Westpac Now points to moderating growth even before the RBA's rate hikes took effect on the economy, with recent confidence weakness not yet feeding through to activity but posing a growing downside risk.

- Consistent with our first estimate, Westpac Now points to GDP growth of around 0.6%qtr in Q1 2026 (range: 0.55–0.75%qtr), lifting year ended growth to 2.8%yr.
- Our monthly activity index edged lower in March after moving sideways through January and February. Overall, activity was flat across the March quarter, ending an upswing that began in May 2025 even before the recent tightening in monetary policy could take effect.
- Recent sharp falls in consumer and business confidence were largely ‘looked through’; our framework would take more signal from a sustained drop.
- While growth appear to have remained resilient in Q1, a prolonged Middle East conflict increases the risk that weak confidence spills over into a broader set of indicators (many of which have already softened), exacerbating supply chain dislocations and lower real incomes.
- Our framework suggests growth will ease to around 0.5%qtr in Q2, before returning to 0.6%qtr in Q3 2026, but these estimates by design do not allow for the wider effect of the conflict and differ from our actual GDP forecasts.

Further important information regarding sustainability-related content: This material may contain statements relating to environmental, social and governance (ESG) topics. These are subject to known and unknown risks, and there are significant uncertainties, limitations, risks and assumptions in the metrics, modelling, data, scenarios, reporting and analysis on which the statements rely. In particular, these areas are rapidly evolving and maturing, and there are variations in approaches and common standards and practice, as well as uncertainty around future related policy and legislation. Some material may include information derived from publicly available sources that have not been independently verified. No representation or warranty is made as to the accuracy, completeness or reliability of the information. There is a risk that the analysis, estimates, judgements, assumptions, views, models, scenarios or projections used may turn out to be incorrect. These risks may cause actual outcomes to differ materially from those expressed or implied. The ESG-related statements in this material do not constitute advice, nor are they guarantees or predictions of future performance, and Westpac gives no representation, warranty or assurance (including as to the quality, accuracy or completeness of the statements). You should seek your own independent advice.
