

GLOBAL OPTICAL TRANSCEIVERS

Raising 1.6T and above shipment by 29% / 61% / 50% for 2026-28E; continuous mix upgrade ahead

We are constructive on the optical transceiver growth ahead, supported by the growing AI infrastructure spending driving demand, product mix upgrade towards high-speed transmission (800G/ 1.6T/ 3.2T), and the rising adoption of optics in connection with the increase of the server port rate. In this report, we raised the global optical transceiver shipment by 21%/ 31%/ 31% for 2026-28E, 800G+ shipment by 31%/ 39%/ 36% for 2026-28E, and 1.6T+ shipment by 29% / 61% / 50% for 2026-28E to reflect higher shipment of rack-level servers/ ASIC servers, higher usage of optical modules per GPU chip, and specification upgrade. Read more on our latest views: Optical networking thematic; Server TAM update; FOCI initiation; Optical top 3 debates.

In 2026/27/28E, we expect the global optical transceiver market to reach US$68bn/131bn/148bn, respectively, with 800G and above segment increasing at a +69% CAGR to reach US$45bn/ 108bn/ 130bn. We expect 800G/1.6T shipment volumes at 45m/33m units in 2026E, growing to 49m/71m in 2027E, with 3.2T shipment ramping up to 23m/ 68m in 2027/ 28E. In our view, Silicon photonics will account for 60%/ 80%/ 80% of 800G/1.6T/3.2T optical transceivers.

Within the optical transceivers supply chain, we are Buy rated on (1) Optical transceiver or engines makers: Eoptolink, FOCI; (2) CW lasers or Epiwafer suppliers: Landmark, VPEC; (3) Equipment: RoboTechnik.

Optical transceiver outlook

AI data center optical transceivers accelerate specification migrations. We expect a total demand of 548m/ 691m/ 719m units for optical transceivers globally in 2026-28E, with the high end market (800G+) demand mainly driven by AI data center applications growing at +48% CAGR in 2026-28E to 171m by 2028E. This growth is driven by the volume ramp up of rack-level AI servers and ASIC AI servers, as well as migration to new AI server platform with higher attach ratio of optical modules. General data center and Telecom applications still require products of 400G or lower. We expect 400G or below shipment contribution to decline from 87% in 2026E to 77% in 2028E driven by strong demand for high-speed products in AI servers, vs. steady growth of general servers and telecom.

High speed migrations: 800G has become the mainstream specification for large scale data centers, and we expect 1.6T to see a strong volume ramp up starting in 2026, with 3.2T adoption beginning in 2027E. The migration of AI servers networking is ongoing and hence we expect 800G's demand volume will increase from 45m in 2026E to 49m/

49m in 2027-28E, and 1.6T's volume will increase from 33m in 2026E to 71m/ 55m in 2027-28E, as hyperscalers rapidly migrate to 3.2T solutions in 2028E, growing from 6% of total shipments in 2026E to 8% in 2028E. 3.2T will start shipment from 2027E at 23m units, then we expect the volume to reach 68m units in 2028E.

AI data center networking migration: AI servers networking continues to migrate. Take NVIDIA's rack-level AI servers for example: GB200 uses 400G (GPU layer) and 800G networking (leaf, spine, core layer), GB300 uses 800G (GPU layer) and 1.6T (leaf, spine layer), and we expect Rubin and Rubin Ultra to further migrate to 1.6T and 3.2T. As inferred by our updated server TAM estimates, we expect rack-level AI servers powered by NVIDIA at 50k / 92k / 148k racks in 2026-28E, and AMD at 5k/ 13k/ 15k units in 2026-28E, driving the adoption of high-speed optical transceivers.

ASIC AI servers in expansion: We expect the diversification trend from GPU to ASIC AI servers to continue in the coming years, which will support demand expansion of optical transceivers. This is because, ASIC chips rely more on networking capabilities to handle AI workload and to mitigate the lower computing power per chip. As inferred by our global server estimates, we expect ASIC to account for 50%/ 52%/ 55% of total AI chips in 2026/ 27/ 28E. Across ASIC users, we see Google and Meta are more aggressively expanding high-speed connection (800G+), with Google being one of the early CSP to migrate to 1.6T, and Meta is set to use more optical transceivers per ASIC than GPU servers (i.e. on GPU servers typically there are 2-3 optical transceivers per GPU), according to our channel checks.

SiPh penetrations: We expect SiPh solutions to see increasing adoption as they have cost advantages over traditional EML modules in high speed products. Based on our industry checks, the 1.6T SiPh optical transceiver uses four 70mW CW lasers, or US$15-20 laser content per module, while the 1.6T EML optical transceiver uses eight 200G EMLs, or US$160 of laser content, leading to different GMs to optical module makers. We expect that the higher the speed, the higher penetration of SiPh, driving SiPh modules to account for 10% to 18% of the total market in 2026-28E, or 68%-74% to the 800G+ market in 2026-28E.

Optical transceiver revision

We raise global optical transceiver value TAM by 33% / 81% / 115% in 2026-28E mainly on (1) higher rack-level AI server and ASIC AI server shipments in our Global Server TAM Updates, and (2) higher estimates on the usage of optical transceivers per Nvidia GPU in rack-level AI servers. We raised our Nvidia and AI chip shipment estimates for 2026-28E, as these chips are major drivers for 1.6T/ 3.2T optical transceivers. We also raise the per GPU usage of 1.6T/ 3.2T optical transceivers in Nvidia rack-level AI servers and Google AI servers. Furthermore, we have increased (1) 1.6T usage per GPU in Rubin Ultra to 2 (vs. 0 previously), and 3.2T usage per GPU in Rubin Ultra to 5 (vs. 3 previously), and (2) adding Google TPU v9 server into our 2027/ 28E estimate with per GPU 1.6T optical transceivers used at 12 in 2H27E to 1H28E, and per GPU 3.2T optical transceivers used at 6 in 2H28E, further supporting the value TAM growth. Our estimates still incorporate a one quarter pull in to reflect component supplier (optical transceiver) delivery time gap compared to ODM final system shipment.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DAFCF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Quantum

Quantum is Goldman Sachs' proprietary database providing access to detailed financial statement histories, forecasts and ratios. It can be used for in-depth analysis of a single company, or to make comparisons between companies in different sectors and markets.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
