerators incorporate larger compute dies, more advanced nodes, chiplet architectures, advanced packaging technologies, multiple I/O dies, and increasing HBM content. These factors drive higher-value test consumables, including advanced MEMS probe cards, multilayer interface boards, and next-generation sockets designed to support higher pin counts, thermal loading, and power delivery requirements.

Capacity expansion by test interface vendors is ultimately supported by continued investment throughout the advanced packaging ecosystem, from providers such as TSMC, ASE, Intel, and Amkor. During the Q226 earnings calls, TSMC raised its recent 2026 capex from US$52-56bn to US$60-64bn and ASE raised its 2026 capex from US $8.5bn to US$10.5bn, with both companies citing robust demand supporting capex raise, we believe capex for the next two years will be even higher than 2026, indicating continuous growth in future years. With advanced packaging technologies getting significantly more complex and with larger form factor, illustrated by the upcoming ramp of both TSMC's CoPoS (chip-on-panel-on-substrate) and Intel's EMIB-T (embedded multi-die interconnect bridge) packaging technologies, test interface solution providers will benefit with more value added consumables (see our CoPoS vs EMIB-T deep dive).

New iterations of semiconductors, especially for AI / HPC applications, are set to increase in both front-end wafer fabrication advancements and back-end packaging complexities with each iterations (i.e. Nvidia's roadmap from Blackwell to Rubin to Feynman or Google's TPU roadmap from v7 to v8 to v9). This trend is evident with TSMC's front-end and TSMC, Intel, and OSAT's back-end advanced packaging capacity expansions. For front-end, we see industry N3 capacity expanding from 156kwpm in year end 2025 to 224/283/293kpwm in year end 2026E/27E/28E, and N2 capacity from 47kwpm in year-end 2025 to 111/200/312kpwm in year end 2026E/27E/28E. For back-end, we are seeing industry CoWoS capacity to rise from 90kwpm in 2025 to 160kwpm in 2026E and further expand to 270kwpm in 2027E.

Source: UBS estimates

Final-test, system-level test, and burn-in content should continue to increase as AI accelerators become larger, more power-hungry and more complex. Rising thermal design power and packaging complexity increase validation requirements, driving longer test times and higher demand for test equipment to prevent testing from becoming a production bottleneck. This is where WinWay's sockets comes into play—as high-end chips with 2.5D/3D/3.5D packaging requires intricate FT sockets to handle the high thermal design power (TDP) and high data rates of up to 224G during the FT process for reliable test results.

Source: UBS estimates

While architectural changes can affect test requirements for individual product generations, we expect the long-term trend of rising testing content to remain intact. For example, Nvidia's Rubin Ultra adopts a simpler package structure than previously expected, from a 4-die structure to a 2-die structure and Rubin Ultra HBM de-spec from HBM4E 12-Hi to initially use HBM4 8-Hi and upgrade to HBM4E 8-Hi at the latter stages, which may moderate near-term test growth. However, future products such as Nvidia's Feynman are expected to reintroduce greater package complexity, with a four-GPU per package structure. More importantly, any reduction in test time can be offset by higher production volumes, making throughput requirements equally important for testing demand.

We expect test interface content growth to outpace unit growth, For instance, test socket's ASP directly correlates with its pin counts, with the addition of 20-30% more pins inside the sockets, socket ASP can grow 20-30% or more as the socket might require significant cooling capabilities as the TDP of the DUT rises with its larger form factor. Unlike prior semiconductor cycles, much of the current demand is driven by rising test interface content per device rather than unit growth alone.

Robust growth drivers across semiconductor testing

We believe WinWay is set to benefit from several semiconductor testing growth drivers and capture the AI induced, expanding testing TAM. We see three main growth drivers for WinWay: 1) AI accelerators (GPU + TPU), 2) agentic AI driven CPU demand, and 3) shift-left testing trend. Below we list the three main growth drivers in detail.

Accelerators still in focus with TPU as another significant growth driver

Nvidia has been the primary driver of testing content growth over the past several years, benefiting the entire semiconductor testing supply chain. We expect this trend to continue as GPU architectures evolve from Blackwell to Rubin and then to Feynman, with increasing process node complexity, larger package sizes and more advanced packaging technologies driving higher testing value per device.

We believe Nvidia should remain a major contributor to WinWay, with GPUs continuing to serve as their core growth engine. We estimate WinWay's socket share could improve from a roughly 50/50 split with Smiths Interconnect in prior generations to 60/40 with Rubin. Nvidia currently accounts for approximately 50% of WinWay's revenue. Both Nvidia GPUs and Google TPUs increase testing demand through higher content per device rather than unit growth alone.

Beyond Nvidia, Google's TPU roadmap represents a significant incremental growth opportunity. In our view, WinWay should benefit as the socket supplier for both TPU v8t and the next-generation TPU v9 platform. We believe MediaTek's increasing share gain for Google TPUs will also benefit the local Taiwanese test interface supply chain. We estimate TPU to contribute to around 20% of WinWay 2027E sales.

We view TPU v9 as a particularly attractive opportunity given its large four-die package architecture based on Intel's EMIB-T packaging technology, which should drive higher testing content. We estimate production of 4mn TPU v8t units in 2027E, followed by 2.3mn TPU v9 packages (9.2mn dies) and an additional 2mn TPU v8t units in 2028E. Importantly, while EMIB-T packaging is expected to be performed in Malaysia, we believe the majority of advanced testing value should remain within the Taiwanese testing ecosystem. Leading testing providers, including ASE and KYEC, maintain substantial testing operations across Taiwan and Southeast Asia, supporting continued participation by Taiwanese test interface suppliers. See our latest MediaTek report and EMIB-T deep dive.

CPU business as a supplemental catalyst for test interface companies in the agentic world

We believe semiconductor test interface are an underappreciated beneficiary of the emerging agentic AI ecosystem. UBS estimates the CPU market will expand to US $170bn by 2030E from US$31bn in 2025 and US$71bn in 2027E, driven by rising deployment of AI infrastructure. As CPU-to-GPU ratios increasingly approach 1:1 in AI clusters, demand for testing interfaces should expand alongside CPU volumes. TSMC is the main CP test provider in the industry, with probe card suppliers aiding its massive demand by supplying probes, such as TSMC's GPU probe cards supported by Technoprobe's probes. However, with capacity now becoming scarce with strong front and back-end demand, TSMC is outsourcing its CP business to ASE and KYEC, further broadening the testing supply chain. This is where new probe card vendors come in—smaller probe card players in the past, such as WinWay, now has the opportunity to gain significant, non-GPU share from TSMC, as they have MEMS probe capabilities (WinWay's MEMS probe are from its strategic partnership with Technoprobe) and has a long established relationship with the fabless companies such as Nvidia via supplying non-probe card consumables such as sockets. Of which, CPU projects has become the main area for WinWay to expand their footprint.

We expect WinWay to benefit from the ramp of Nvidia's ARM-based Vera CPU and Google's ARM-based Axion CPU in 2026E-27E. WinWay is positioned to supply sockets and probe cards for Vera and sockets for Axion. Additional upside could come from AMD's Venice CPU, where WinWay is well positioned. For WinWay, CPU-related demand could account for approximately 30% of sales in 2026E-27E. Importantly, CPU programmes diversify exposure beyond AI GPUs and provide a second structural growth driver for test interface suppliers.

The industry's adoption of shift-left testing should drive a multi-year structural growth opportunity for chip probing (CP) and its supply chain. As advanced packaging costs rise and AI accelerators become increasingly complex, semiconductor manufacturers are placing greater emphasis on identifying known-good dies (KGD) before packaging. The test shift-left trend will drive structural AI/HPC probe card and test consumables demand, with increasing test interface content as test insertions and test time increase. WinWay should also benefit through its partnership with Technoprobe, with probe card revenue growth remaining robust at 94%/72% in 2026E/27E following 161%/260% growth in 2024/25.

The economics of advanced packaging reinforce this trend. Heterogeneous integration, chiplet architectures and 2.5D/3D packaging significantly increase package value, while defects identified late in the manufacturing process can lead to substantial scrap costs. To mitigate this risk, foundries and OSATs such as TSMC and ASE employ distributed testing flows incorporating KGD, known-good-stack (KGS) and assembly test screening, to catch defects before the components enter a multi-week packaging cycle (>2 weeks for CoW and 2 weeks for oS). The importance of these tests rises as AI clusters become increasingly dependent on component reliability and low defective-parts-per-million (DPPM) rates. Given the multiplicative yield degradation, a 300bps yield decline at just one manufacturing stage (e.g. dropping from 99.5% to 96.5%) reduces overall integrated four-stage yield from 98.0% to 95.0%; on a 500,000 unit ramp at US $10,000 per unit, this 3% scrap delta translates into around US$150m in unrecoverable losses given >6-month manufacturing lead times.

At the same time, rising chip power consumption is increasing the technical difficulty of wafer-level testing. As chip thermal design power scales beyond 1,000W and power density is expected by the industry to surge another 8x by 2030, traditional wafer-level chip probe (WLCP) encounters severe physical bottlenecks. Finer probe pitches and higher power densities increase the risk of overheating, probe needle burnout and yield degradation, creating demand for more advanced probing and thermal-control solutions.

WinWay was founded in 2001 in Kaohsiung, Taiwan, and is a leading provider of semiconductor testing interface solutions, with test sockets representing its core business. The company focuses on advanced AI/HPC applications, supplying sockets for final test (FT), system-level test (SLT) and burn-in, as well as cobra probe cards and partnership with Technoprobe for MEMS probe cards.

WinWay's business is primarily divided into two segments:

- Test socket: Sockets are WinWay's largest revenue contributor. The company supplies a broad range of testing sockets, including coaxial, PoP/plastic and burn-in sockets, serving applications ranging from consumer electronics to high-performance computing.
    - Coaxial socket: utilised as the mainstream option for nearly all AI/HPC chips, as traditional sockets are near its physical limits. Coaxial sockets need to handle data rates of up to 224G for high speed transmission and high chip TDP during the FT process.
    - HyperSocket: a rubber-silicone like layer called elastomer are placed on top of the pogo pins, these elastomer pins causes zero damage to the chips being tested under high contact forces. WinWay's next generation HyperSocket technology utilises elastomers to provide a softer contact between the DUT and the pogo pins, avoiding damage to solder ball. This structure significantly enhances spring probe's lifetime, reduces cleaning frequency, and achieves maximum production efficiency. We estimate it will contribute around 5% of sales in 2027E with a 20-30% ASP premium as compared to standard coaxial socket.
- Probe cards: WinWay historically supplies cobra probe cards (vertical probe cards), but with the company announcing their five-year probe supply deal with Technoprobe for MEMS probe in December 2025, they are now one of Nvida Vera CPU's main probe card suppliers.

AI accelerators are pushing socket requirements beyond 10,000 pins, making coaxial sockets the industry standard for leading-edge AI/HPC devices. These sockets must support transmission speeds of up to 224G while handling significantly higher thermal design power (TDP) during testing.

Elastomer technology is increasingly being adopted alongside spring-probe (pogo-pin) architectures to reduce chip damage and improve contact reliability. WinWay's next-generation HyperSocket integrates elastomer materials between the DUT and spring probes, improving probe lifetime, reducing cleaning requirements and enhancing production efficiency. We believe HyperSocket could become an important differentiator as next-generation AI accelerators demand higher pin counts, bandwidth and thermal performance. We estimate HyperSocket could contribute approximately 5% of WinWay's revenue in 2027E while carrying a 20-30% ASP premium versus conventional coaxial sockets. The transition toward larger AI packages, higher pin counts and faster data-transfer speeds should continue to increase socket content per device. We expect this trend to support long-term growth in the socket market, with technology leaders such as WinWay well positioned to gain share through next-generation solutions including HyperSocket.

Beyond its existing product portfolio, WinWay is developing next-generation technologies including CPO electrical test sockets and liquid-cooled sockets for future high TDP AI accelerators, reinforcing its position within the AI/HPC testing ecosystem.

WinWay's competitive advantages are its 1) technology leadership with coaxial socket and HyperSocket, 2) proximity to the semiconductor testing value chain in Taiwan, and 3) historical relationship with key AI companies such as Nvidia and AMD. We believe these advantages may allow WinWay to capture significant upside in the growing semiconductor testing TAM driven by cloud AI proliferation, and gain share across its competition such as Smiths Interconnect for AI and HPC applications.

Compared with the probe card market, the socket industry is more fragmented. Competition include:

- WinWay (6515.TW): A major share gainer in AI/HPC sockets, with strong exposure to Nvidia and AMD. The company specializes in high-performance coaxial sockets and is developing its next-generation HyperSocket platform. It is also expanding into probe cards through its partnership with Technoprobe.
- Leeno (058470.KQ): Vertically integrated supplier focused on smartphone AP and memory sockets.
- ISC (095340.KQ): Memory socket supplier with elastomer expertise.
- Smiths Interconnect (Acquired by Molex): A key player in AI/HPC socket industry, with its DaVinci coaxial sockets able to support high frequency connectivity testing.
- Yamaichi (6941.T): Japanese socket supplier with substantial automotive exposure.
- Yokowo (6800.T): Major provider of contact probes and socket pins.
- Cohu (COHU.O): Broad test-solutions provider spanning ATE, handlers and sockets, with high exposure to automotive, industrial and consumer applications.

WinWay's margin is set to recover in 2027E/28E

Company GM hit a trough in Q226, at 38.3%. We view recent margin pressure as largely temporary. GM has been impacted by MEMS probe sourcing through Technoprobe (probe card GM now below 40% and dilutive to >50% coaxial socket GM) and start-up costs associated with WinWay's rapid capacity expansion. During the early part of 2025, WinWay's GM was high at 48.9% in H125, with more cobra probe cards (60% GM) in mix with solid pogo pin and socket yield. With MEMS probe card now accounting for more than 70% of probe card revenue and GM at around low to mid 30%, margin dilution from probe card business is unlikely to unravel for GM to return to above 45% in the near term due to the MEMS partnership terms with Technoprobe. However, we expect that as new facilities ramp and yields improve, profitability to recover gradually from the Q226 trough. We see GM improving to 43.1% in 2027E and 44.7% in 2028E.

Appendix: What are semiconductor test sockets?

Semiconductor test socket are electro-mechanical interface that are used post chip probing and chip packaging process to test the functionality of the chips. Sockets are placed onto load boards on top of testers during the final test/system level test processes. Handlers will place the chips onto the sockets, and pins inside the sockets will enable the testers to read the signals from the device under test (DUT, i.e. the packaged chips), with tester signals fan out from beneath the PCB load board.

Source: UBS

As AI accelerators become larger and more complex, socket requirements continue to increase. High-end sockets typically comprise a socket housing, alignment plate, integrated thermal-control components and contact elements that connect the DUT to the tester. Spring probes (pogo pins) are the most common choice for HPC sockets, with high durability, individual probe replacement flexibility, and consistent contact force. FT and SLT sockets account for more than 70% of the total socket market, with burn-in sockets representing the remainder.

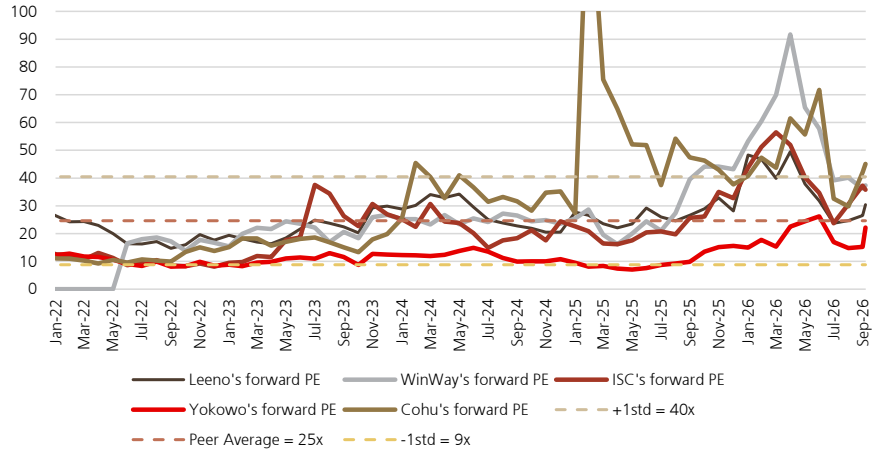
WHAT´S PRICED IN?

WinWay is trading at NT$6,130 as of 6 Oct 2026



Source: LSEG, UBS estimates

Despite a 120% YTD share-price increase, WinWay remains 43% below its April 2026 peak and trades at only 16x our 2028E P/E. We believe the market remains overly focused on near-term GM pressure while underestimating the company's multi-year growth opportunity. Our reverse DCF analysis indicates that the current market price implies only a 19% long-term sales CAGR vs our estimate of 25%, alongside long-term GM level of 32% vs our estimate of 45%.

We believe investors are not fully reflecting three key drivers:

1) CPU and TPU opportunities are becoming increasingly meaningful.

Beyond its core GPU socket franchise, WinWay is positioned to benefit from Nvidia's Vera CPU, AMD's Venice CPU, and Google's TPU. These programmes should broaden revenue sources and create an additional demand driver for high-end sockets and probe cards.

2) Larger AI packages are driving higher socket content per device.

As AI accelerators adopt larger form factors, higher pin counts and greater power consumption, socket complexity and ASPs continue to rise. We expect socket content growth to outpace semiconductor unit growth, creating a structural tailwind for WinWay.

3) Capacity ramp and margin recovery are not fully reflected.

Following substantial capacity expansion, we expect revenue growth of 105%/74%/71% in 2026E/27E/28E. At the same time, we forecast gross margin recovery from 38.3% in Q226 to 43.1%/44.7% in 2027E/28E as utilization and yields improve.

Our NT$8,900 price target is based on our valuation for WinWay at 30x average 2027E-28E P/E, in-line with its historical average of 30x and underpinned by a 30% 2027-31E earnings CAGR. Comparing with historical NTM peer average PE of roughly 25x (currently trading at 39x NTM PE), we believe WinWay deserves to trade at a premium given its leadership in AI/HPC sockets, expanding CPU and TPU exposure, and our long-term earnings CAGR estimate.

Risk to the current share price is skewed (1.8:1) to the upside

UPSIDE (NT$10,000): Our upside scenario reflects stronger than expected market share gain among Nvidia's Rubin sockets and Vera CPU probe card strength, with strong TPU v9 shipment in 2028E, forming 90%/87% YoY test socket sales growth and 87%/93% probe card sales growth in 2027/28E, translating to higher sales growth of 82%/75% in 2027/28E and steeper GM recovery in 2027/28E.

BASE (NT$8,900): Our price target of NT$8,900 is based on 30x average 2027-28E PE. We expect an earnings CAGR of 30% in 2027-31E. With extending FT time and larger form factor coaxial sockets, we see these growth drivers driving YoY sales growth from a high base of 105% in 2026E to 74%/71% YoY in 2027/2028E, with OPM of 32.1%/36.7% in 2027/28E.

DOWNSIDE (NT$4,000): Our downside scenario reflects slow GM recovery of 38.1%/39.7% in 2027/28E, with weaker growth for both socket and probe card businesses for slower capacity ramp up, leading to YoY sales growth of 22.3%/34.8% in 2027/28E, respectively.

COMPANY DESCRIPTION

WinWay was founded in 2001 in Kaoshiung, Taiwan. It is a semiconductor testing interface solution provider, with final test sockets as its main business segment. The company has high-end solutions for AI/HPC testing, providing final test/system-level test and burn-in test sockets and probe cards through its own-made probes and a partnership with Technoprobe.

Industry Outlook

New iterations of semiconductors, especially for AI / HPC applications, are set to increase in both front-end wafer fabrication advancements and back-end packaging complexities with each iterations. With the industry now moves to utilize "shift left", chip probing and its relevant supply chain will be key beneficiaries of this trend which we believe will unlock multi-year, secular growth trends.

Company Description

WinWay was founded in 2001 in Kaoshiung, Taiwan. It is a semiconductor testing interface solution provider, with final test sockets as its main business segment. The company has high-end solutions for AI/HPC testing, providing final test/system-level test and burn-in test sockets and probe cards through its own-made probes and a partnership with Technoprobe.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

We value WinWay based on PE methodology.
Risks for the semis industry:
- Geopolitical uncertainties: Geopolitical uncertainties including tariffs and more export control could negatively impact semis cycle, and a downturn would lead to slower demand in the overall market and moderating capacity expansion.
- Meaningful deceleration of new technology development: Slower demand and less investment are expected If there is meaningful deceleration of new technology development such as Cloud AI, autonomous driving, etc.
- Rising utility cost: Larger-than-expected utility cost increases would further pressure profitability. Rising utility costs in Taiwan have negatively impacted margins for Taiwan tech companies.
Company risks:
- Faster- or slower-than-expected CoWoS capacity expansion: This could result in WinWay gaining/losing socket/probe card orders from major end customers, foundries, and OSATs.
- Competitors achieving technological advancement: Potential risk of competition (from either local or foreign companies) achieving technological advancements could result in WinWay losing market share from major end customers, foundries and OSATs.
- Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth: Better- or worse-than-expected AI growth could lead to a ramp-up or a slowdown of equipment orders from major foundries and OSATs to WinWay, affecting long-term revenue growth potential.
- Slowdown or delay of new technological advancement: A potential slowdown or delay of the rollout for technological advancements for technologies such as SoIC, CoPoS, and CPO, would limit future socket/probe card orders.
- Increase of raw material costs: Rising raw material costs may directly impact WinWay's margins for socket/probe card shipments.

Quantitative Research Review

UBS Global Research publishes a quantitative assessment of its analysts' responses to certain questions about the likelihood of an occurrence of a number of short term factors in a product known as the 'Quantitative Research Review'. The views for this month can be found below. Views contained in this assessment on a particular stock reflect only the views on those short term factors which are a different timeframe to the 12-month timeframe reflected in any equity rating set out in this note. For previous responses please make reference to (i) previous UBS Global Research reports; and (ii) where no applicable research report was published that month, the Quantitative Research Review which can be found at https://neo.ubs.com/quantitative, or contact your UBS sales representative for access to the report or the Quantitative Research Team on ubs-quant-answers@ubs.com. For information on the ways in which UBS manages conflicts and maintains independence of its UBS Global Research product; historical performance information; certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations; and terms and conditions for certain third party data used in research report, please visit https://www.ubs.com/disclosures. Unless otherwise indicated, information and data in this report are based on company disclosures including but not limited to annual, interim, quarterly reports and other company announcements. The figures contained in performance charts refer to the past; past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. Additional information will be made available upon request. UBS Securities Co. Limited is licensed to conduct securities investment consultancy businesses by the China Securities Regulatory Commission. UBS acts or may act as principal in the debt securities (or in related derivatives) that may be the subject of this report. This recommendation was finalized on: 07 October 2026 08:33 AM GMT. UBS has designated certain UBS Global Research department members as Derivatives Research Analysts where those department members publish research principally on the analysis of the price or market for a derivative, and provide information reasonably sufficient upon which to base a decision to enter into a derivatives transaction. Where Derivatives Research Analysts co-author research reports with Equity Research Analysts or Economists, the Derivatives Research Analyst is responsible for the derivatives investment views, forecasts, and/or recommendations. Quantitative Research Review: UBS Global Research publishes a quantitative assessment of its analysts' responses to certain questions about the likelihood of an occurrence of a number of short term factors in a product known as the 'Quantitative Research Review'. Views contained in this assessment on a particular stock reflect only the views on those short term factors which are a different timeframe to the 12-month timeframe reflected in any equity rating set out in this note. For the latest responses, please see the Quantitative Research Review Addendum at the back of this report, where applicable. For previous responses please make reference to (i) previous UBS Global Research reports; and (ii) where no applicable research report was published that month, the Quantitative Research Review which can be found at https://neo.ubs.com/quantitative, or contact your UBS sales representative for access to the report or the Quantitative Research Team on ubs-quant-answers@ubs.com. A consolidated report which contains all responses is also available and again you should contact your UBS sales representative for details and pricing or the Quantitative Research team on the email above.

UBS Global Research: Global Equity Rating Definitions

12-Month Rating	Definition	Coverage[1]	IB Services[2]
Buy	FSR is > 6% above the MRA.	55%	24%
Neutral	FSR is between -6% and 6% of the MRA.	39%	20%
Sell	FSR is > 6% below the MRA.	6%	21%

Source: UBS. Rating allocations are as of 30 September 2026.
1:Percentage of companies under coverage globally within the 12-month rating category.
2:Percentage of companies within the 12-month rating category for which investment banking (IB) services were provided within the past 12 months.

KEY DEFINITIONS:Forecast Stock Return (FSR) is defined as expected percentage price appreciation plus gross dividend yield over the next 12 months. In some cases, this yield may be based on accrued dividends. Market Return Assumption (MRA) is defined as the one-year local market interest rate plus 5% (a proxy for, and not a forecast of, the equity risk premium). Under Review (UR) Stocks may be flagged as UR by the analyst, indicating that the stock's price target and/or rating are subject to possible change in the near term, usually in response to an event that may affect the investment case or valuation. Equity Price Targets have an investment horizon of 12 months.

EXCEPTIONS AND SPECIAL CASES:UK and European Investment Fund ratings and definitions are: Buy: Positive on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Neutral: Neutral on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount; Sell: Negative on factors such as structure, management, performance record, discount. Core Banding Exceptions (CBE): Exceptions to the standard +/-6% bands may be granted by the Investment Review Consultation (IRC). Factors considered by the IRC include the stock's volatility and the credit spread of the respective company's debt. As a result, stocks deemed to be very high or low risk may be subject to higher or lower bands as they relate to the rating. When such exceptions apply, they will be identified in the Company Disclosures table in the relevant research piece.

In certain circumstances you may receive UBS Global Research otherwise than in the capacity of a client of UBS and you understand and agree that under these circumstances (i) the UBS Global Research is provided to you for information purposes only; (ii) for the purposes of receiving it you are not intended to be and will not be treated as a "client" of UBS for any legal or regulatory purpose; (iii) the UBS Global Research must not be relied on or acted upon for any purpose; and (iv) such content is subject to the relevant disclaimers that follow.

This document is for distribution only as may be permitted by law. It is not directed to, or intended for distribution to or use by, any person or entity who is a citizen or resident of or located in any locality, state, country or other jurisdiction where such distribution, publication, availability or use would be contrary to law or regulation or would subject UBS to any registration or licensing requirement within such jurisdiction.

This document is a general communication and is educational in nature; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. The recipient should carefully read this document in its entirety and not draw inferences or conclusions from the rating alone. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, structured derivative products and futures (including OTC derivatives) are not suitable for all investors. Trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "The Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options." You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/publications/risks/riskchap1.jsp or ask your salesperson for a copy. Various theoretical explanations of the risks associated with these instruments have been published. Supporting documentation for any claims, comparisons, recommendations, statistics or other technical data will be supplied upon request. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Transaction costs may be significant in option strategies calling for multiple purchases and sales of options, such as spreads and straddles. Because of the importance of tax considerations to many options transactions, the investor considering options should consult with his/her tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of contemplated options transactions.

Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

UBS notes that no globally accepted framework or definition (legal, regulatory or otherwise) currently exists, nor is there a market consensus as to what constitutes an "ESG" (Environmental, Social or Governance) or an equivalent-label, or as to what precise attributes are required for the Information (as defined below) to be defined as ESG or equivalently-labelled. Any information, data or other content including from a third party source contained, referred to herein or used for whatsoever purpose by UBS or a third party ("Information"), in relation to any actual or potential ESG objective, issue or consideration is not intended to be relied upon for ESG classification, regulatory regime or industry initiative purposes ("ESG Regimes"). Nothing in these materials is intended to convey, suggest or indicate that UBS considers or represents any product, service, person or body mentioned in these materials as meeting or qualifying for any ESG classification, labelling or similar standards that may exist under the ESG Regimes. UBS has not conducted any assessment of compliance with ESG Regimes. Parties are reminded to make their own assessments for these purposes.

The value of any investment or income may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the full (or any) amount invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Neither UBS nor any of its directors, employees or agents accepts any liability for any loss (including investment loss) or damage arising out of the use of all or any of the Information.

Prior to making any investment or financial decisions, any recipient of this document or the information should take steps to understand the risk and return of the investment and seek individualized advice from his or her personal financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors that takes into account all the particular facts and circumstances of his or her investment objectives.

Any prices stated in this document are for information purposes only and do not represent valuations for individual securities or other financial instruments. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at those prices, and any prices do not necessarily reflect UBS's internal books and records or theoretical model-based valuations and may be based on certain assumptions. Different assumptions by UBS or any other source may yield substantially different results.

No representation or warranty, either expressed or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information contained in any materials to which this document relates (the "Information"), except with respect to Information concerning UBS. The Information is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the document. UBS does not undertake to update or keep current the Information. Any statements contained in this report attributed to a third party represent UBS's interpretation of the data, information and/or opinions provided by that third party either publicly or through a subscription service, and such use and interpretation have not been reviewed by the third party. In no circumstances may this document or any of the Information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes:

(i) valuation or accounting purposes;

(ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or

(iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. UBS does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. For further information on the ways in which UBS Global Research manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS Global Research recommendations, please visit https://www.ubs.com/disclosures.

UBS Global Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of UBS Global Research Management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. All material information in relation to published research reports, such as valuation methodology, risk statements, underlying assumptions (including sensitivity analysis of those assumptions), ratings history etc. as required by the Market Abuse Regulation, can be found on UBS Neo. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

UBS Global Research may utilise artificial intelligence tools ("AI Tools") in the preparation of this document. Notwithstanding any such use of AI Tools, this document has undergone human review.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by UBS Global Research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms under English law or, if not carried out by UBS in the UK the law of the relevant jurisdiction in which UBS determines it carries out the activity) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Within the past 12 months UBS may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Please note that all transactions conducted by UBS are consistent with sanctions regulations imposed by Switzerland, the European Union, the United Nations, the United Kingdom and the United States, per UBS' global sanctions policy. UBS opinion as to future investment worthiness assumes no new sanctions are imposed.

Risk information:

You agree that you shall not copy, revise, amend, create a derivative work, provide to any third party, or in any way commercially exploit any UBS research, and that you shall not extract data from any research or estimates, without the prior written consent of UBS.

This document is for distribution only as may be permitted by law. It is not directed to, or intended for distribution to or use by, any person or entity who is a citizen or resident of or located in any locality, state, country or other jurisdiction where such distribution, publication, availability or use would be contrary to law or regulation or would subject UBS to any registration or licensing requirement within such jurisdiction.

This document is for your information only; it is not an advertisement nor is it a solicitation or an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Nothing in this document constitutes a representation that any investment strategy or recommendation is suitable or appropriate to an investor's individual circumstances or otherwise constitutes a personal recommendation. By providing this document, none of UBS or its representatives has any responsibility or authority to provide or have provided investment advice in a fiduciary capacity or otherwise. Investments involve risks, and investors should exercise prudence and their own judgment in making their investment decisions. None of UBS or its representatives is suggesting that the recipient or any other person take a specific course of action or any action at all. By receiving this document, the recipient acknowledges and agrees with the intended purpose described above and further disclaims any expectation or belief that the information constitutes investment advice to the recipient or otherwise purports to meet the investment objectives of the recipient. The financial instruments described in the document may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors.

Options, derivative products and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky. Mortgage and asset-backed securities may involve a high degree of risk and may be highly volatile in response to fluctuations in interest rates or other market conditions. Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or related instrument referred to in the document. For investment advice, trade execution or other enquiries, clients should contact their local sales representative.

The value of any investment or income may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the full (or any) amount invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Neither UBS nor any of its directors, employees or agents accepts any liability for any loss (including investment loss) or damage arising out of the use of all or any of the information (as defined below).

Prior to making any investment or financial decisions, any recipient of this document or the information should take steps to understand the risk and return of the investment and seek individualized advice from his or her personal financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors that takes into account all the particular facts and circumstances of his or her investment objectives.

Any prices stated in this document are for information purposes only and do not represent valuations for individual securities or other financial instruments. There is no representation that any transaction can or could have been effected at those prices, and any prices do not necessarily reflect UBS's internal books and records or theoretical model-based valuations and may be based on certain assumptions. Different assumptions by UBS or any other source may yield substantially different results.

No representation or warranty, either expressed or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information contained in any materials to which this document relates (the "Information"), except with respect to Information concerning UBS. The Information is not intended to be a complete statement or summary of the securities, markets or developments referred to in the document. UBS does not undertake to update or keep current the Information. Any opinions expressed in this document may change without notice and may differ or be contrary to opinions expressed by other business areas or groups, personnel or other representative of UBS. Any statements contained in this report attributed to a third party represent UBS's interpretation of the data, information and/or opinions provided by that third party either publicly or through a subscription service, and such use and interpretation have not been reviewed by the third party. In no circumstances may this document or any of the Information (including any forecast, value, index or other calculated amount ("Values")) be used for any of the following purposes: (i) valuation or accounting purposes; (ii) to determine the amounts due or payable, the price or the value of any financial instrument or financial contract; or (iii) to measure the performance of any financial instrument including, without limitation, for the purpose of tracking the return or performance of any Value or of defining the asset allocation of portfolio or of computing performance fees.

By receiving this document and the Information you will be deemed to represent and warrant to UBS that you will not use this document or any of the Information for any of the above purposes or otherwise rely upon this document or any of the Information.

UBS has policies and procedures, which include, without limitation, independence policies and permanent information barriers, that are intended, and upon which UBS relies, to manage potential conflicts of interest and control the flow of information within divisions of UBS (including between Global Wealth Management and UBS Global Research) and among its subsidiaries, branches and affiliates. For further information on the ways in which UBS manages conflicts and maintains independence of its research products, historical performance information and certain additional disclosures concerning UBS research recommendations, please visit https://www.ubs.com/research-methodology.

Research will initiate, update and cease coverage solely at the discretion of research management, which will also have sole discretion on the timing and frequency of any published research product. The analysis contained in this document is based on numerous assumptions. Different assumptions could result in materially different results.

The analyst(s) responsible for the preparation of this document may interact with trading desk personnel, sales personnel and other parties for the purpose of gathering, applying and interpreting market information. UBS relies on information barriers to control the flow of information contained in one or more areas within UBS into other areas, units, groups or affiliates of UBS. The compensation of the analyst who prepared this document is determined exclusively by research management and senior management (not including investment banking). Analyst compensation is not based on investment banking revenues; however, compensation may relate to the revenues of UBS and/or its divisions as a whole, of which investment banking, sales and trading are a part, and UBS's subsidiaries, branches and affiliates as a whole.

For financial instruments admitted to trading on an EU regulated market: UBS AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries (excluding UBS Securities LLC) acts as a market maker or liquidity provider (in accordance with the interpretation of these terms in the UK) in the financial instruments of the issuer save that where the activity of liquidity provider is carried out in accordance with the definition given to it by the laws and regulations of any other EU jurisdictions, such information is separately disclosed in this document. For financial instruments admitted to trading on a non-EU regulated market: UBS may act as a market maker save that where this activity is carried out in the US in accordance with the definition given to it by the relevant laws and regulations, such activity will be specifically disclosed in this document. UBS may have issued a warrant the value of which is based on one or more of the financial instruments referred to in the document. UBS and its affiliates and employees may have long or short positions, trade as principal and buy and sell in instruments or derivatives identified herein; such transactions or positions may be inconsistent with the opinions expressed in this document.

Options and futures are not suitable for all investors, and trading in these instruments is considered risky and may be appropriate only for sophisticated investors. Prior to buying or selling an option, and for the complete risks relating to options, you must receive a copy of "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options". You may read the document at https://www.theocc.com/about/publications/character-risks.jsp or ask your financial advisor for a copy.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or sustainable investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.

Within the past 12 months UBS Switzerland AG, its affiliates or subsidiaries may have received or provided investment services and activities or ancillary services as per MiFID II which may have given rise to a payment or promise of a payment in relation to these services from or to this company.

Initiation: acting on the demand for cleanrooms

- Key beneficiary of the cleanroom shortage in the high-tech industry
- Fast-growing order backlog likely to be realised over 2026-28E
- Initiating with a Buy (1) rating and a 12-month TP of TWD1,415

Investment case: We initiate coverage of Acter, an established multinational cleanroom engineering, procurement, construction and management (EPCM) turnkey service provider, with a Buy (1) rating. Its core business includes cleanroom electromechanical engineering, water/gas/chemical delivery systems, and other cleanroom services. We believe now is a good time to revisit the stock as it underperformed the TAIEX Index by 32.7% in 3Q26, mainly on weaker-than-expected 2Q26 results and soft sector sentiment. Given its stronger revenue momentum over recent months and upcoming TSMC results on 15 October, which may drive sentiment, we suggest investors to buy the stock. We forecast a 24.6% revenue CAGR and 36.9% net profit CAGR over 2026-28E.

Intact global demand for cleanroom technology, the edge AI market, and rapid cleanroom expansion in Asia further support Acter's order backlog. Its backlog reached TWD66bn in July 2026 vs. TWD46bn in 2025 and TWD30bn in 2022 (15.3% 2022-25 CAGR), which largely outpaced the global cleanroom technology market's forecast CAGR over 2023-2032E, according to Precedence Research.

Strong competitive edge supports order share gains across multiple segments. Acter's competitive edge lies in 1) intelligent management enabled by digital twins and AI, using 3D building information modelling (BIM) and AI-driven digital twin management; 2) intellectualisation of green engineering, which comprises green design, green procurement, and green techniques; 3) experience across multiple industries (ie, data centres and electromechanical engineering for the consumer industry) which supports better integration; and 4) a complete network, enabling on-the-spot support. Acter believes it has the highest market share among the operators of three major US data centre players due largely to its capabilities in liquid cooling and its expertise in electromechanical and cleanroom engineering.

Catalysts: Near-term: project wins from key clients, supporting stronger monthly revenue momentum; mid- to long-term: an improving operating-margin trend and a resilient order backlog.

Valuation: We are the first non-domestic broker to cover Acter. We initiate coverage with a 12-month TP of TWD1,415, based on a target PER of 20x (equivalent to a 0.54x PEG over 2026-28E). We believe our valuation is fair, given Acter's strong earnings visibility, which we believe warrants a rerating. Our TP is supported by a DCF valuation of TWD1,454.

Risks: 1) weaker-than-expected expansion in the semiconductor industry; and 2) project delays or cancellations.

Growth outlook

We forecast Acter to record a 36.9% net profit CAGR over 2026-28E, on the back of a 24.6% revenue CAGR over the same period, driven by 1) larger project scale, as strong demand for cleanroom EPCM services from the high-tech sector is likely to support continued growth in Acter's order backlog and 2) improving gross margins and operating efficiency. We expect operating margin to expand by 2.0pp in 2027E and 1.3pp in 2028E, driven by favourable gross margins on new projects and operating leverage.

Valuation

Our 12-month TP of TWD1,415 is based on a target PER of 20x, applied to our 1-year-forward EPS forecast. Our target multiple of 20x is higher than the stock's past-3-year 1-year-forward PER (12.2x) and past-5-year 1-year-forward PER (9.6x) and implies a PEG of 0.54x on our 36.9% net profit CAGR forecast over 2026-28E. We believe the stock deserves a rerating in the next 12 months, largely supported by resilient cleanroom demand globally.

Our TP is also supported by an alternative DCF-derived valuation of TWD1,454/share.

Earnings revisions

Bloomberg consensus EPS estimates for 2026E and 2027E have risen 24.8% and 24.3% YTD, respectively. This is likely due to upward revisions to order backlog and earnings forecasts following better-than-expected industry outlook. We are the first foreign broker to cover Acter.

Company profile

Established in 1979, Acter Group (Acter) is a leading engineering services provider specialising in cleanroom, electromechanical, and high-tech facility integration solutions for semiconductor, optoelectronics, biotech, green energy, and advanced manufacturing clients across Taiwan, China and the rest of the world. As of 2025, its revenue comprised cleanroom electromechanical (71%), water, gas and chemical delivery systems (20%), consumer industry electromechanical (4%), biomedical (2%) and high-tech equipment & materials sales & services (3%).

Acting on the demand for cleanrooms

Why are cleanrooms a bottleneck in the high-tech industry?

In recent years, cleanrooms have become a critical bottleneck for high-tech industries, especially semiconductor manufacturing, OSAT, AI hardware, and PCB, mainly because of its indispensable nature, severe supply-demand imbalance, labour shortages, and high technical and regulatory barriers.

Cleanrooms are a bottleneck in the high-tech industry, including semiconductor foundry, memory, and electronic assembling Cleanrooms are an indispensable core infrastructure as they determine product yield and quality stability. Advanced manufacturing nodes in semiconductors, optoelectronics, and biopharmaceuticals require highly particle-free, constant-temperature, and constant-humidity environments to ensure reliable production. As process technologies continue to advance, such as 2nm node (or even newer nodes) and advanced packaging, existing cleanrooms must be rebuilt, and the complexity of building new ones thus increases. This keeps overall demand for cleanrooms at high levels.

A severe global supply-demand imbalance with demand for cleanroom construction outpacing supply. The surge in AI servers, high-performance computing (HPC), and high-bandwidth memory (HBM) has triggered a global expansion for front-end wafer fabs, packaging and testing facilities, and PCB manufacturing. Order visibility remains extremely strong across the industry. According to Markets and Markets, the global cleanroom market size is set to expand at a CAGR of 6.6% over 2025-31E. At the same time, the global semiconductor cleanroom market size is set to grow at a CAGR of 8.0% over 2025-30E. For instance, Acter's order backlog exceeded TWD66bn at the end of July 2026, up from TWD46bn at the end of 2025, showing the urgency of demand for cleanroom construction.

Human resources are an additional limitation to capacity growth. Cleanroom engineering is highly technical and labour-intensive, relying on specialised on-site installation and supervision that cannot be replaced by robots. At the same time, the industry faces severe labour shortages and an aging workforce, and younger generations are reluctant to join field operations. Cross-border staff deployment is also less cost-efficient than local hiring.

Cleanrooms involve complex system integration, creating high barriers to entry. A cleanroom construction includes 4 sequential phases, where each phase usually requires totally different areas of expertise. Therefore, the competitive landscape in each area differs. The process begins with civil & structural (C&S) works to establish the physical plant, followed by mechanical, electrical, and plumbing (MEP) works for essential utility generation, where Acter is one of the leading global experts. After MEP is finished, chemicals/gas/water are then distributed via main systems through primary piping network and finally delivered to production equipment through hook-up systems. As global supply chains restructure under N+1 (domestic market + 1) strategies, companies building overseas facilities in places like the US face strict and complicated licensing processes, particularly on fire safety and hazardous chemicals. Without experience dealing with such engineering and safety issues, construction timelines can be severely delayed.

As a result, even with advanced equipment and chip designs, a high-tech company cannot begin production without adequate cleanroom space, skilled engineers, and system-integration capabilities. Therefore, cleanroom engineering contractors hold significant bargaining power and capacity allocation leverage in today's tech supply chain.

IC foundry

In the foundry sector, where the cleanroom supply-demand shortage is the tightest, project activity remains centred on advanced process capacity expansion in Taiwan and Arizona. Simultaneously, domestic advanced node development remains intense, with multi-phase fab builds advancing across Hsinchu, Taichung, and Kaohsiung. Local cleanroom and MEP integration demand is further boosted by advanced packaging facilities in Taiwan (such as Chiayi and Tainan) and upcoming projects in the US are set to contribute revenue for the cleanroom providers in the following years.

Memory

The memory segment is exhibiting robust momentum as well, mainly catalysed by HBM capacity additions. Projects such as the plant in Japan, transitioned to contribution for the cleanroom EPCM providers starting from 2026. In Taiwan, turnkey engineering contracts in Miaoli are also actively underway. This trend is reinforced by stronger-than-expected expansion activity from memory producers in China.

OSAT, PCB and ODM/OEM

For OSAT companies, demand is also surging due to the spill-over effect of advanced packaging protocols and N+1 supply chain restructuring. The OSAT names are expanding their footprint both in Southern Taiwan and in overseas locations including in the US and Southeast Asia. Major engineering contracts signed between OSAT clients and Acter show stable long-term workload for strong cleanroom demand over our forecast horizon. Similarly, overseas expansion for PCB manufacturing is peaking in Southeast Asia, especially in Thailand. We expect Chinese PCB players to also increase their capacity, just like memory companies in the past year. Except for front-end and back-end chip manufacturing, ODM/OEM and data centre infrastructure is also a key growth engine for the EPCM industry. Major Taiwanese ODMs are building production facilities in Texas and Mexico to meet local manufacturing needs. Cleanroom contractors, such as Acter, providing MEP and system integration in Texas are directly benefiting from these projects. The shift toward liquid cooling systems has also increased engineering complexity, favouring few cleanroom companies with the expertise to deliver complex integration for CSPs in both North America and Southeast Asia.

Acter provides integrated cleanroom solutions via various subsidiaries

Acter Group (Acter), an integrated cleanroom solutions provider, maintains its competitive positioning within the high-tech cleanroom and MEP engineering sector, driven by its group synergy and global footprint. Acter operates as a comprehensive vendor through a group business model. The parent company, Acter, supervises overall cleanroom and MEP services, while subsidiary Nova Technology (Novatech, 6613 TT, not rated) mainly provides chemical primary system and hook-up, and Novatech's subsidiary Rayzher (7703 TT, not rated) provides gas primary system, hook-up and equipment. In China, Acter operates through Acter Technology Integration Group (603163 CH, not rated) and Suzhou Winmax (not listed) for Chinese EPCM (engineering, procurement, construction, and management) and equipment business. Except for C&S (civil and structural) works, where the margin is low (7-8%) and the contract duration is long, Acter's services span nearly the entire cleanroom construction process. Its one-stop solutions model supports customer retention and improves bid-win rates, particularly for overseas expansion, where customers have few reliable providers to choose from.

Source: Company, Daiwa

To avoid the risk of over-concentration, Acter diversifies its client portfolio across semiconductor foundries, memory, PCB, OSAT, ODM hardware assembly, CSP data centres and the consumer industry. By sector, semiconductor projects represent the largest share of Acter's portfolio, accounting for 66% of total revenue in 1H26, vs. 69% in 2025. Foundry manufacturing is the largest source of demand for cleanrooms in Taiwan, especially as advanced-node capacity expands at sites in Hsinchu, Taichung and Kaohsiung. In the memory segment, the company executes turnkey engineering builds to expand its capacity aggressively, creating cleanroom opportunities across Taiwan, Japan and Singapore. This multi-sector coverage decreases the risk of cyclical downturns in any individual segment, in our view.

Acter provides cleanroom services for numerous industries, across multiple regions

By establishing 33 operating entities across 11 international regions, the company effectively captures capex migration driven by global N+1 supply chain diversification. This allows Acter to support Taiwanese and international clients as they expand manufacturing capacity from Taiwan into Southeast Asia, Japan and the US. Due to the complexity of advanced-node IC manufacturing, packaging and testing, it is especially important for these Taiwanese semiconductor companies to work with familiar cleanroom builders when expanding in the US. This is one of the reasons why Taiwanese cleanroom companies are receiving overseas orders and starting to set up global bases, in our view. Despite higher management, material, and manpower costs in the US, most cleanroom companies are benefitting from the trend by improving margins, given the higher complexity and risks to operate overseas. Across overseas hubs in Texas and Phoenix (expected to begin from 2027), Acter prioritises local hiring and partners with regional civil contractors to shorten the learning curve and to avoid the high overhead. To further address the potential labour shortages in the future, the company has established cross-border academic and vocational partnerships to bring Southeast Asian talent to Taiwan for technical training before deploying them back to their home markets, securing future human capacity to support global expansion projects.

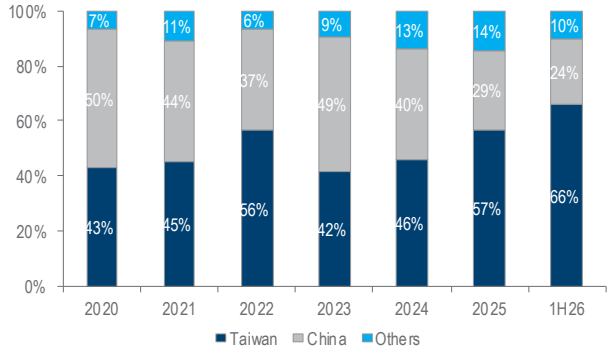
Acter: revenue by geography



Source: Company, Daiwa

Semiconductor-related business in Taiwan is the major revenue stream for Acter

By product, cleanroom electromechanical services remain Acter's largest source of revenue (accounting for 66% of 1H26 revenue, per the company). These services include cleanroom architectural and MEP engineering, which powers airflow, filtration, environmental regulation and utility controls. Water, gas and chemical delivery systems are its second-largest source of revenue (accounting for 24% of 1H26 revenue, per the company). Contributed mainly by Novatech (6613 TT, not rated) and Rayzher (7703 TT, not rated), these services cover the main systems and hook-up systems, for ultra-pure water (UPW), specialty gases, chemical piping, etc., all of which require highly precise build-up work. Except for cleanroom electromechanical and water, gas and chemical delivery systems, the rest of Acter's revenue comes from the consumer industry services electromechanical (5%), biomedical (3%), and high-tech equipment and materials sales and services (1%).

Acter: revenue by product

Technically, Acter integrates digital transformation and green engineering into its business model, helping it differentiate from peers. Acter deploys digital twin technology and 1:1 3D BIM modelling to detect piping interferences and optimise spatial layout before installation, minimising schedule delays. This makes Acter a more reliable option, in our view, and thus being a favourable supplier, especially for the semiconductor clients that have extremely high quality and swiftness criterion.

Bright outlook: strong order visibility

Rising orders on hand due to supply-demand imbalance for cleanrooms

Acter's order backlog has increased from TWD55bn in 1Q26 to TWD60bn in 2Q26 and TWD66bn in July 2026. We expect this figure to further increase in the following quarters, given the supply-demand imbalance in the cleanroom sector. This is composed of semiconductor (63%), electronic assembly (11%), consumer (9%) and others (17%), per the company. In 2H25, the company accelerated the digestion of small-scale projects below TWD1bn, and, as a result, starting from 1H26, it successfully shifted its project selection strategy to focus on large-scale projects valued at TWD1bn or above while reducing smaller contracts. This drives the growth in top-line.

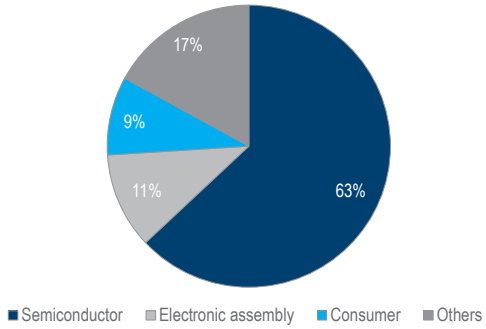
Acter: order backlog by clients' industry



Source: Company, Daiwa

OSAT customers have large order backlogs with Acter, which should drive future growth for the company

Back-end packaging, cloud infrastructure and hardware assembly are additional growth drivers. Acter serves as a contractor for both Taiwanese and overseas OSAT providers, including TWD21.7bn contracts YTD, awarded by a major OSAT client vs. TWD16.6bn contract obtained from the same client in 2025. In cloud infrastructure, Acter maintains qualified supplier status with US CSPs, providing mechanical, electrical and plumbing (MEP) integration, especially for those data centres that implement liquid-cooling systems. The company also wins factory construction projects for Taiwanese ODMs across the US and Southeast Asia, as well as PCB facility projects in Thailand and China. Non-tech sectors, including biotechnology, commercial buildings, smart logistics hubs and medical facilities, comprise 9% of the total backlog, per management.

Comprehensive product portfolio, empowered by subsidiaries

The supply of cleanroom services is limited due to high entry barriers in the segment

Acter provides a one-stop EPCM solution, leveraging its subsidiaries to deliver complete solutions. Within the group, the parent company Acter focuses on overall cleanroom and MEP system integration; subsidiary Novatech provides primary chemical systems and hook-up systems; and sub-subsidiary Rayzer specialises in primary specialty-gas systems and hook-up systems. In China, Suzhou Winmax, also a subsidiary of Novatech, focuses on the supply of wet processing and chemical handling equipment. This integrated model covers cleanroom engineering integration, water, power, chemical and gas-utility systems, as well as post-completion validation and maintenance, ensuring cross-system compatibility while mitigating risks associated with multi-contractor hiring.

Under global supply chain diversification trends, this unified group strategy strengthens order-winning capabilities in overseas markets. Clients expanding internationally face regulatory, linguistic and supply-chain complexities, favouring partners that offer one-stop services with a proven cross-border track record.

A diverse client base helps Acter weather economic cycles

Acter's main competitive advantage is its diversification of clients by industry and region. This guides the company through the peaks and troughs of the economy, which is especially crucial given the strong cyclicality of the semiconductor/high-tech industry. Acter serves a broad client base across semiconductors, OSAT, PCB, electronics assembly (ODM), CSP data centres, biopharmaceuticals and even the consumer industry (including commercial real estate and logistics), whereas many peers rely on a few large foundry clients. When semiconductor demand slows, capacity expansion in the PCB or data centre sectors offset the decline. Additionally, Acter avoids concentration risk and margin compression from major foundry accounts, as projects from leading foundries yield lower margins; by serving niche markets like US-based CSPs, the company achieves higher gross margins.

Geographically, Acter operates across Taiwan, China, Southeast Asia, the US and other countries. The company has OSAT and foundry customers in Taiwan and China, PCB clients expanding into Thailand, and ODM and data centre clients establishing operations in the US. Across different countries, local hiring and local supply chain implementation can further reduce costs and increase efficiency relative to peers reliant on a cross-border labour force.

Labour shortages

Amid global labour shortages, Acter minimises the operational impact and turns workforce constraints into a moat through localised talent development. Since engineering labour cannot easily be automated, Acter has built a cross-border talent pipeline via industry-academia partnerships. The company recruits Southeast Asian students for specialised M&E engineering training in Taiwan, deploying them to global project sites after their graduation to solve labour bottlenecks. This structure maintains an engineering team with an average tenure of more than 7 years, creating an operational barrier in an industry with a high employee turnover rate.

Compared with peers relying on high-cost personnel sent from Taiwan, we note that Acter's local hiring strategy creates cost and efficiency advantages. Prioritising compliant local hiring across overseas markets reduces travel expenses while accelerating integration with local supply chains and regulations. Localised teams also handle post-completion services and technical support directly on-site, building long-term client trust in overseas markets.

Some competitors, unlike Acter, lack a diversified client base

Acter faces different competitors across its main product lines. In the EPCM segment, including cleanroom and MEP works, key competitors include UIS (2404 TT, not rated), L&K (6139 TT, not rated), Yankey (6691 TT, not rated) and Jiuhan (6903 TT, not rated). Despite having business models similar to Acter, UIS, Yankey and Jiuhan focus more on major semiconductor players in both Taiwan and the US, and L&K concentrates on ASEAN semiconductor projects. In the equipment/material sales and agency space, Acter mainly competes with Marketech (6196 TT, not rated). In the water, gas and chemical delivery systems area, through Novatech and Rayzher, Acter group competes with Marketech, Mega Union (6944 TT, not rated), Taiwan Puritic (6826 TT, not rated), Trusval (6667 TT, not rated) and Cica-Huntek (6725 TT, not rated).

In our view, despite the competitive environment, Acter maintains a formidable competitive moat built on several key advantages. We attribute this to its more than 45 year experience in the industry, enabling it to develop specialised expertise that is hard for competitors to replicate.

Financial analysis

We forecast the company's net profit to rise at a CAGR of 36.9% over 2026-28E, driven by a revenue CAGR of 24.6% due to surging demand from the high-tech industry (an increase in the order backlog to TWD66bn at the end of July 2026 vs. TWD46bn at end-2025) and a 3.3pp expansion in operating margin over 2026-28E, driven by the gross margin improvement from more favourable project wins and operating leverage.

Strong order visibility, with revenue expected to grow across all sectors over 2026-28E

We forecast Acter's revenue to record a CAGR of 24.6% over 2026-28E

We forecast Acter's revenue to increase at a CAGR of 24.6% over 2026-28E, driven by scale expansion and a growing demand from various industries, including semiconductor, electronic assembly, optoelectronics and others.

We forecast an upward operating-margin trend over 2026-28E

Over 2026-28E, we forecast Acter's gross and operating margins to expand on rising revenue scale and a higher complexity of cleanrooms for advanced manufacturing. We note that the gross margin from high-tech cleanrooms is higher than that from consumer industries, such as commercial buildings and biopharmaceuticals. Thus, we estimate the company's gross margin to reach 26.0% in 2028E from 18.9% in 2025 and its operating margin to reach 21.6% in 2028E from 13.7% in 2025.

Net margin likely to rise over 2026-28E

We forecast a net profit CAGR of 36.9% for Acter over 2026-28E

We forecast Acter's net profit to rise to TWD8,797m in 2027E and TWD11,851m in 2028E (from TWD6,325m in 2026E). We expect its net margin to come in at 13.1% in 2027E and 14.2% in 2028E (vs. 11.7% in 2026E) and for its net profit to grow at a CAGR of 36.9% over 2026-28E.

Intact demand to support revenue growth over our forecast horizon; ROE expansion underway

We expect stronger cash balances and FCF over 2026-28E due to better profitability

We forecast Acter's total cash and equivalents to reach TWD16,838m (36.8% of its total assets) in 2026E and increase to TWD27,839m in 2028E (42.8% of total assets) with net cash likely to come in at TWD16,244m in 2026E and TWD27,245m in 2028E.

After factoring in our 2027 and 2028 capex assumptions of TWD180m, we expect Acter's free cash flow (FCF) to improve to TWD12,129m in 2028E, from TWD5,763m in 2026E. We believe the capacity expansion cost will initially be low and that the company will continue to benefit from the better profitability.

Strong ROE outlook over 2026-28E

We expect Acter's ROE to improve to a record-high of 56.8% in 2028E from 29.3% in 2025 (following steady annual increases to 46.8% in 2026E and 54.9% in 2027E), which we attribute to margin expansion from the revenue size increase and gross margin expansion led by increases in cleanroom complexity.

Valuation and risks

12-month TP of TWD1,415, based on a target PER of 20x

We initiate coverage of Acter with a Buy (1) rating and 12-month TP of TWD1,415, based on a target PER of 20x applied to our one-year-forward EPS forecast. This target multiple is higher than the average of its past-3-year 1-year-forward PER of 12.2x (ranged from 7.4x to 23.5x) and the average of its past-5-year 1-year-forward PER of 9.6x (ranged from 4.4x to 23.5x), which we view as undemanding as we forecast a 36.9% net profit CAGR over 2026-28E, implying a 0.54x PEG. This is supported by its business expansion in the next 2-3 years. We see potential for a rerating of the stock, given Acter's global leadership in cleanroom EPCM, particularly in the OSAT and memory industries.

The stock is trading currently at a 15.8x 1-year-forward PER vs. its earnings CAGR of 36.9% over 2026-28E, translating to a 0.43x PEG ratio. Its share price has underperformed TAIEX Index by 32.7% in 3Q26, mainly due to its weaker-than-expected 2Q26 results. However, given the potential improvement in sector sentiment following TSMC's results on 15 October 2026, along with the likelihood that Acter's revenue momentum will strengthen in the coming months, we recommend that investors buy the stock.

We compare Acter with other leading cleanroom EPCM companies such as UIS (2404 TT, TWD1,330.0, not rated), L&K (6139 TT, TWD787.0, not rated) and Yankey (6691 TT, TWD776.0, not rated). UIS, L&K and Yankey are trading at a PER of 14.7x (earnings CAGR of 40.7% over 2025-27E), 9.5x (earnings CAGR of 36.9% over 2026-28E) and 15.1x (earnings CAGR of 53.6% over 2025-27E), on their 1-year-forward EPS, respectively.

Stronger earnings growth outlook and more room to grow vs. peers

Acter's peers are trading at 18.7x for 2026E and 14.2x for 2027E. We forecast Acter to deliver an EPS CAGR of 36.9% over 2026-28E vs. 31.5% CAGR for the segment over the same period.

We believe our target one-year-forward PER of 20x (equivalent to a 0.54x PEG using 2026-28E EPS CAGR) is undemanding as: 1) Acter is ramping up capacity to meet growing demand from high-tech customers and is in an expansion cycle; and 2) its leading position among OSAT and memory clients warrants a valuation premium, compared to its global peers.

Our 12-month TP of TWD1,415 is also supported by our DCF valuation

We also reference a DCF methodology (see charts below), which indicates a DCF-derived fair value estimate of TWD1,454/share, which supports our 12-month TP of TWD1,415.

In our DCF calculation, we apply a WACC of 19.3% to Acter's FCF over 2026-35E and a terminal growth rate of 7.0% thereafter. We expect the company to continue to record steadily increasing FCF over 2026-35E.

Risks to our call

Primary/key risks:

Weaker-than-expected expansion in semiconductor industry

The biggest downside risk to our call for Acter is weaker-than-expected expansion from semiconductor clients, especially in advanced-node foundries, advanced packaging and OSAT. If global demand for AI servers, HPC or HBM slows, or if clients delay fab build-ups and overseas expansion plans, it will directly pressure order inflows and backlog conversion for Acter.

Project execution delays or cancellations

Acter's revenue recognition is tied to large, complex EPCM and integrated engineering projects, which are often subject to customer-driven delays. Any postponement in project schedule, construction bottlenecks or cancellation of large projects could defer revenue recognition and hurt overall profit. This risk is more obvious in overseas projects, where licensing, fire-safety approvals and hazardous-chemical regulations are more complicated.

Key risks to our call: weaker-than-expected expansion in semiconductor industry, project delays or cancellations, and higher-than-expected raw-material price hikes

Higher-than-expected raw-material price hikes

Raw-material costs (especially copper and oil-related costs) account for 50-60% of COGS and thus the price volatility makes costs difficult to manage. Acter needs to maintain supplier relations, negotiate appropriate price-adjustment mechanisms with clients, and invest in R&D to identify composite material substitutes, thereby reducing reliance on any single component.

Secondary risks:

Labour issues or larger-than-expected increases in labour costs

Cleanroom engineering is highly labour-intensive and relies on on-site installation and supervision. Although Acter has built a local hiring and talent-development model, a larger-than-expected shortage of engineers or rising wage pressure could still raise costs and constrain capacity expansion. Any inability to secure enough skilled labour may also limit the company's ability to convert orders into revenue in time.

Margin pressure from lower-margin projects or mix shift

Acter's business mix includes a few low-margin C&S services as well as larger EPCM and system integration contracts. If the company takes on a higher proportion of lower-margin projects, or if competition intensifies in certain geographies or customer segments, gross margin could come under pressure. In addition, an unfavourable product mix shift towards less profitable work could offset benefits from backlog growth.

Overseas expansion and regulatory risks

Acter is expanding across markets in the US, Southeast Asia, Japan and China, which exposes it to FX movements, local compliance requirements, tax complexity and regulatory uncertainty. Delays in licensing, changes in safety standards or local-content requirements could increase project costs and reduce execution efficiency. Any misstep in managing overseas operations could damage profitability and client retention.

Appendix

Company background

History

Comprehensive cleanroom EPCM provider in Taiwan; dominates both high-tech market and consumer industry

Acter (5536 TT), founded in 1979 and headquartered in Taichung, Taiwan, is a cleanroom EPCM provider with over four decades of experience. Starting with early mechanical and electrical (M&E) engineering through vertical and horizontal integration, Acter has now developed into an engineering technology group with cross-border execution capabilities. A cleanroom building process begins with civil & structural (C&S) works to establish the physical plant, followed by mechanical, electrical, and plumbing (MEP) works for essential utility generation, where Acter is one of the experts. After MEP is finished, chemicals/gas/water are then distributed via main systems through primary piping networks, and finally delivered to production equipment through hook-up systems. The company's core competency is providing one-stop integrated total solutions, spanning services, primary piping networks and hook-up systems, leaving C&S services to other engineering peers, given the nature of the latter segment's low margin and long timespan.

In terms of business model, Acter delivers EPCM (Engineering, Procurement, Construction, Management) capabilities. From initial customised planning and feasibility assessments to strategic procurement, installation, and post-completion maintenance, Acter builds production environments tailored to client process requirements.

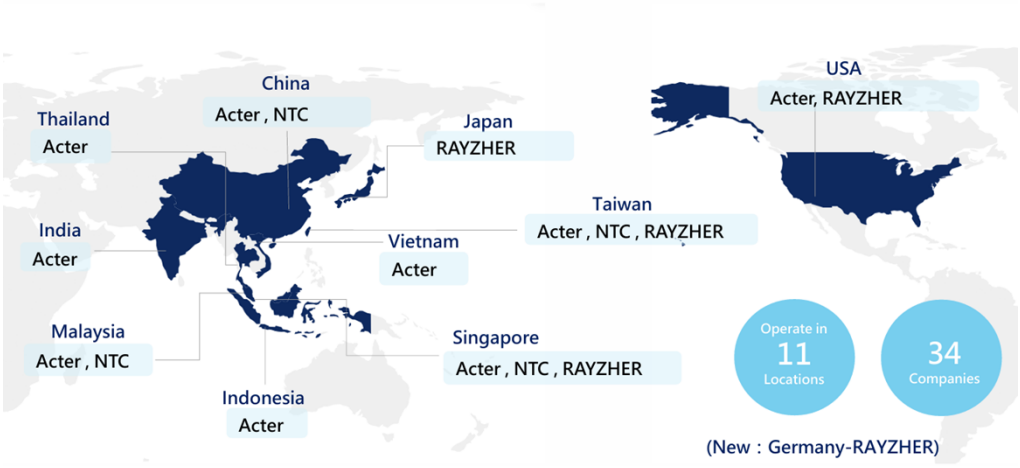
Regarding global expansion, Acter actively responds to the global supply chain's "N+1" strategy, operating across 11 regions with 33 companies globally. Its service network spans Taiwan, China, Southeast Asia (including Thailand, Malaysia, Vietnam, Indonesia, and Singapore), Japan, India, and the US. The company leverages a group synergy strategy by integrating resources from key subsidiaries – such as Novatech (6613 TT, not rated; provides chemical primary and hook-up systems), Rayzher (7703 TT, not rated; provides special gas primary and hook-up supply systems), and Acter Group (603163 CH, not rated; provides cleanroom engineering in China) – to form a complete technical ecosystem, ensuring cross-border capability and quality.

Acter: global footprint



Source: Company, Daiwa

In 2Q26, Acter classified revenue as: cleanroom electromechanical (63%), water, gas and chemical delivery systems (28%), consumer industry electromechanical (6%), biomedical (2%) and high-tech equipment & materials sales & services (1%). In 2025, the product mix was: cleanroom electromechanical (71%), water, gas and chemical delivery systems (20%), consumer industry electromechanical (4%), biomedical (2%) and high-tech equipment & materials sales & services (3%).

Young, capable human resource is a crucial asset for Acter

Acter serves a diversified client base divided into high-tech and consumer divisions. The high-tech division focuses on advanced sectors including semiconductors, OSAT, PCB, AI data centres (for CSPs), and electronics assembly. The consumer division extends into healthcare, premium commercial properties, logistics facilities, and green engineering. This multi-industry strategy allows the company to capitalise on tech sector upgrades while maintaining resilient operations across technology (especially semiconductor) cycles.

Acter adopts a management strategy involving local hiring in overseas markets, prioritising collaboration with local supply chains and compliance with local regulations to reduce cross-border deployment costs and thus build strong local teams. Acter has more than 2,600 employees worldwide (average age: 42 years; average length of service: 7 years). With more than 45 years of experience in EPCM, the company plays a reliable role for both high-tech and consumer industry.

Furthermore, Acter integrates ESG sustainability into its core corporate identity and technological innovation. As a green engineering provider, the company develops energy-saving construction methods, digital twins, ice-storage energy conservation, wastewater recycling, and AI smart facility management systems to help clients achieve carbon neutrality while expanding capacity. Backed by solid corporate governance, Acter consistently ranks among the top performers in Taiwan's corporate governance evaluations, maintaining a stable dividend payout policy and strong ROE as one of the leading facility engineering vendors.

Acter integrates ESG capabilities into its core corporate value

ESG analysis

ESG risks

Risks		Management	Analyst comments
G	Executive/board quality	1	Acter maintains a structured governance framework that supports disciplined management. The chairman is Chin-Li Liang. The company operates with defined responsibility across the board, management, cyber security oversight, operations, and audit functions. It has established an organisation function led by the President, a Chief Cyber Security Officer, a Response Team, an Operations and Policy Enforcement Team, and an Audit Team to supervise policy execution and review security implementation.
	Capital management	1	Acter manages capital in a stable and shareholder-friendly manner. Over the past several years, Acter has typically maintained a dividend payout ratio of 65-80%. It also maintains a strong financing network across multiple banks, supporting flexibility for project execution and expansion while preserving financial stability.
	Related party & transaction	1	Acter's business is supported by a transparent network of suppliers, project partners, and financial counterparties, including companies with equity ties and reciprocal business relationships that are common in its operating ecosystem. These relationships are managed through formal internal procedures for fund lending, endorsements and guarantees, and asset acquisition and disposal, all of which are approved through shareholder mechanisms and company rules. Such a structure helps keep inter-company and supply-chain transactions organised and traceable, reducing the risk of unclear dealings.
E	Product quality & safety	1	Acter executes its projects through a complete, disciplined process covering bidding assessment, project planning, design, procurement, construction management, verification and testing, completion and acceptance, closing review, and warranty service. Its cleanroom and electromechanical engineering business is built around maintaining temperature, humidity, and dust-free environments that support high-precision manufacturing. The company strengthens quality control through BIM, Revit, simulation software, ISO drawing output tools, and automated modeling, which improve design accuracy, construction efficiency, and project consistency.
E	Ecological impacts	1	Acter has built a concrete sustainability programme with measurable environmental outcomes. The company completed Scope 1, 2, and 3 greenhouse gas emissions calculation, obtained third-party verification under ISO 14064-1:2018, and publicly disclosed energy consumption and emissions data. It also implemented a strong waste reduction programme, achieving a 95% wastepaper recycling rate at headquarters in 2025 and 100% paper recycling at the 19F and 20F floors after establishing paper segregation and reuse procedures. The company also promoted sustainability measures through emissions inventory management, environmental disclosures, and resource-efficiency practices. These actions show active environmental management and a clear commitment to lowering operational impact.
	Health & safety

Note: Management score represents a company's ability to manage/benefit from certain ESG topics. The scores range from 1 to 3, with 1 being the strongest.

產業更新 – 國防軍工產業

無人機、無人艇兵分二路，無人載具供應鏈蓄勢

What's New – 國防預算持續提高，六年編列 2,400 億元

2026 年國防總支出規劃達 9,495 億元，2027 年行政院總預算案進一步提高至 1 兆 1,225 億元，年增約 18%，後續待立法院審議。《強化國防自主暨無人載具產業發展條例》規劃六年編列 2,400 億元，每年以 400 億元為原則，支持可信任供應鏈、研發及測試能力建置。此外，行政院提出 1,457 億元國防追加預算，其中濱海監偵型、濱海攻擊型無人機及小型自殺無人艇合計 559 億元，盼於預算通過後加快採購，於 2027 年形成初始戰力。隨政策需求逐步落實，國內軍工供應鏈將由樣機開發與測試，進一步朝產線建置、零組件穩定供貨及批量交付發展。

Trends/Outlook – 無人載具供應鏈蓄勢，持續性發展可期

台灣無人機需求將沿低成本大量部署與高階情監偵兩條路線發展。前者重視採購成本、生產速度與快速補充能力，帶動模組化設計及共用零組件需求；後者強調長航時、感測品質與穩定資料鏈，商機涵蓋機體、光電酬載、導控系統及後勤服務。反無人機系統則由單一干擾設備走向多感測器、指揮控制與反制手段整合，跨品牌相容性、場域驗證及持續更新能力將成為競爭重點。無人艇方面，產業價值由船體製造延伸至自主航行、通信及任務酬載，台海風浪環境亦提高海試與可靠度驗證的重要性。研究部認為，隨部署規模擴大，具備系統整合、穩定交付及長期維保能力的業者，有機會建立持續性收入來源。

Investment Summary

1. 長榮航太(2645 TT)以軍用商規艦載監偵無人機切入市場，延伸航太製造與品質管理優勢；漢翔(2634 TT)與 Shield AI 合作，以 V-BAT 垂直起降無人機取得海巡案，後續可望拓展在地整合、維保及新增採購需求。創泓科技(7714 TT)布局 C2 無人機防禦系統與 Sentrycs 反無人機方案，商機涵蓋設備供應、偵測反制及指揮控制整合，後續關注標案導入與服務收入成長。
2. 台船(2208 TT)的「奮進魔鬼魚」採三體船與模組化酬載設計，並透過與 Havoc 合作布局自主水面載具；龍德造船(6753 TT)的「黑潮」以高速操縱與匿蹤設計為特色，結合既有軍用小型船建造經驗，爭取量產與後勤需求。研究部對台灣軍工產業中期發展持正面看法，後續隨預算、採購及產品驗證逐步落實，相關業者有望將技術與製造能力轉化為實質營運成長。

從預算增加到產線擴張，台灣軍工迎來新一輪成長

過去十年，台灣國防支出的成長，逐步為軍工產業累積更大的發展空間。如今隨著無人機、無人艇及反制系統成為國防重點，這股需求正從大型軍備採購，延伸至電子、航太與造船供應鏈。以廣義國防總支出觀察，2026 年原規劃規模達 9,495 億元，若將其分為年度預算與特別預算兩類，年度預算含基金約 7,627 億元，特別預算約 1,868 億元。年度預算支撐人員、裝備維持與持續性軍事投資，特別預算則加快重點裝備籌獲，兩者共同擴大產業需求。行政院先前也通過的 2027 年總預算案，進一步將廣義國防總支出推升至 1 兆 1,225 億元，較 2026 年原規劃增加約 18%，目前送至立法院審議，仍待後續觀察。

六年 2,400 億元，行政院再提無人載具追加預算

國內無人機需求轉向大量部署及偵察視野延伸

烏克蘭讓產業看見小型無人機也能改變軍事裝備的需求結構。當無人機從少數專業單位的裝備，成為前線頻繁使用、需要持續補充的工具，產業競爭也開始從單架性能，延伸至生產速度、成本控制與快速改版。台灣正沿著這條路徑前進：政府已透過前幾年軍用商規無人機採購累積量產經驗，9 月經濟部亦公布中光電相關平台已完成軍用商規量產交付，顯示國內供應鏈逐步跨過展示與驗證階段。未來市場將形成兩條並行的成長路線。

1. 低成本、大量部署型無人機，重點在可負擔的採購成本、穩定補充能力與持續更新；烏克蘭常見的 FPV(第一人稱視角)機型，即展現這類需求的規模潛力。台灣的濱海任務還需要兼顧飛行距離、海島環境與可信任供應鏈，因此，共用零組件、模組化設計及多家供應，將是逐步降低成本的重要方向。

2. 高階情監偵無人機，透過更長滯空時間、更高品質的感測器與穩定資料鏈，擴大海域觀測範圍。如漢翔已確認與 Shield AI 合作取得海巡署 V-BAT 艦載無人機案，該平台具垂直起降與超過 12 小時續航能力，有利在有限甲板空間下執行長時間監偵。海軍公開規劃亦包括 2026~2029 年以約 167.9 億元籌購 32 架銳鳶二及 8 套導控站，另以 360 億元籌購 280 架艦載智慧垂直起降無人機及 140 套導控系統。這類跨年度計畫帶來的不僅是機體製造，還涵蓋光電酬載、地面站、訓練與後勤服務；後續採購與在地分工逐步落實後，具備整合及長期維保能力的廠商，有機會取得更高附加價值。

當前線需要更多「看得見」的能力，後方的基地、機場與重要設施，也需要更完整的低空防護能力。烏克蘭國防部先前就曾指出，Mavic、Autel、Matrice 等多旋翼系統仍持續大量採購，用於前線觀測，並同步測試替代產品，也說明小型監偵與大型長航時平台各有用途。對台灣而言，這種任務分層將帶動不同等級的飛控、射頻、光學與電池管理需求，也讓資安、韌體更新及檢測認證成為供應鏈的重要環節。

另一方面，反無人機系統正從單一干擾器，走向涵蓋偵測、辨識、指揮與處置的完整架構：雷達與射頻感測發現目標，光電及熱影像協助確認，指揮控制平台整合資訊，再搭配適合的反制手段。北約 2026 年公布的反無人機框架採購，同樣採取多感測器與統一指管架構，顯示市場對整合能力的重視。國內創泓科技已推出 C2 無人機防禦系統，整合訊號偵測、光學辨識及反制模組，9 月進一步介紹 Sentrycs 代理及在地合作布局，商業機會可由設備供應延伸至系統整合、技術支援與持續更新。隨光纖操控與自主飛行等技術發展，單靠切斷無線通信的反制方式，也需要更多感測器與處

置方案配合。研究部認為，反無人機市場的競爭核心，將逐步轉向跨品牌整合、現場驗證及軟體更新能力；能在複雜環境中降低誤警、穩定辨識目標並持續維護系統的業者，更有機會建立長期客戶關係。後續觀察國防及關鍵基礎設施標案的導入進度。

無人艇從船體製造延伸至自主航行與海洋感測

當船艇能夠在無人乘載的情況下完成巡邏、觀測與運補，造船產業的競爭範圍，也從船體與推進系統延伸至自主航行、通信與感測器整合。水面無人艇(USV)可執行海域監偵、通信中繼、搜救、設施巡檢及軍事任務；水下無人載具(UUV)則將觀測範圍帶到海面之下，應用於海床測繪、海纜與管線檢查、反水雷及水下環境偵測。台灣既有的軍艦、商船與高速小型船經驗，也為這個新市場提供製造基礎。台船「奮進魔鬼魚」船長 8.6 公尺、寬 3.7 公尺，最高航速超過 35 節，採三體船與模組化酬載設計，並於 2025 年取得 ABS 原則性設計認可(AIP)，為後續產品驗證建立基礎。9 月台船進一步與 Havoc 宣布合作，擬推動自主水面載具授權共同生產，展現國內造船能力與國際自主控制技術結合的方向。龍德造船則以「黑潮」切入市場，船長 9 公尺、寬 2 公尺、最高航速超過 40 節，在 25 節巡航條件下航程約 250 公里，並具自主航行及目標識別功能。隨產品逐步成形，後續量產採購與任務驗證將成為主要觀察重點。水面平台有望先帶動船體、航控、資料鏈與任務模組需求，水下市場則進一步考驗聲學設備、耐壓密封、能源及回收能力。

圖三：台船-奮進魔鬼魚(Endeavor Manta USV)

資料來源：台船、國泰證期研究部整理

另一方面，台海海象則是無人載具商業化不可忽略的限制。交通部觀測數據顯示，臺中港測站冬季平均波高約 2.1 公尺，比夏季高約 1.3 公尺，足以說明不同季節的差異性。對小型無人艇，波浪會增加船體拍擊與姿態變化，影響感測器穩定、推進效率、航速及回收；水下航行雖可減少直接受表面波浪影響，出入水、母船收放及浮出通信仍受海況約束。對無人機而言，浪高主要透過甲板運動

與海面飛濺影響艦載起降，飛行本身則更直接受到陣風、降雨及鹽霧影響。因此，廠商需要驗證的不只是最高航速，還包括不同波高、週期、浪向及酬載下的任務完成率、穩定通信、自主避碰、故障處置與回收成功率。研究部認為，能累積跨季節海試資料、維修經驗及可重複交付能力的船廠將更具競爭優勢。

從政策走向可持續交付，軍工供應鏈蓄勢

國防預算擴張、無人載具產業政策及非紅供應鏈需求，有利支持業者持續投入研發與量產。無人系統的產業效益亦將由載具製造延伸至感測器、通信、任務整合與反制設備，並隨部署規模增加，帶動備件、維修、軟體更新及訓練等後續需求，為供應鏈建立持續性收入來源。

無人機方面，長榮航太(2645)則以軍用商規艦載監偵無人機切入市場，具備航太製造與品質管理能力的延伸優勢。漢翔(2634)透過與 Shield AI 合作的 V-BAT 垂直起降無人機取得海巡案，後續成長機會包括在地整合、維保及新增採購；反無人機方面，創泓科技(7714)布局 C2 無人機防禦系統與 Sentrycs 反無人機方案，可望拓展偵測、辨識、反制及指揮控制整合業務。

表二：無人機規格與任務定位比較表

類型	代表機型 / 製造商	機體規模	續航/滯空時間	主要用途與產業重點
FPV 無人機	General Cherry/烏克蘭	多種尺寸機架	17~30 分鐘	前線任務；低成本、量產與快速補充
小型多旋翼監偵機	Mavic 3 Pro/DJI	展開尺寸約 35cm	43 分鐘	近距離監偵；便攜、影像品質與快速部署
艦載垂直起降監偵機	V-BAT/Shield AI	翼展 3.8m	12 小時以上	艦載監偵；垂直起降、酬載整合與維保
中型固定翼海洋監偵機	銳鳶二型/中科院	翼展約 12m	16 小時以上	海域監視與預警；資料鏈、感測及指管整合
大型中高度長航時無人機	MQ-9B SkyGuardian/ General Atomics	翼展約 24m	40 小時以上	長航時廣域監偵；地面站、通信與後勤支援

資料來源：國泰證期研究部整理

無人艇方面，台船(2208)的「奮進魔鬼魚」採三體船設計與模組化酬載，具備拓展多元海上任務的潛力；龍德造船(6753)的「黑潮」則以高速操縱與匿蹤設計為特色，結合既有軍用小型船建造經驗，爭取量產與後勤需求。研究部認為，後續隨產品驗證與採購逐步落實，具備系統整合、穩定交付及長期維保能力的業者，將有機會將政策需求轉化為實質營運成長。

投資與評價

1. 3Q26 受惠國際鎢供應持續吃緊、鎢價維持高檔，加上屏東二廠新增 30%產能陸續開出，自售比重持續提升，預估營收季增 47.5%，毛利率 66.5%，EPS 27.32 元創單季新高。
2. 2027 年成長動能由鎢價轉向擴產與產品高值化，屏南三廠、屏科廠陸續開出，產品由鎢酸鈉延伸至 APT、氧化鎢、鎢粉及碳化鎢，自售比重有機會挑戰 60%，預估 2026/27 EPS 83.77/109.27 元。
3. 目前股價評價位於近兩年本益比 10～24 倍區間中段，考量非中鎢供應鏈稀缺性、自售比重提升及 2027 年新產能接棒，給予區間中間偏上的 22 倍 FY27E PER，給予強力買進評等，目標價 2,400 元(22x FY27E EPS)。

3Q26 鎢價與自售業務推升獲利續增

預估 3Q26 營收 28.43 億元 (+47.5% QoQ)，主要受惠國際鎢價維持高檔、鎢酸鈉自售業務成長，以及屏東二廠新增 30%產能陸續開出；毛利 18.90 億元 (+44.8% QoQ)，毛利率 66.5% (-1.3ppts QoQ)，營收與毛利仍維持高速成長。營業費用 1.88 億元(+55.6% QoQ)，稅後淨利 13.27 億元(+40.3% QoQ)，EPS 27.32 元創單季新高。預估 4Q26 隨新產能進一步量產、自售比重過半，營收 29.59 億元 (+4.1% QoQ)，惟費用投入增加，EPS 降至 26.17 元。

2027 年產能與高值化產品接棒

預估 2027 年營收 132.79 億元 (+52.1% YoY)，成長動能由鎢價逐步轉向產能擴張及產品高值化，屏南三廠與屏科廠新產能陸續開出，產品由鎢酸鈉延伸至 APT、氧化鎢、鎢粉及碳化鎢，自售比重有機會挑戰 60%；毛利 87.22 億元 (+48.9% YoY)，毛利率 65.7% (-1.4ppts YoY)。惟新廠與新工序投入增加，營業費用 20.62 億元(+202.8% YoY)，使營業利益 66.60 億元(+28.7% YoY)、營益率 50.2%(-9.1ppts YoY)；稅後淨利 53.09 億元(+30.4% YoY)，EPS 109.27 元再創年度新高。後續營運重點將轉向新產能利用率，以及高值化產品的提升速率。

3Q26 鎢價與自售業務推升獲利續增

預估 3Q26 營收 28.43 億元（+47.5% QoQ），主要受惠國際鎢供應持續吃緊、鎢價維持高檔，加上鎢酸鈉自售業務成長，以及屏東二廠增加的 30%新產能部分陸續開出；國際市場中國持續限制鎢相關產品出口，尤其對美國與日本出口限制趨嚴，使國際客戶加速建立非中供應鏈，聯友以二次硬質合金回收生產鎢產品，在競爭者有限的情況下，可望維持穩定的需求與產品售價。預估毛利 18.90 億元（+44.8% QoQ），毛利率 66.5%（-1.3ppts QoQ），雖自售產品比例提高，但毛利率較 2Q26 高基期略降；營業費用 1.88 億元（+55.6% QoQ），營業利益 17.02 億元（+43.7% QoQ），營益率 59.9%（-1.6ppts QoQ）。預估稅後淨利 13.27 億元（+40.3% QoQ），EPS 27.32 元創歷史新高。除鎢產品外，公司亦持續推進循環再製鈷粉客戶認證與出貨，作為後續產品高值化方向。

4Q26 營收續創高峰

預估 4Q26 營收 29.59 億元（+4.1% QoQ），從上季大幅成長後仍維持季增，主要受惠鎢產品自售業務持續成長，以及預期國際鎢供需仍偏緊，且公司新產能進一步進入量產階段，使單季自售比重過半。中國掌握全球主要原生鎢供應，出口限制使海外供應鏈短期難以快速補足缺口，軍工、半導體及 AI 相關精密加工需求則持續支撐國際鎢價。預估毛利 19.21 億元（+1.7% QoQ），毛利率 64.9%（-1.5ppts QoQ）；惟營業費用增至 3.00 億元（+59.6% QoQ），在於新的工序流程投資持續投入，使營業利益 16.22 億元（-4.7% QoQ），營益率 54.8%（-5.1ppts QoQ）。預估稅後淨利 12.71 億元（-4.2% QoQ），EPS 26.17 元；整體而言 4Q26 營收與毛利仍向上，但費用增加使獲利較 3Q26 高峰略為回落。

2026 年鎢價大漲與自售比例增加

預估 2026 年營收 87.31 億元(+521.2% YoY)，受惠國際鎢價大幅上漲、鎢酸鈉自售業務放量，以及非中鎢供應鏈需求快速提升。中國鎢出口限制使國際市場供給趨緊，聯友具備廢硬質合金回收、濕法冶金及既有海外客戶基礎，使鎢價上漲透過自售產品，直接轉化為獲利成長。預估毛利 58.57 億元(+1,254.0% YoY)，毛利率由 2025 年的 30.8%大幅提升至 67.1%(+36.3ppts YoY)，主因仍在產品國際報價及自售業務成長明顯；營業費用 6.81 億元 (+452.3% YoY)，營業利益 51.76 億元 (+1,573.7% YoY)，營益率 59.3% (+37.3ppts YoY)。預估稅後淨利 40.70 億元 (+1,587.1% YoY)，EPS 83.77 元創歷史新高，2026 年為公司材料處理量由加工大幅轉向自售產品後，獲利結構明顯轉變。

2027 年產能與高值化產品接棒

預估 2027 年營收 132.79 億元 (+52.1% YoY)，在 2026 年鎢價與自售業務快速成長後，2027 年成長動能逐步由價格轉向產能擴張及產品高值化。公司規劃由既有鎢酸鈉進一步向 APT、氧化鎢、鎢粉及碳化鎢延伸，屏南三廠與屏科廠相關新產能預計陸續開出，鎢相關加工產能有機會擴增倍翻，若產品認證與量產順利，可望提高公司在鎢產業鏈的垂直整合程度。預估毛利 87.22 億元 (+48.9% YoY)，毛利率 65.7% (-1.4ppts YoY)，在營收快速擴張下仍維持六成以上高毛利率；惟配合新廠、新產品及營運規模擴張，營業費用增至 20.62 億元 (+202.8% YoY)，使營業利益 66.60 億元 (+28.7% YoY)，營益率降至 50.2% (-9.1ppts YoY)。預估稅後淨利 53.09 億元 (+30.4% YoY)，EPS 109.27 元再創年度新高；2027 年營收與毛利仍維持高速成長，但費用投入增加使獲利增速低於營收，後續營運重點將轉向新產能利用率，及 APT、氧化鎢、鎢粉、碳化鎢等高值化產品的提升速率。

非中鎢供應鏈稀缺性提升

鎢金屬需求持續由工業與國防驅動

2026 年中國鎢總供給約 8.51 萬噸 W、YoY +12.4%，其中原生礦約 4.36 萬噸、幾乎零成長，回收鎢則由高價刺激增加約 50%至約 3.0 萬噸，使回收料占供給由 2025 年的 25–26%升至約 35%；換言之 2026 幾乎所有可快速增加的供給彈性都來自回收處理，使得非新礦山供應的競爭也明顯升高。顯示高鎢價已開始抑制價格敏感度較高的傳統用途，但切削工具、航太與國防等剛性需求仍維持成長。全球鎢需求主要仍來自硬質合金，應用於切削工具、礦山鑽頭、汽車與精密加工；其中礦業與營建約占 2025 年全球 WC 市場 38.5%。

國防需求的重要性在 2026 年進一步提高，美國與以色列對伊朗軍事行動、俄烏戰爭持續消耗飛彈與穿甲彈用鎢，這類用途與硬質合金不同，使用後無法回收，使其對原生鎢形成永久性消耗。因全球每年鎢需求約 10～11 萬噸，其中原生礦約占 65%、回收料約 35%，現有需求須依賴二次資源補足。短期新礦與冶煉產能建置時間長，因此即使高價刺激新增供給，供需緊張仍不容易快速逆轉。

各應用來看硬質合金(Cemented carbide)佔比最大，主要用於切削刀具、採礦鑽頭、耐磨零件與國防彈藥等。加工材/材加工品 (Mill products): 如鎢絲、鎢棒、鎢板等。鋼鐵與合金 (Steel & alloys) 用於高速鋼、耐熱合金鋼等。化學品 (Chemicals): 催化劑、顏料及化學試劑。其中 PCB 鑽針需求在近年也快速增加，據估計因 AI server PCB 變得更厚、更多層、更難鑽，高速低損耗材料使 WC 鑽針磨耗大幅提高。AI server PCB 已朝 28–46 層甚至更高層數發展，而一般鑽針原本約可加 工 3,000 孔，在高階材料下可能降到約 600 孔，在相同鑽孔量可能需要接近 4–5 倍鑽針消耗。半導體需求在 4Q26 仍然偏強，其中第一類是半導體製程本身使用的高純度鎢/WF_6 等材料，另一類是晶圓、封裝、設備與零組件加工所使用的 WC 超硬工具。整體而言隨著 AI GPU/ASIC、HBM 與先進封裝擴產，使高純度 W 與精密 WC 工具需求維持穩定成長。

中國七成產能限制鎢出口影響大

全球鎢市場主要依賴中國供應，因此中國價格大致主導全球定價；但出口限制與供應鏈安全政策出現後，國際買家開始建立中國以外的礦源、冶煉及回收體系，使得國際報價持續走高，鎢回收目前約占全球供給三成，雖然產地來源風險較低，但是既有供應鏈的產能瓶頸，使得回收流程取得鎢的價格持續走高。雖陸續有些新礦場宣告將投入開發，但仍需兩年以上時間準備，舊有礦場的重啟也面臨到回收率與經濟性的挑戰，且對於環境衝擊高未必適合歐美國家，目前最為環保與的作法仍是從回收鎢開始加工。透過廢鎢回收陸續轉化為鎢酸鈉、APT、氧化鎢、鎢粉、碳化鎢，將有利於賣方市場的精鍊供應商，邁向更高值化的末端產品發展。

美國積極多元化鎢礦來源

3Q26 美國政府承諾向 Elmet Group 投入 US$450mn，並搭配 DLA 最高 US$2bn 鎢戰略庫存採購，政策目標已從單純取得礦源轉向礦山+APT/精煉+零組件的垂直整合。US$450mn 投資將用於擴張美國鎢製造能力、取得長期原料、投資美國及盟國礦山與建立新的 refining/conversion 能力；其中初期資金約 US$200mn。另一方面 DLA 與 Elmet 簽訂最高 US$2bn IDIQ 合約，最低保證採購 US$150mn，品項直接涵蓋鎢礦、鎢精礦及鎢酸鈉；Elmet 待新增礦山、offtake 與 processing capacity 形成後才向戰略庫存交貨，以避免政府囤貨擠壓既有民間供應。EQ Resources 規劃向美國供應 4,000 噸鎢精礦；但 Nevada APT processing facility 全面恢復營運預計要到 2H28，因此 4Q26 政策首先增加的是戰略採購與長約需求，而非立即增加 APT 現貨供給。這代表短期甚至可能強化非中國的原料競爭，但預計要數年後後才有機會逐步改善美國中游加工缺口。

鈷金屬供給仍有短缺風險

2025 年全球鈷礦產量約 31 萬噸，其中剛果民主共和國約 23 萬噸、占七成比重，全球約 50%儲量亦集中於剛果，而中國又掌握全球七成以上鈷精煉能力，因此上游礦源與中游精煉均高度集中。需求方面 2025 年全球鈷消費動力電池占比超過 65%，EV 仍是最大需求來源；雖電池高鎳化、低鈷化以及 LFP 滲透率提升，會限制單位電池鈷用量成長，但 IT 電池的使用仍以氧化鈷為主要材料。而長期更值得注意的是航空發動機、燃氣渦輪、國防設備所使用的高溫合金，以及硬質合金與高性能磁鐵需求。高溫合金目前約占鈷需求 15～20%，工業工具、硬質合金與催化劑約一成，使鈷逐漸從單一新能源金屬轉變成兼具新能源與戰略材料屬性的關鍵金屬；在供應集中及可追溯要求提高下，循環再生鈷、高純度鈷粉與非中國精煉能力的戰略價值亦將持續提高。

公司簡介

聯友金屬不依賴原生鎢礦，而是以廢硬質合金、鎢鋼及研磨屑等二次料作為鎢來源，經濕式冶金回收後製成鎢酸鈉（Sodium Tungstate），同時回收鈷，形成 WC/鎢鋼廢料、鎢酸鈉、APT、氧化鎢的城市礦山供應鏈。公司目前鎢酸鈉年產能約 6,000 噸，2025 年鎢酸鈉出貨約 4,728 噸、YoY +8%，其中代工約占 52%、自售約 48%，相較 2024 年代工 42%、自售 58%，可看出自有設備利用率已處相對高檔；公司規劃透過新廠將鎢酸鈉產能進一步提高至約 12,000 噸/年、較現有產能增加 100%，若以鎢酸鈉 $Na_2WO_4{\cdot}2H_2O$ 含鎢重量約 55.7%換算，滿產相當於一年可處理約 6,700 噸 W contained。公司並規劃進一步向下游 APT 與氧化鎢延伸，使產品由目前以鎢酸鈉為主，逐步建立回收料、鎢酸鈉、APT、WO_3的垂直整合能力。

ESG 政策

公司在社會面評分上屬中上，然而需在經濟與環境面與揭露面強化:
經濟面: 股東權益方面，公司優點為董事長親自出席股東常會；股東會結束後公開揭露逐項議案之詳細表決資訊。公司可加強處為當年度未召開 2 次以上法人說明會。
法規遵循方面，公司於題項評估期間未有不合理或受主管機關處分之情事。獨立董事方面，公司優點為至少 2 名獨立董事之連續任期不超過 9 年。公司可加強處為獨立董事席次未達董事席次二分之一以上。董事會永續治理方面，公司優點為有設置永續發展相關委員會；有制訂環境、社會及治理之中長期發展策略；當年度永續報告書經董事會通過。公司可加強處為負責永續發展之最終負責人非董事長或總經理。董事會績效與薪酬方面，公司優點為將董事績效評估與薪資報酬連結。公司可加強處為企業永續績效尚未與高階主管及董事薪酬進行連結。
董事會多元性方面，公司優點為揭露董事會多元化政策並揭露落實情形；董事會成員具備不同專業背景。公司可加強處為任一性別董事席次未達 1/3。永續創新方面，公司優點為取得綠色認證。公司可加強處為未揭露綠色相關部門設置情形與職責；未揭露綠色/永續採購之政策或金額。
此外，產業創新方面，公司優點為對其專利之智慧財產權進行管理與保護，並揭露量化績效。
法規遵循方面，公司近 3 年並未受公平交易委員會懲罰。

環境面: 環境系統與治理方面，公司優點為積極將綠色概念融入營運過程，打造綠色價值鏈；榮獲 ISO 14001 環境管理認證；將環境管理作為與聯合國永續發展目標(SDGs)連結。空氣管理方面，公司優點為制定空氣管理政策、揭露空氣汙染排放數據；公司可加強處為未揭露量化空氣汙染減量目標。法規遵循方面，評估期間未違反空氣汙染相關法規或已針對違反情形提出具體改善措施。氣候變遷管理方面，公司可加強處為未說明董事會或管理階層對氣候變遷議題之監督頻率或事項；未揭露使用具公信力的 1.5 °C 以下及 3 °C 以上溫度情境評估氣候風險；未揭露與供應鏈或合作夥伴共同推動因應氣候變遷相關策略；未揭露氣候變遷對公司所產生的機會項目。
溫室氣體管理方面，公司優點為揭露至少三年的溫室氣體範疇一與二排放量，並揭露涵蓋範圍或佔營收比率。公司可加強處為未揭露溫室氣體管理專責單位及相關管理政策；未揭露範疇三排放量；未揭露量化溫室氣體減量目標；未揭露是否通過碳盤查認證。節能管理方面，公司優點為揭露用電或節能數據。公司可加強處為未揭露能源管理專責單位及相關管理政策；未揭露節能量化目標；未揭露能源風險對營運的影響評估結果。再生能源管理方面，公司可加強處為未揭露再生能源管理專責單位及相關推動政策；未揭露再生能源使用量或發電量；未揭露量化再生能源發展目標。廢水管理方面，公司優點為制定廢水管理政策、揭露廢污水排放量；公司可加強處為未揭露量化廢汙水減量目標。
揭路面: ESG 揭露方面，公司優點為依據 GRI 準則編寫永續報告書；於永續報告書清楚說明揭露範疇；建置英文網站，並包含財務、業務及公司治理相關資訊；於永續報告書揭露重大性分析細節。公司可加強處為永續報告書未依據 SASB 進行對應揭露；未上傳英文版永續報告書於公開資訊觀測站；永續報告書尚未經過第三方機構確信或保證；未於官網揭露利害關係人問卷，供利害關係人回饋；未說明公司營運對應 SDGs 目標之具體作為；未揭露使用雙重重大性分析重大性議題。

產品組合

台達電(2308 TT) Buy

產品組合較佳，獲利持續提升。

投資建議：受惠於 AI、Data Center 領域需求成長，營收與獲利維持成長趨勢，投資評等為 Buy，目標價為 2,680 元。

預估 3Q26 營收 QoQ+7.28%：受缺料影響，預估 3Q26 營收為 1,965.94 億元、QoQ+7.28%；在無較大業外收支下，稅後淨利為 257.42 億元、QoQ+2.41%，稅後 EPS 為 9.91 元。受惠於新一代 AI 伺服器放量與缺料緩解，預估 4Q26 營收為 2,218.52 億元、QoQ+12.85%；稅後淨利為 309.71 億元、QoQ+20.32%，稅後 EPS 為 11.92 元。

產品規格提升，電源類產品展望佳：台達電為 AI 伺服器電源解決方案主要供應商，受惠於 AI 需求提升，帶動 AC/DC 電源大幅成長外，CSP 客戶在新一代 ASIC 伺服器平台採用 DC/DC 電源模組，亦成為另一成長動能。800 VDC 與±400VDC 預計於 4Q26 出貨，2026 年營收比重約 1%，預期 2H27 營收貢獻較顯著。

水冷散熱 2026 年營收維持成長趨勢：水冷散熱產品有水冷板、Manifold、CDU、Sidecar。目前出貨以系統類的 Sidecar 為主，歸類於基礎建設；CDU 則歸類於電源類與零組件。水冷散熱 2025 年營收比重為 9%，台達電 Sidecar 產品 2025 年市佔率極高，雖有競爭者加入，但整體市場需求持續增長，2026 年 Sidecar 營收仍將維持成長趨勢，預估 2026 年水冷散熱營收比重為 12%。

固態變壓器為長期成長動能：SST(固態變壓器)目前已少量出貨，客戶為中系 CSP、800V 高壓直流電動車充電站，亦出貨給美系客戶測試。SST 導入需從資料中心設計初期即納入規劃，預期 2~3 年後會產生顯著的營收貢獻，仍持續改良產品規格中。

ESG：

台達電超過一半的董事會成員實際參與台達永續委員會、節能管理、節水減廢管理，及再生電力的重要會議；永續長每季向董事會報告氣候變遷的管理進展，並且由董事會針對重要議題做決策。在進行重要併購或是新建廠房等決策時，亦會考量氣候變遷的風險與機會。

ESG 委員會為內部最高層級氣候相關推動組織。管理職責回歸包含企業永續發展部、節能服務部、財務、採購、人資、事業群等單位策略。依企業策略、氣候風險大數據、各類研究報告，以及外部評比指標鑑別風險與機會項目。

在治理層面，本報告新增「產品安全」與「品質管理」專章，藉由制定符合國際標準的相關政策與指引，強化控管機制，確保產品皆經嚴謹把關。此外，台達確立風險組織架構，由風管推動委員會辨別集團短期至長期（新興）風險，並完善風險管理流程。在供應鏈管理上，台達則首次舉辦「供應商 ESG 溝通大會」，明確傳達 ESG 與低碳供應鏈管理策略。

為推動價值鏈減碳，台達成立兩項子委員會，分別針對 C1(採購的產品與服務)與 C11(售出產品的使用)開展減碳行動。透過跨部門合作，盤點原物料採購與產品使用階段之碳排數據，並推動包括產品能效提升、低碳材料設計、以及與供應商與客戶議合，致力於實現範疇三減碳目標。

在自然資本保育方面，台達目標於 2050 年實現淨值正面效益(NPI)。2024 年成為 TNFD Early Adopters，並首次發表《氣候與自然生物多樣性報告書》，依循 TCFD、TNFD 與 IFRS S2 等國際準則，提升揭露品質與透明度。同年，參與聯合國生物多樣性 COP16 分享自身實踐，並連署 Business for Nature 發起之「Renewed policy ambition on nature」企業聲明，倡議將自然納入政策決策。

【投資評等說明】

評等	定義
強力買進(Strong Buy)	首次評等潛在上漲空間≥35%
買進(Buy)	15%≤首次評等潛在上漲空間<35%
區間操作(Trading Buy)	5%≤首次評等潛在上漲空間<15%
中立(Neutral)	無法由基本面給予投資評等 預期近期股價將處於盤整 建議降低持股

【投資評等調整機制】

投資評等係「首次」給予特定個股投資評等時，其前一日收盤價相較 3 個月目標價之潛在上漲空間計算而得。個股投資評等分為四個等級，定義如上。爾後的投資評等係依循「首次評等」，直到停止推薦。

「強力買進」、「買進」及「區間操作」均有 upside 目標價。差別僅在於，首次評等時潛在報酬率不同。「中立」則無目標價。

一旦我們給予特定個股「強力買進」、「買進」或「區間操作」之投資評等，就是責任的開始，爾後將透過各式研究報告作定期性、持續性追蹤基本面及股價變化，直到停止推薦。

1. 達目標價。
2. 雖未達原訂目標價，但檢視基本面、訊息面、籌碼面等多方訊息，研判股價上漲空間已然有限，將適時出具降評報告。
3. 推薦後股價不漲反跌。

NP0 MLCC 受惠 AI SERVER 電源架構升級

投資建議：受惠 AI SERVER 電源架構升級，禾伸堂在 NP0 具領先同業優勢，營收及毛利率將同步攀升，投資建議為 Buy，目標價 1,080 元。

高階 MLCC 占比持續攀升，2Q26 財報表現優異：

禾伸堂 2Q26 營收 40.97 億元(QOQ+13.2%/YOY+25.2%)，優於市場預期，主因受惠於高階 MLCC 產出與銷售增加，帶動毛利率達 26.18% (QOQ+1.94ppts/YOY+6.37ppts)，費用率 10.89%與 2Q26 相當，本業淨利 6.27 億元(QOQ+29.6%/YOY+111.2%)，稅後純益 6.42 億元(QOQ+35.2%/YOY+179.1%)，較去年同期倍增，2Q26 稅後 EPS 3.87 元，獲利呈現大幅增長，優於市場預期。

展望未來，NP0 MLCC 市佔率有望持續攀升，獲利將同步上揚：

ESG(Environment, Social, Governance)：

公司簡介：

禾伸堂(3026 TT)成立於 1981 年。公司總部位於台灣台北，生產基地分布於桃園龍潭、宜蘭利澤以及日本北海道。早期以被動元件代理商起家，後期切入利基型積層陶瓷電容器(MLCC)及固態電容研發製造。主要產品包含：積層陶瓷電容(MLCC)、主動元件、系統模組與其他代理產品。公司代理產品以銷售通訊、車用及消費性電子市場為主。2Q26 產品營收比重:被動元件 45%、主動元件 22%、系統模組 15%、其他 18%。

高階 MLCC 占比持續攀升，2Q26 財報表現優異：

禾伸堂 2Q26 營收 40.97 億元(QOQ+13.2%/YOY+25.2%)，優於市場預期，主因受惠於高階 MLCC 產出與銷售增加，帶動毛利率達 26.18% (QOQ+1.94ppts /YOY+6.37ppts)，費用率 10.89%與 2Q26 相當，本業淨利 6.27 億元(QOQ +29.6%/YOY+111.2%)，稅後純益 6.42 億元(QOQ+35.2%/YOY+179.1%)，較去年同期倍增，2Q26 稅後 EPS 3.87 元，獲利呈現大幅增長，優於市場預期。

因 AI 伺服器電源架構升級，帶動 NP0 MLCC 用量顯著大增：

禾伸堂目前產品主要應用於電源類，尤其是 AI 伺服器隨著電源供應器瓦數增加，電源從 IT Rack 移出獨立成 Power Rack(Sidecar Rack)，新一代 Rubin 平台架構也將朝向更高功率密度的獨立電源櫃與多元電力備援系統發展。這項架構轉型大幅推升了高電壓、高效能與高穩定性被動元件的需求，其中 NP0 材質之積層陶瓷電容（MLCC）因具備極佳的溫度穩定性、低介質損耗與高可靠度，成為高功率電源供應器與電壓調節模組（VRM）中不可或缺的關鍵零組件，因過去多採用單相 PSU(如 3.3kW、4.2kW、4.3kW 等)，而下一世代為了在高瓦數下增加效率，Power Rack 已轉成三相 AC/DC PSU，此外，內部仍需要進行 DC/DC 轉換(400V 降至 48V/50V，或 800V 降至 48V)，群益預估單一機櫃所需的 NP0 MLCC 數量可提升 3~5 倍。

展望未來，NP0 MLCC 市佔率有望持續攀升，獲利將同步上揚：

望轉向要求禾伸堂增加產能與供給，2027 年 NP0 市佔率有望進一步提升。

禾伸堂 2Q26 AI 應用占比約為 32%，考量 Vera Ribin 將於 4Q26 開始小量生產，於 2027 年正式放量，加上 TPU 與 ASIC 平台需求快速成長，皆有望帶動高階 MLCC 用量需求持續提升，群益預估禾伸堂 2026 年底 AI 應用占比有望達 45%，2027 年底將提升至 60%。綜上所述，預估 2026 年營收為 171.22 億元(YOY+27.5%)、2027 年營收為 245.70 億元(YOY+43.5%)，毛利率受惠 AI 比重持續拉升分別為 26.8%及 34%，2026 年、2027 年稅後 EPS 為 16.43 元及 31.59 元，獲利呈現大幅增長。

投資建議：受惠 AI SERVER 電源架構升級，禾伸堂在 NP0 具領先同業優勢，營收及毛利率將同步攀升，投資建議為 Buy，目標價 1,080 元。

【投資評等說明】

評等	定義
強力買進(Strong Buy)	首次評等潛在上漲空間≥35%
買進(Buy)	15%≤首次評等潛在上漲空間<35%
區間操作(Trading Buy)	5%≤首次評等潛在上漲空間<15%
中立(Neutral)	無法由基本面給予投資評等 預期近期股價將處於盤整 建議降低持股

【投資評等調整機制】

投資評等係「首次」給予特定個股投資評等時，其前一日收盤價相較 3 個月目標價之潛在上漲空間計算而得。個股投資評等分為四個等級，定義如上。爾後的投資評等係依循「首次評等」，直到停止推薦。

「強力買進」、「買進」及「區間操作」均有 upside 目標價。差別僅在於，首次評等時潛在報酬率不同。「中立」則無目標價。

一旦我們給予特定個股「強力買進」、「買進」或「區間操作」之投資評等，就是責任的開始，爾後將透過各式研究報告作定期性、持續性追蹤基本面及股價變化，直到停止推薦。

1. 達目標價。
2. 雖未達原訂目標價，但檢視基本面、訊息面、籌碼面等多方訊息，研判股價上漲空間已然有限，將適時出具降評報告。
3. 推薦後股價不漲反跌。

4Q26 營運展望正向；訂單篩選策略啟動

- 3Q26 成長動能延續；管理層審慎樂觀展望 4Q26
- 下單模式轉變；客戶與訂單篩選支撐獲利能力
- 2027 年復甦幅度仍取決於客戶補庫存時點

營運維持溫和復甦，4Q26 展望轉趨正向：聚陽 3Q26 營收 94.8 億元、YoY+6.7%；前 9 月累計營收由負轉正為年增 0.2%，整體出貨大致符合公司預期。9 月營收 29.3 億元、YoY+24.1%，因去年同期低基期而有較高成長，但適逢聖誕節與感恩節出貨旺季導致船班擁擠，約 8,000 萬元營收遞延至次月。3Q26 出貨量估維持個位數年增，ASP 大致持平，預期毛利率仍可維持 24%以上水準。展望 4Q26，管理層看法轉趨正向，並啟動訂單篩選，包含挑選客戶、產品類別及提高短單比重，優先承接獲利能力較佳的業務，預期將有助於提升獲利表現。

東南亞持續擴產，2027 年復甦幅度仍取決於客戶補庫存時點：產能佈局方面，由於菲律賓廠關閉抵銷部分新增產能，2026 年整體產能增幅有限，未來將持續以印尼與孟加拉作為主要擴產據點。展望 2027 年，客戶庫存已處低檔，管理層認為待美國期中選舉結束、政策與外部環境明朗後，客戶下單週期有望逐步恢復正常，將對具規模的大型供應商相對有利。不過，目前終端需求仍屬溫和，回補庫存啟動時點及力道尚未明確，因此短期營運可望延續緩和改善趨勢。公司表示內部營運體質已完成調整，後續較明顯的成長仍須等待外部需求回溫。

4Q26 營運正向，2027 年也有望持續復甦，惟時程與幅度仍須觀察。因此維持審慎的 14 倍 PER，以未來四季預估 EPS 計算，目標價 242 元。風險因子：外部環境變化、終端需求、客戶回補庫存速度。
