This report focuses on current dynamics occurring within the agricultural sector and provides a forward view on where we see prices going for the main agricultural commodities.

Expect the unexpected.

Despite uncertainties, agricultural export prices to remain elevated.

- The impact of war in Iran is likely to be broadly supportive of prices. The key issue is whether war-induced costs can be passed on. In the near term, the scope for passthrough is likely to be limited, which implies some pressure on margins. Should hostilities persist, the potential to pass on higher costs increases, providing more support to prices, and a recovery in margins.
- We've revised up our farmgate milk price forecast for this season by 40 cents to $9.80/kg, which is slightly higher than the midpoint of Fonterra's forecast range. While global supply remains ample, that's been matched by strong demand for protein. That said, with the war introducing new uncertainties, we have kept our milk payout forecast for the 2026/27 season at $9.20/kg.
- Beef and lamb export prices are set to remain elevated. Key considerations include the war in Iran, how quickly the US beef herd rebuilds, the resilience of US consumer beef demand, ongoing weakness in the Chinese market, and price resistance in the UK and EU markets for lamb.
- Meanwhile, kiwifruit and apple export prices are set to plateau at high levels as supply catches up with demand in key offshore markets.
- Log export prices are expected to remain rangebound, showing little upward momentum. Rising freight costs imply margin squeeze, which could result in corporate action.
